CHRISTMAS PAY FOR TEACHERS IS UNDER WAY

Checks Are Ordered to Be Written.

The prospect of a pay day before Christmas yesterday brought joy to Chicago school teachers and other employés of the board of education, who have been paid only once since last April. Pre-Christmas pay checks were distributed to county employés yesterday, but the day was one of gloom for city employés, who now face a period of payless pay days.

Pay day for the teachers and other school employés will come as the result of the sale of 1930 tax warrants by the committee appointed by Mayor Cermak. The warrants are being sold to taxpayers to apply on their 1930 tax bills, due soon.

President Myers of the school board yesterday ordered pay checks prepared for the first half of October. These total $2,292,327. Auditor H. H. Brach and Secretary Charles Gilbert started their employés to work on the checks at once. They hope, by working over the week-end, to finish the job Tuesday. Mr. Myers took action after conferring with D. F. Kelly of the mayor's tax warrant sales committee.

Pay at Christmas Time.

"We expect to pay half a month's compensation around Christmas," Mr. Myers said. "The date of pay will depend upon when enough tax anticipation warrants are sold."

Mayor Cermak sent telegrams to all taxpayers who have pledged to buy warrants, informing them that warrants are now ready for delivery. Both the council and the school board took action yesterday to permit the issue, in denominations from $100 to ...,000, under the terms of a legislative act signed Thursday by Gov. Emmerson, of 1930 tax warrants now held in the aggregate of funds. It is these warrants which will be sold to the taxpayers.

Warrants Are Available.

The total of warrants available for such release is:

Corporate fund	$27,437,077
School education fund	6,515,000
School playground fund	150,000
... fund	115,000
Municipal tuberculosis sanitar.	600,000
... pension fund	170,000
... interest and sinking fund	700,000
	$35,647,077

By its action to assure the city against default on $11,828,819 in bonds and interest payments due Jan. 1, the city council brought to an end the system of financing city paydays out of the city's aggregate of funds.

It was only by dipping into its aggregate of funds, through the sale of its warrants to the transit fund and other special funds, that the city has been able to pay its employés during the months that the salaries of school employés were falling farther and farther in arrears. Now the aggregate of funds, which nominally contains $..,000,000, is full of tax warrants and other securities and empty of available cash, and the city workers are in the same plight as those of the school board.

Firemen and policemen had a payless payday Tuesday, and such occurrences, it is stated by officials, will likely be the rule in the city hall until such time as a relief program is formulated by legislative action or otherwise.

Council Approves Action.

The council yesterday approved the purchase of $8,998,000 worth of refunding bonds and $2,314,820 worth of tax warrants from the aggregate of funds to prevent the default on the bonds and interest. The city had already set aside $515,299 toward the bond payments, which aggregate $11,828,...

Comptroller Szymczak advised the council that to permit the bonds to default, which would have barred Chicago municipal securities from the better portion of the security markets, would in the long run work a greater hardship on city employés than the present loss of their pay prospects.

Actually, the city employés are worse off than those of the board of education, since the city not only has spent all of its available cash, but has ignored other pressing obligations to meet pay rolls during the last few months.

Funds Needed Elsewhere.

In October, when the council went into the aggregate of funds to provide a month's pay for all city and park employés, Comptroller Szymczak said that approximately $11,500,000 was left in ready cash, but that it was required to pay $4,000,000 in other department bills, $1,500,000 for

IMPROBABLE, BUT IT HAS HAPPENED TO OTHER GREAT NATIONS

Good Fellow Goes to Cheer and Is Cheered

A Good Fellow yesterday visited the North Clark street home of the family for whom he is to play Santa Claus on Christmas eve. An hour later this Good Fellow departed, impressed by the courageous optimism of a husband and wife, struggling against odds to feed and shelter their three babies.

"I always try to be happy whether we have anything or not," rang in the ears of the Good Fellow as he descended the three flights of dark stairs. Those were the words of a jobless railway engineer whose wife once taught in a junior high school. It had been two years since he had a steady job.

Finds Family at Lunch.

The oldest of the children is 4 years old, the youngest is 2 months. The family has a well lighted room with a little porch. The visitor found four members of the family cheerfully eating lunch off a newspaper tablecloth. The baby slept in a crib.

The mother recounted the tragedies of the last few months as though they were a huge joke now. "We had enough savings to carry us to last July," she said. "It was tough enough those few weeks before the charities put us on their list. Twice I walked down to the loop, 21 blocks, just before my baby came, to see if I could get help.

"I took what little clothes we had and sold them for 10 cents each at the resale shop. That gave the babies food.

"Now my husband has seven days' work a month with the park board, and the charities pay our rent here. We manage on a few dollars a week for food and milk for the children."

300 Good Fellows Form Club.

Among the other Good Fellows who were making calls yesterday were representatives of the Good Fellow club of the Insurance Company of North America. Warren J. Baker is president of the club of 300 members, and Mrs. L. M. Culver, secretary. This club is one of the oldest, having been organized in 1921, according to C. R. Tuttle, general manager. Since then 24 families have been taken care of each year. Each member of the club contributes a penny a day and members first call on their families before delivering the baskets at Christmas.

The Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, middle western division, yesterday sent $250 to the Good Fellow fund through Arthur G. Hoadley, president of the division. This will care for 50 Good Fellow families Christmas eve.

Good Fellows, the time is short. Many needy families are counting on you.

STOCKS BOUNCE UP TWO TO 15 POINTS; BOND PRICES RISE

New York, Dec. 18.—[Special.]—A wave of buying enthusiasm swept over the security markets today, producing the broadcast recovery in more than two months. Leading issues on the New York Stock exchange advanced sensationally, adding anywhere from 2 to 15 points to their open market value, while bond prices rose from 1 to 7 points. The gains in bank stocks were spectacular. Wheat improved its position about 2 cents a bushel and cotton from 15 to 17 points.

The rally coincided with the appearance of Thomas W. Lamont before the senate finance committee and his testimony that "the short term German credits do not consitute a danger to the American banking system."

The demand for bonds was stimulated by predictions of an impending agreement in the railway wage controversy.

On the stock exchange United States Steel, which recently has been under heavy pressure, rebounded 4⅛ points, American Can rose 5¼, Allied Chemical 5, American Telephone and Telegraph 6⅝, Auburn Auto 15¼, J. I. Case 5⅝, Coca-Cola 4⅝, Eastman Kodak 6⅝, Union Pacific 7½, and Western Union 3⅝.

BANDITS ROB CHURCH OF FUND SAVED FOR POOR

While 300 parishioners were attending Chrismas Novena services in the Holy Trinity Catholic church at 1118 Noble street last night, an automobile containing five men stopped in front of the church entrance.

Two remained in the machine. The other three walked to the rectory adjoining the church. Inside the rectory, the Rev. Kasimer Sztuczko, pastor, the Rev. Frank Lusny, assistant pastor, and Anthony Apanowicz, 1514 Dickson street, secretary, were scanning a list. The list enumerated destitute families in the Polish parish and the three were marking off those in need of immediate help.

Their charity conference was interrupted by several knocks on the door. Father Sztuczko responded. Three revolvers, held by three men, were thrust against him. "We want the money in the safes," announced one of the visitors. By threats of death the gunmen forced the priest to open two strongboxes from which they took $1,000, part of which was to be used for relief. They also took a gun. Then they sauntered to the street, got into the waiting car and escaped, just as the Novena services, conducted by Father Stanislaus Gorka, ended.

Lack of Funds Keeps Glencoe Schools Closed

Glencoe's three elementary schools will not reopen on Jan. 4 when the Christmas vacation period has ended. This was announced yesterday by Frederick L. Redefer, school superintendent, when the schools closed for the beginning of the holidays.

"The teachers agree with me that this is a wise move and that Glencoe is the only suburb faced with a shortage of school funds to meet the situation intelligently," Supt. Redefer said.

Although the village has an assessed valuation of $17,000,000 and numbers among its residents many wealthy people, it will be unable to meet its monthly school budget of $10,000 after Jan. 1, the next pay day.

1,000 Pupils Enrolled.

The Central, North, and South Elementary, which have a total enrollment of 1,000, are the ones affected. High school students from the village attend the New Trier Township High school supported by the taxpayers of Glencoe, Winnetka, Kenilworth, and Wilmette. This school is expected to continue to function.

The schools employ 44 teachers and six janitors.

Gloomy on Finances.

"Unless more money is forthcoming immediately," he said, "the police and fire departments and street lights will be discontinued after Jan. 1. We will depend on volunteer service for police and fire protection.

GIRLS, 9 AND 11, A-SHOPPING GO AND GET THRILLS

The shopping tour of Goldie Gelfarb, 9 years old, of 3408 Irving Park boulevard, and her girl chum, Alvis Thomas, 11, of 3922 North Kimball avenue, which started at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, ended at 1 o'clock this morning when they were picked up as "missing" at 35th street and Western avenue by a police squad.

In the afternoon Goldie's mother gave her a $20 bill to change at a neighborhood store. Instead the girl met Alvis. They went to the Maxwell street district, where Goldie purchased several articles including a pair of shoes. Hours later police were notified of the girls' absence.

Sergt. Thomas Green and his squad of the Brighton Park station found the girls. They told a story of being kidnaped. Under further questioning they told of their shopping tour in Maxwell street and said they hid $14, all that was left of the $20 bill, in the new shoes and concealed the shoes under a bush in McKinley park. The shoes and money were recovered and the girls were taken home.

CHARITY BALL GIVEN AGAIN IN SPLENDOR

A brilliant social spectacle took its place in the history of Chicago last night as the 1931 charity ball lent a blaze of light to the old Auditorium theater, where society danced until an early hour to aid the city's poor and unemployed. What the ball will net to the governor's relief fund could not be ascertained last night.

Tradition mingled on all sides with the innovations of 1931 as the colorful panorama recalled memories of former charity balls held in Chicago's old opera house. But the setting, one of the most elaborate ever created by the late Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, was new. A formal Italian garden, striking with green hedges, benches, urns full of flowers, and blue sky was a fitting background for the colorful gowns and shining jewels of the guests. Toward the one time stage of the opera house that formed a continuous floor across the chairs, as in times past, was a proscenium arch flanked on either side by colorful canopies, where two bands boomed forth.

Dance in Big Garden.

Over the garden huge suspended balloons in brilliant colors—yellow, flame, green, and blue—casting a strong white light in harmony with the white satins, white laces, and white velvets that predominated on the ballroom floor. In the garden and surrounding the floor were supper tables, with more grouped on a platform just to the back of the lower tier of boxes.

From these boxes so handsomely set in their bronze gilt frames and brown velvet draperies an imposing array of Chicagoans, many of them hosts and hostesses to gay and interesting parties, observed the ball. Some of them were in the same boxes they had occupied at the charity ball more than 20 years ago, while others were in the same locations they had chosen to hear the "Traviatas" and "Tannhäusers" in days gone by.

Only once did many of the guests leave these boxes and that for the grand march. Sharply at 11 o'clock the bugle sounded and to the martial strains of the orchestra Mrs. Potter Palmer [striking in a white gown with a corsage of orchids for decoration] swept down the center of the ballroom on the arm of Howard F. Gillette. In the absence of Gov. Emmerson, who was expected to play a leading rôle in the grand march, Mr. Gillette played opposite Mrs. Palmer with whom he also collaborated as co-chairmen of the ball.

Special Guests in Line.

Following close behind was Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, wearing gold brocade and pearls and accompanied by the former Norwegian minister, F. Herman Gade. On down the line of march were the other special guests, among them Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Frank Parker, and Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Frank C. Bolles. Rear Admiral Crosley escorted Mrs. Arthur Meeker, well remembered as a guest at the charity ball in 1909.

Then on with the dance as the orchestra broke into a waltz. It was as if the famous charity ball of 1894 was painted again when Mrs. William J. Chalmers crossed the floor in the gown she wore when she led one wing of that grand march—a lovely gown of heavy ivory white satin embroidered in silver. Eight yards of material in the skirt, with five underskirts, was an interesting contrast to the slim models of the present day.

"And Robert T. Lincoln was Mrs. Chalmers' partner at that ball in '94" was the whisper of a distinguished Chicagoan as he recalled the affair.

Among Those on Promenade.

Observed along the promenade during the supper hour were Joseph T. Ryerson, Prince and Princess Cantacuzene, former Mayor and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, and Mrs. Waller Borden wearing white satin. President Robert Maynard Hutchins with Mrs. Hutchins in a pale yellow gown chatted frequently with Edward L. Ryerson Jr., a co-worker for the Joint Emergency Relief fund that receives the proceeds from last night's ball.

Mr. Ryerson was not venturing a guess as to how much the receipts would be, though another of the ball officials sauntering through the lobby said happily, "The proceeds will run well into the tens of thousands."

And they should according to one of the colored doormen who remarked, "There's millions of dollars here tonight, at least a million in gowns and jewels." Nor are all of the dressmak-

Cop Shoots 2 Bandits as Girl Acts as Shield

With the aid of a woman companion, Policeman Edward J. Hanus last night shot and killed one stickup man and possibly fatally wounded another in the home of Fred Hartwig, at 2240 Armitage avenue. So accurate was the policeman's shooting that neither of the bandits had a chance to point their weapons and fire at him.

Hanus, who is 33 years old, lives at 2505 South Clifton Park avenue. He is attached to the radio division in the loop. Yesterday was his day off. Early last evening he went to the Hartwig home with Misses Catherine and Marie Burns, sisters, of 4018 West Congress street.

Policeman Hanus was congratulated by Capt. James Fleming of the Shakespeare avenue district and Deputy Chief of Detective Walter Storms. His exploit was regarded as more remarkable in that he has one glass eye.

Robber Invades Home.

According to the story he later told at the Shakespeare avenue station, Hartwig, an out of work painter, was an old friend and the call was of a social nature.

Shortly after 10:30 p. m. there were simultaneous knocks at the front and rear doors of the house, a small cottage. Hartwig admitted a man at the front door. Brushing past the householder, the intruder walked into a front room, where Policeman Hanus and the girls were sitting.

"This is a stickup," he said. "All of you put up your hands."

Girl Shields Policeman.

Catherine Burns was on a settee next to Hanus. She arose and stood in front of the policeman.

"Of course we'll put up our hands," she said as the man walked toward her.

The few seconds she stood between the two men gave Hanus the opportunity to draw his own weapon. He shot down the man from a range of a few feet, thrusting his pistol around Miss Burns.

As the man fell there was a shout from the back of the house. It was Hartwig, who had gone to join his wife as she opened the rear door.

"Here's another one, Ed," she cried.

Second Tries to Flee.

The second robber tried to flee into the back yard. Hanus shot him three times in the back and he fell dead. The first man, with two wounds in the head, was still alive when other policemen arrived and he was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

Neither of the men shot was identified. Hanus, the Burns sisters, Hartwig and his wife were all taken to the station for questioning. The policeman said that ordinarily he went to work down town at midnight. His principal duty is to broadcast the "Main 1313" calls about shootings and robberies to the motor squads.

The unused pistols of the two bandits were found beside them when they fell.

Hartwig was to be questioned about his means of livelihood, the police having been informed that the house was operated as a beer flat.

Robbers Threaten Family.

Four young robbers entered the dry goods store of A. Bjork at 5723 Irving Park boulevard last night and after threatening the owner, his wife, his young son, and young daughter and four customers escaped with $121 from the cash register.

At the detective bureau showup four robbers were identified by their victims. Among those in the line of suspects was Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, beer gangster. No one identified him.

HOUSE ADOPTS MORATORIUM BY 317-100 MARGIN

Critic of President Is Assailed.

Berlin Unable to Pay

The Young plan advisory committee finds Germany unable to make reparations payment in its investigation at Basel, Switzerland. Members announce that the German railways are broke and will not be able to pay the $165,000,000 in reparations imposed upon them by the Young plan. It is expected that an extension of the Hoover moratorium for at least two years will be advised. Story on Page 3.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—The Hoover one year debt and reparations moratorium was approved by the house late tonight by a vote of 317 to 100 and now goes to the senate. As passed, the moratorium resolution virtually wrecked the Hoover program for war debt revision as it placed the house squarely on record as opposed to cancellation or reduction of Europe's wartime and post-war debts to the United States.

Interrupting its inquiry into foreign securities sold in the United States, the senate finance committee will take up the moratorium resolution tomorrow morning in the hope of getting it to the senate floor as soon as possible.

Approval of the moratorium resolution in the senate will postpone payments of 263 million dollars to the United States during the 1932 fiscal year.

The Vote in the House.

Of the even 100 votes against the resolution 95 were Democratic and only 5 Republican.

These 5 Republicans were Brand [O.], Garber [Okla.], McFadden, [Pa.], Summers [Wash.], and Williamson [S. D.].

Favorable house action on the resolution climaxed three days of stormy debate during which President Hoover was bitterly denounced, the word "impeachment" being coupled with the President's name on one occasion. Representative Louis T. McFadden [Rep., Pa.], who roused the house to a high pitch of excitement Tuesday with the charge that President Hoover had "sold out" the United States "to the German international bankers" caused another flurry of excitement tonight when he renewed his attack on the White House in a message of defiance.

Strikes Back at McFadden.

It remained, however, for Representative Arthur M. Free [Rep., Cal.], close friend of the President, to furnish the final thrill when he took the floor during the closing minutes of debate and amid a turmoil of mingled objections and approval, sought to read to the house a last year's decision of the New York Supreme court in which Representative McFadden was virtually charged with bribery.

The resolution, debated hotly from the house's opening at noon until well after 8 o'clock in the evening, was about to go to a vote when Representative Free made his play.

Dashing before the speaker's rostrum, he obtained recognition on the parliamentary technicality of moving to strike out the last word in the resolution's first paragraph. The paragraph concluded with the phrase "army of occupation."

Seeks to "Show Him Up."

Referring to Representative McFadden's recent charges against the President, the Californian announced that he and Mr. Hoover came from the same state and that he would not allow such allegations to be made without showing up the type of man who made them.

Instantly the house, already keyed to a high pitch by the charges and countercharges which have marked the moratorium debate was in an uproar. Mr. Free was about to go on, a copy of the New York court decision in his hand.

Representative Kvale [Farm-Labor, Minn.] interposed a point of order, asserting that Mr. Free's remarks were not relevant. Representative William B. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.] in the chair, sustained the point of order, remarking, " the last word of the paragraph is 'occupation.'"

Representative Free whirled upon the house and shouted:

"And I contend that the occupation of the gentleman I am speaking about is bribery!"

Tumult Is Redoubled.

The tumult in the house was redoubled. Representative Blanton [Dem., Tex.] shouted out another point of order. Mr. Free was ordered to take a seat while the propriety of his choice was debated.

Manifold calls out suggestions. Orders crowded around the Pennsylvania congressman. Mr. Blanton held to his point. It was agreed at last that the remarks be withdrawn and stricken from the record.

The short decision Mr. Free had been about to read was one handed down by Justice McAvoy of the New York Supreme court, appellate division, rendered last March, in which it was charged that McFadden had been a party to a fraudulent conspiracy in an oil securities trade.

The suit involved was brought by one Pat Marr, who alleged that McFadden and A. T. Rottenberg acted as agents for the Marr Oil company in the sale of Marr stocks for stocks of the Southern States Oil company.

Refers to "Bribery Stock."

The appellate division of the court in the original decision against McFadden and Rottenberg declared that McFadden and Rottenberg had first been promised $100,000 in cash and 10,000 shares of Southern States Oil company stock.

This was later reduced, the original decision said, to $50,000 cash and 7,000 shares of stock. The lower court asserted, "The amount of bribery stock to be given by the Southern States to McFadden and Rottenberg was thus reduced from 10,000 shares to about 7,000 shares, making a total amount of the bribe $50,000 in cash and 7,000 shares of Southern States stock."

His Refusal to Retreat.

The last scene before the resolution's passage followed shortly after Mr. McFadden's final appearance in the debate, an appearance in which he did not repeat his charges against President Hoover, but in which he insisted that he had made them in good faith and refused to retract them.

He denounced the action of his Pennsylvania Republican colleagues in their attempt to punish him by taking away his patronage privileges.

And as a concluding gesture he reviewed his objections to the moratorium.

"It means," he said, "that we are going to be called into conference at a round table, on one side of which will sit Uncle Sam and on the other are going to sit the countries who owe us, and they are determined that these debts shall be reduced or canceled.

"It means that these international bankers, in order to protect their situation, are planning to organize international financial institutions comparable to those which are being organized or proposed to be originated here for the purpose of taking bad debts out of one pocket and putting them into another and then tying them up with blue ribbon and selling them to the innocent public as something else, when as a matter of fact they are nothing but bad debts.

Bankers Are Criticized.

"Now, I say the quicker we get out of Europe and attend to the economic and financial conditions of this country, the better. I say also that the finest and best thing that can be said by this congress would be to serve notice on these international bankers that they must turn their banks on Europe and come back here and help us out of this disastrous economic condition which they have brought about."

Again he charged that the federal reserve was going to the aid of Europe rather than of America.

"I have no sinister motives in what I am trying to do," he finished. "What I am trying to do is to do that which is best for the American people. Any one who challenges that right, I defy."

Amendment Gives Warning.

As passed by the house tonight, and as it will go to the senate, the moratorium resolution contains the amendment insisted upon even by many of its friends—the amendment in which this warning is given:

"It is hereby expressly declared to be against the policy of congress that any of the indebtedness of foreign countries to the United States should be in any manner cancelled or reduced; and nothing in this joint resolution shall be construed as indicating a contrary policy or as implying that favorable consideration will be given at any time to a change in the policy hereby declared."

A further amendment, providing that the moratorium should extend only to those debtor nations cutting armaments, was offered by Representative Blanton, but was voted down, 21 to 288.

Sixteen Nations Affected.

The joint moratorium resolution authorizes the postponement of amounts payable to the United States from foreign governments on war debts during the 1932 fiscal year and their repayments over a ten year period, beginning July 1, 1933. The following countries owing money to the United States are affected: Austria, Belgium, Czecho-Slovakia, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia. In the case of Germany the agreement relates only to amounts payable by that country to the United States.

"Such agreement," says the resolution, "on behalf of the United States shall provide for the payment of the postponed amounts, with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum beginning July 1, 1933, in ten equal annuities, the first to be paid during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1933, and one during each of the nine fiscal years following each annuity to be payable in one or more installments.

Guiltless Basis for Agreement.

"No such agreement shall be made with the government of any country unless it appears to the satisfaction of the President that such government has made or has given satisfactory assurances of willingness and readiness to make, with the government of each of the other countries indebted to such country in respect of war, relief, or reparation debts, an agreement in respect of such debt substantially similar to the agreement authorized by this joint resolution to be made with the government of such creditor country on behalf of the United States."

The final paragraph declares that it is against the policy of congress to cancel or reduce the allied war debts to the United States.

Resolution Under Attack.

During the afternoon and night the moratorium resolution was made the subject of scathing attack, the charge being made repeatedly that its approval would open the way to a scaling down of war debts.

The measure was taken up shortly after the house met at noon when an agreement was reached to limit debate with the understanding that a vote would be held before adjournment.

Representative James W. Collier [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the ways and means committee which reported the resolution to the house, opened the debate with the assertion that the moratorium proposal was not a partisan measure, but one designed to aid in the relief of world wide depression. He declared that the moratorium in no way opened the way for cancellation of the war debts, stating that "this proposed resolution provides only for a postponement of the debts by the foreign nations to us."

SENTENCED ON RUM CHARGE.

William Bulos, a speakeasy proprietor of La Salle, was sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $100 by Federal Judge Lindley yesterday when he pleaded guilty to sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance.

TWO BIG BANKERS SAY FOREIGN BONDS ARE NOT PERIL TO UNITED STATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Thomas W. Lamont, partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., and Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank of New York, were very confident as they appeared before the senate finance committee that foreign bondholdings in the United States constituted no menace to the country's financial stability.

They addressed themselves to the resolution authored by Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] describing an inquiry into the sale of foreign securities in America. And the substance of their testimony was that the influence of the approximately 4 billion dollars' worth of foreign bonds sold, in whole or in part, through their houses was greatly exaggerated.

What influence the foreign holdings exercised, they declared, was beneficial rather than dangerous. It favored the restoration of foreign markets and therefore of American commerce, they argued. And if foreign bonds had slid down hill so, too, had domestic bonds. That was unfortunate, but not their fault.

Deny Interest in Moratorium.

American banks were not stuffed with foreign issues, as some people imagined, they explained. The country's banking structure was not threatened. And therefore—and here they came to the point that the committee, and Senator Johnson and certain colleagues in particular, are trying to develop—the international bankers have no selfish interest in assuring the moratorium resolution passed or in any movement to bring about the downward revision or the cancellation of the European debts in order to strengthen the position of their own securities.

It was an urbane discussion for the most part. None of the harrying about sometimes accorded witnesses less important than two of the country's greatest banking figures. But it was not always completely pacific. Senator Johnson was there to see that it was not, and when Messrs. Lamont and Mitchell declined to make public how many millions in foreign bonds were held by their respective houses, the senator from California became both heated and pointed.

His temper was not helped by Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], who insisted that the bankers be given the privilege of communicating the information secretly to the committee. And this was finally agreed on.

Tell of Floating Bonds.

It was a tale of high finance, indeed, that the two witnesses unfolded, as first Mr. Lamont recalled how the house of Morgan, since 1920, had sold $1,807,672,000 worth of bonds for the governments of the Argentine, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Chile, Cuba, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, and Switzerland, and then Mr. Mitchell recounted how the National City company had managed the flotation of issues totaling $1,071,965,000 and had assisted in floating some three billions more.

It was when the question of short term German credits came up that Mr. Lamont first delivered himself of his opinion as to the soundness of the banking system.

"There is much misunderstanding and exaggeration about short term German bank credits held in this country," he insisted. "I have heard statements that some of the New York banks have between 200 and 300 million dollars' worth of such credits. That is perfectly fantastic. The largest total held in one bank that I know of is 70 millions and the bank is so sound and so large that it is well able to carry them. Short term German credits do not constitute a danger to American banks today.

"You feel then," remarked Senator Thomas [Rep., Idaho], "that the American people are unduly exercised about the German bonds they hold?"

"I do," said Mr. Lamont, and later he went on:

"While we——" it was frequently "we," meaning the house of Morgan with Mr. Lamont—"regard foreign bond issues as an important factor, we do not deem them as important as a great many domestic conditions. The charms and excursions concerning American foreign investments are somewhat unfortunate.

Mr. Mitchell was no less emphatic. He pointed out that between 1923 and 1930 $6,594,00,000 worth of foreign securities had been floated in the United States. He pointed out that the excess of American exports over imports during that period had been $4,850,000,000. Had the amount of foreign investments been curtailed, he argued, it would have meant a curtailment of this favorable trade balance. For, he said, the sale of foreign securities in America meant the establishment of a foreign credit here which could be wiped out only though the purchase of American commodities.

Hold by Million and Half.

Mr. Mitchell estimated that more than a million and a half Americans hold foreign bonds.

In contrast to the quiet Mr. Lamont, whose appearance is very much like of the merchant which he also was, Mr. Mitchell is large of feature and of voice.

Those who hold foreign bonds in this country should receive praise rather than criticism, he boomed along confidently. This was too much for certain members of the committee.

Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.] wanted to know whether foreign loans hadn't meant, perhaps, an increase in foreign production of articles formerly made in America. Senator Connally [Dem., Tex.] inquired about nations that took their money out of the country in gold. Mr. Mitchell's tone was slightly reduced.

But the tiff was mild compared to the differences of opinion aired later. Mr. Lamont had asked the privilege of submitting Morgan & Co.'s foreign holdings in confidence and without serious objection the committee had received it. But members of the committee were primed for Mr. Mitchell.

Johnson Demands Details.

Senator Johnson began it when Senator Reed suggested that the long list of issues handled by the National City company be inserted in the record without reading it.

"That's perfectly silly," barked Senator Johnson. "We shall have no chance for cross-examination."

To oblige, the witness read details as to a few issues, showing, as Mr. Lamont's earlier lists had showed, that the spread between the price paid by the managing house and the issue price varied between 2½ and 6 per cent.

Senator Johnson sniffed. "Were there any losses in any of these sales?"

"Not in any managed by the National City company," Mr. Mitchell declared.

"But the purchasers of the bonds have suffered some loss?" suggested Senator Shortridge [Rep., Cal.], who was in an unusually combative mood for him.

Wants to Publish Information.

Senator Gore [Dem., Okla.], who previously had chided Mr. Lamont for the way in which it seemed the banks had got out from under and left the individual bondholder to shoulder the loss, now took his turn with Mr. Mitchell.

"This investigation," he said, "grew out of a suspicion that the international bankers of New York had large holdings of foreign securities and therefore were in favor of curtailing the debts. It will be unfortunate if we are not to be able to give the information as to these holdings to the country."

Once more Senator Reed interposed to cushion the shock.

"Let us ask Mr. Mitchell," he suggested, "whether he has ever taken part in any propaganda for a reduction or cancellation of the debts."

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Mitchell readily.

The National City bank, he said, held $1,656,000 in German bonds and the National City company $831,000.

"The foreign securities held by the New York banks are not enough to influence them one iota," he declared, "nor to affect their liquidity or soundness."

Interchange Gets Warmer.

Why so much secrecy, then, Senator Johnson wanted to know. Senator Reed sought to restore peace, but succeeded only in making matters whirlier. Mr. Mitchell balked at giving the short term German credits held by his bank. Senator Johnson kept after him. Didn't Mr. Mitchell think it significant, he suggested, that Germany paid off 280 millions of short term credits, yet was deemed unable, under the moratorium, to pay 248 millions in reparations?

But you could not treat a country's debts globally, Mr. Mitchell suggested. "All right, then; let's get down to the point," said Senator Johnson. "Are you in favor of scaling down or cancelling the debts?"

"I am prepared to leave that question where it belongs, to congress," said Mr. Mitchell.

"I believe, however, that there probably will have to be some scaling."

Gangster Ambushed in Own Bedroom.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 18.—[Special.] Jack [Legs] Diamond, gangster, died in bed today with three bullets in his head. The underworld settled its own score with the widely publicized New York alcohol racketeer a few hours after he had been acquitted of kidnapping by a jury in a Troy court.

It was Diamond's 27th tilt with the law and the fourth time in recent years that gangland had used him for target practice. The racketeer had spent the night carousing in celebration of his court victory and was an easy victim for two assassins who hid in his bedroom.

The machinery of the state was put in motion to track down the slayers, but the consensus was that society had benefited by the underworld execution.

Widow Is Arrested.

Diamond's known associates, including his widow, who had been with him in his Albany hideway, were held for questioning.

Marion Roberts, his chorus girl light o' love who was believed to have been with the gangster an hour before he was killed, was located in Boston tonight. She had hurried from Albany a few hours after the killing. Police indicated that they might question her later, but they did not appear to think she had any connection with the killing and no request was sent to the Boston authorities to hold the girl.

Meanwhile, the hunt for the murderers spread to New York, where the gangster had many enemies, and where he was almost "rubbed out" a little more than a year ago.

Killers Make Sure.

There was no question this time of Diamond's recovering from his wounds, as he did thrice before. The killers did a workmanlike job. One bullet entered his right ear, another struck him in the right cheek, and the third was fired from a pistol held close to Diamond's left temple.

Until early this evening the picture of Legs Diamond's passing was sketchy. Mrs. Laura Woods, the landlady who "boarded" Diamond, finally calmed down sufficiently to tell a connected story of what she had seen and heard.

Diamond, Mrs. Diamond, and relatives and close friends had been celebrating "beating the rap" in various Albany resorts. Diamond left the party and is believed to have gone to meet Kiki Roberts. It was some time between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning when a taxicab drew up in front of the rooming house and Diamond got out. Mrs. Diamond apparently had not yet returned.

Murder Is Reconstructed.

This is what happened, according to the stories of the landlady and of several other witnesses in the house:

An hour before Diamond came home from his "victory party" a touring car had unloaded two men in front of the house. The automobile sped away, but the two men walked boldly into the house and went into Diamond's apartment.

Then Diamond came home. There was silence in his room for a few minutes and then pistol shots aroused the neighborhood. The two killers walked down the stairs.

"I've been waiting a long time for this," said one of them. "I'm going back and make sure I got him."

"Come on; hell, he's done for this time," said a second voice.

Frightened Roomers Hide.

Mrs. Woods and the other occupants of the house closed their doors and huddled in frightened groups.

A few minutes later the assassins were heard running through the hallway and then an automobile was heard roaring down the street. Peter Delahanty lives next door. He peeped out a window and saw the men. One was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, was dressed in dark clothes and wore a cap.

The first news of the murder came in a telephone call to Dr. Thomas M. Holmes, the surgeon who patched Diamond up when his body was peppered with buckshot pellets in Cairo, N. Y., last summer.

"You'd better get down to 67 Dove street," said the voice. "There's a shooting there and you'll want to see the body."

Police Enter Scene.

It was just 6 a. m. when Dr. Holmes arrived. He took a hasty look at the man on the bed and called the police. By the time they arrived Diamond's wife had returned home and was hysterically shouting: "I know nothing about it; I do not know who did it!"

There were a dozen motives for the crime and tonight the police were sifting each one. Diamond had been "muscling in" on beer and alcohol rackets in the Albany district since the state troopers made it too hot for him in the Catskills last summer as an outcome of the kidnaping case in which he was acquitted yesterday.

The jury had turned Diamond loose on charges of having kidnaped James Duncan, a youth Diamond suspected of encroaching on his beer and applejack business. A jury last summer, also in Troy, acquitted Diamond of torturing a youth named Parks, who testified the racketeer had burned him with cigar ends and faggots.

A Hard Man to Kill.

Legs Diamond won his notoriety as a racketeer not because of any of his underworld accomplishments, but because of the persistent and finally successful efforts of his enemies to kill him. He was tough—not in spirit, but in body. Three times in the last four years the bullets of the underworld sent him sprawling on the floor clutching at his chest. Each time his scrawny, disease ravaged body withstood the wounds, and doctors and surgeons nursed him back to health.

Diamond was only 36 when he died—but he was suffering from two diseases which eventually would have carried him off. Doctors said he had tuberculosis and ulcers of the stomach.

Since he was 17 Diamond had been more or less well known in the criminal world as a small time gangster and satellite of more important figures, but it was not until he began to acquire the load of leaden bullets he carried from the beer running front line to the hospital, and back to the underworld trenches again, that he became internationally famous.

"Legs" went to war—he had to, under the conscription act, but he never fired a shot at an enemy of his country. In fact, he deserted. He served a jail term for that. Back in civil life, he resumed racketeering and began to achieve the enmities that finally cost him his life.

Stops His First Bullets.

Gangland's first bullets felled him on Oct. 15, 1927, in Manhattan. Two bullets plowed into his chest and lodged under his heart. Doctors said he would die. He fooled them. Three years later he received his second dose of lead. On Oct. 12, 1930, his enemies found him in the Hotel Monticello, Manhattan, and put five slugs into his body. An ambulance surgeon said he was dying. The doctor was wrong.

Again on April 27, 1931, Diamond proved his lead carrying ability. He was rash enough to venture to a party at the Saratoga inn, at Catskill, N. Y. His enemies were waiting for him and this time they pumped six more bullets into him. He recovered.

Up until this morning Diamond had been attacked three times, stopping 13 bullets, and was still carrying five of them when he died.

PARTY LEADERS HEAR HOOVER ON SLUMP REMEDY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—The critical economic situation abroad, particularly with reference to possible repercussions in this country, was a major topic of discussion at a White House breakfast this morning during which house Democratic and Republican leaders discussed the immediate legislative situation with the President.

BERTRAND H. SNELL.
[Harris & Ewing.]

Following the breakfast conference Representative Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], Republican leader, expressed the opinion that the Democrats would coöperate in giving the President prompt action on the White House business reconstruction program included in his annual message.

While house leaders had little to say about the conference, it was learned that the President spoke at length on the world business situation, stating his desire that congress act promptly to alleviate the situation. Immediately following the conference Representative Henry T. Rainey [Dem., Ill.], house floor leader, said the economic situation today was "as critical as at any time during the world war."

The guests included Speaker John Garner [Dem., Tex.], Snell, Rainey, Willis C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.], Allen T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.], James W. Collier [Dem., Miss.], chairman of ways and means committee, and numerous others.

CO-ED'S CLOTHES STOLEN OUT OF PARKED AUTO

Miss Frances E. Nichol, a Northwestern university co-ed, will have to go to her home in Ames, Ia., for the Christmas holidays with whatever she is wearing, it appeared last night.

She packed up thirteen dresses, lingerie, jewelry and other personal effects, preparatory to leaving. Victor Deinlein, 2735 Ridge avenue, Wilmette, a senior at the university, and son of Leo Deinlein, insurance broker, offered to drive her to the railroad station. She accepted.

They drove to Wacker drive, and parked their car at Dearborn street. Miss Nichol's train was not scheduled to depart for several hours, so they left the machine. When they returned they found someone had broken into the car and taken all her belongings, valued at $1,000.

FIND GERMANY UNABLE TO PAY POLITICAL DEBT

World Bank Discovers Her Railways Broke.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Dec. 18.—Germany is utterly unable to pay any reparations, conditional or unconditional. She will be incapable of paying for some time to come, at least until the present world crisis subsides. These statements were virtually clinched today by the Young plan advisory committee, which has been studying Germany's capacity to pay for two weeks.

In almost so many words the committee scotched France's chances of getting her unconditional reparations for some time to come. Not that the committee's report will recommend a moratorium on unconditional reparations, for that is expressly forbidden under the Young plan. But the report, when completed, will nevertheless strongly, if indirectly, indicate the necessity of extending the Hoover moratorium for at least two more years by saying that Germany's railroads are in such shape "that they will not be able to balance their 1932 budget."

German Railways Bankrupt.

The report of the railway subcommittee which found the German railways are bankrupt was passed on by the main committee for incorporation in the final report, which Sir Walter Layton, British representative, is drafting.

The report stated that from 1925 to 1929 the "annual average excess of operating receipts over payments amounted to $208,250,000, enabling the state railways to pay $165,000,000 in reparations imposed upon it. In 1930 under the influence of the world crisis receipts dropped 13 per cent. The operating surplus fell to $120,000,000. To meet its reparations and other annual charges the company was obliged to draw upon its reserves.

"In 1931 the economic crisis was still more accurate. The decline of receipts for two years amounted to 28 per cent. To meet its charges the company was again compelled to draw upon its reserves. It appears that in 1932 it will be impossible to balance the company's budget."

It was learned tonight an excellent authority that the three neutral nations, Switzerland, Holland, and Sweden, are demanding a definitive modification of the Young plan—in order to arrive at something Germany can pay.

The temper of the committee is declared to be almost unanimous for a report recommending a drastic slicing of reparations to something that is payable.

Bankers Up Against Hard Job.

BERLIN, Dec. 18.—(AP)—More than a week of deliberation has convinced the American members of the international bankers' committee meeting here that they are up against quite a job in attempting to deal with the problem of Germany's frozen credits.

Not one word of information will be made public until an agreement has been signed, this member declared.

This delegate asserted that progress was being made at the conferences.

Circumstantial evidence appeared to indicate the American delegates were having difficulty putting through whatever program they brought with them.

Albert H. Wiggin, head of the delegation, has cabled frequently to America for new instructions. His greatest difficulty has seemed to be to persuade the English to agree to longer extension of credits and to obtain satisfactory German guarantees for whatever mode of "thawing" Germany's creditors may accept.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 18.—Germany's industrial production now is only of the same volume as at the beginning of this century, official figures issued today reveal. Production values this year are estimated at $4,500,000,000, or $3,000,000,000 less than in 1929. The national income has dwindled from $18,000,000,000 in 1929 to a maximum of $12,000,000,000 for the current year.

Borsig Locomotive company, founded in 1837, suspended payments today. The suspension affects only the Borsig Machinery company of Berlin. The company was compelled to cease payments despite $3,000,000 in orders.

The Hanomag Automobile company has also stopped payments, being unable to obtain a banking credit of $100,000 to tide it over the winter.

CONFIDENCE VOTE WON BY LAVAL IN ROW OVER DOLE

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Premier Pierre Laval won a vote of confidence from the chamber of deputies tonight after his government had been defeated on a technical detail in connection with France's policy toward the unemployed. A Socialist motion which would have increased aid to the jobless was made a question of confidence by the premier, and the chamber upheld him, 316 to 267.

Previously the deputies had voted 293 to 281 to give the Socialist measure priority over a government request for an expression from the chamber that the cabinet was wholly able to deal with the unemployment situation.

In the debate on the question of confidence Laval said he always had been a friend of the working man. The government was doing everything possible to relieve the situation, he told the deputies, but could not increase appropriations without imperiling the balancing of the budget. Other government spokesmen pointed out that the unemployed allowance had been increased from 12 cents to $1.04 a day.

U. S. ENVOY SAYS JAPANESE BOMB 2 CHINESE TOWNS

Investigation Fails to Find Threat at Chinchow.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Dec. 18.—Lieut. Col. Nelson E. Margetts, American military attaché at Peiping, and Col. G. Badham-Thornhill British attaché at Peiping, who have been observing the situation at Chinchow for the last three weeks, returned here today. They said Japanese airmen had dropped twenty-six bombs, twenty-three of which did much property damage at Tungliao two days ago.

LIEUT. COL. NELSON E. MARGETT. [Acme Photo.]

This activity was not reported in official communiques issued from the headquarters here of Gen. Shigeru Honjo, Japanese commander in Manchuria. The official reports merely said that Japanese scouting planes had visited the city to inspect the condition of the Chengchiatun-Tungliao railway, which contains a Japanese investment.

Another Town Bombed.

The foreign military observers also reported that the Japanese dropped 18 bombs near the town of Panshan, on the Chinese branch railway connecting the port of Yingkow and Kowpangtze, on the Sino-British controlled Peiping-Mukden line. The scene of the bombing was inspected personally by Lieut. Col. Margetts, who said the bombs each weighed 200 pounds and made deep holes in the frozen ground, but did little material damage. There were no casualties, he said.

Both Lieut. Col. Margetts and Col. Badham-Thornhill emphatically denied Japanese allegations that the number of Chinese troops at Chinchow has been increased.

"The Chinese troops at Chinchow are not aggressively inclined," they said. "They are merely interested in finding a place to sleep and sufficient food."

Chinese Official Jailed.

Tsang Shih-yi, former governor of Fengtien province, who has been held in close confinement by the Japanese military since the occupation of Mukden last September and who was taken from jail and placed in the governor's chair two days ago, with the permission of the Japanese authorities today made an official statement to foreign newspaper men. The correspondents found Tsang weak and nervous from his long confinement. He nearly collapsed when a Japanese photographer exploded a flashlight which ignited a lace curtain.

Gov. Tsang was flanked on both sides and at the rear by a large staff of Japanese "advisers." He made a brief, halting statement to the effect that he had accepted the governorship due to the demands of public opinion, but "I realize I am unable to shoulder such important duties."

Orders War on "Bandits."
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 19.—[Saturday.]—Gen. Honjo, Japanese commander in Manchuria, today ordered Lieut. Gen. Mori and Maj. Gen. Suzuki, commanders of 24 independent garrison and a mixed brigade, respectively, to launch a sweeping drive against Chinese bandits in the direction of Chinchow. In view of the grave situation Japanese residents of Shanhaikwan, south of Chinchow at the great wall, will be withdrawn.

According to a Tientsin dispatch Chang Hsueh-liang, deposed Manchurian governor, after consultation with Sir Miles W. Lampson, British minister at Peiping, has decided to remove his temporary government headquarters at Chinchow to Lwangchow, which is within the British sphere of influence.

Reports from Antung today said 600 Chinese troops raided Tsiumuchwang station, on the Mukden-Antung line, killing the Japanese station master and three Chinese employés at the station.

According to a Mukden dispatch Chinese troops crossed the Liao river east of Hsinmin and came dangerously near Mukden, where they went into formation as if to besiege the Japanese.

Nanking Deports Students.

NANKING, Dec. 18.—(AP)—China's capital breathed easier tonight for the first time in a week as trainloads of recalcitrant students were sent back home. The government employed soldiers to round up the malefactors, who have been raising havoc with the city's peace for the last few days, and to escort them to waiting trains. With their departure the belief was expressed that danger of further disorders had been removed for the present.

STIMSON AGAIN WARNS JAPAN TO CHECK ARMY MOVES IN MANCHURIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—Secretary of State Stimson has again voiced the concern of the United States over Japanese military activities in Manchuria. The state department's views were communicated to the Japanese foreign office through Ambassador Forbes at Tokio.

At the same time the American ambassador left with the foreign office a copy of the President's references in his annual message to the Manchurian situation. Ambassador Forbes told the Japanese foreign office that the American state department is worried over reports that Japanese troops are preparing to advance into the Chinchow area. Mr. Forbes expressed the hope that no new military occupations would be conducted in Manchuria by Japan.

Secretary Stimson said today that a part of the state department's documents on the Manchurian situation will be submitted to the senate in answer to Senator Johnson's resolution yesterday, but that all confidential papers and data will be withheld. Senators who wish to look over confidential sections of the correspondence will be invited to do so by the secretary on condition they refrain from discussing them for publication.

RAID SPEAKEASY 8 DOORS FROM FEDERAL BLDG.

Place Known as Haunt of U. S. Employes.

Until yesterday a well appointed speakeasy flourished at 25 West Adams street, eight doors away from the Federal building. It was known as a favorite hangout of the thirsty from the government's Chicago headquarters.

This week some of the government's prohibition agents, who are believed to drink only when drinking is necessary to get evidence that drinks are being sold, heard about the place. One of them entered and purchased, and yesterday afternoon Deputy Prohibition Administrator A. E. Aman led a raiding squad against the saloon.

Behind the thirty foot bar they found a wide variety of labels, including the old favorites, Haig and Haig, Three Star Hennessy, Johnny Walker and Indian Hill. The labels were on bottles that contained alcoholic liquors. There were also eight barrels of beer and in a room off the main gathering place was a cutting plant where the proper proportions of real liquor, water and alcohol were mixed. The estimated value of the beverage stock was $2,500.

In the place were Joseph J. Ward and Harry Harvey. They were marched over to the federal building and arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker, who held them to the federal grand jury on charges of violation of the liquor laws. Ward's bond was fixed at $3,500 and Harvey's at $1,000.

Chicago Mail to Points Abroad Shows Increase

MRS. BROWNING DENIED DIVORCE FROM EX-DADDY

Evidence Is Insufficient, Judge Says.

New York, Dec. 18.—[Special.]—The divorce case of Frances "Peaches" Browning against Edward W. Browning, known as "Daddy," came to an abrupt end this afternoon when Supreme Justice John L. Walsh decided in favor of the millionaire real estate dealer.

PEACHES BROWNING. [A. P. Photo.]

James D. C. Murray, counsel for Browning, had finished his cross - examination of Val O'Farrell, the private detective and a witness for Mrs. Browning, when Daniel F. Cohalan, counsel for "Peaches," said he would like to recall his principal witness, John S. Guishaw, Browning's chauffeur.

"I don't think there will be any need for that," said the court.

Calls Halt on Trial.

"Will your honor give me a few days in which to file my brief?" asked Mr. Cohalan.

"This court has listened attentively to all the testimony in this case," replied Justice Walsh, "and I don't think that it needs any more testimony or to examine briefs, for nothing can change its conclusion. In ruling on a matter of fact this court finds that in all the allegations made in the complaint and in the bill of particulars not sufficient evidence has been brought to support the charges. The court finds a verdict in favor of the defendant."

"Not an Authority."

During most of today's session of the trial Browning was on the stand.

Daniel F. Cohalan, counsel for "Peaches," who was cross-examining "Daddy," wanted to know whether it was possible to see from outside of the Rolls-Royce car whether "anybody was sitting on anybody's lap."

"I am not a good authority on sitting on laps," responded Browning.

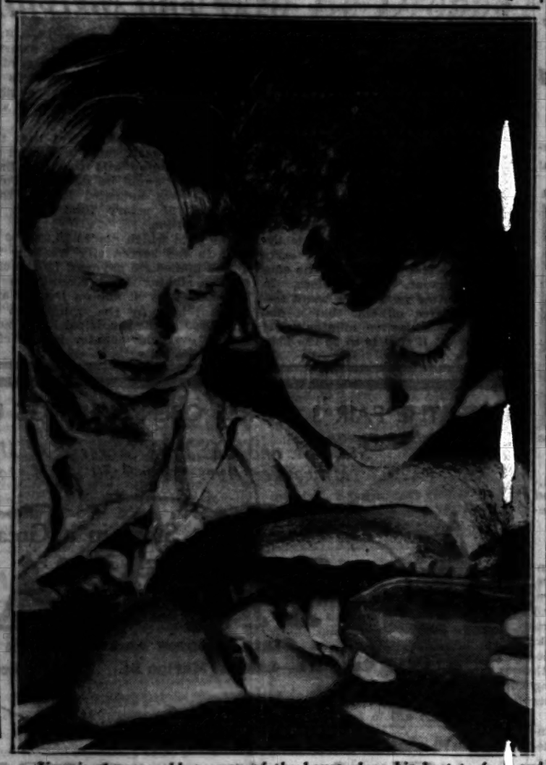

"Is the car built for petting?"

"Absolutely not," said the witness. "Nor is my mind built that way."

Paraguay Takes Over All Radio Stations in Spy Plot

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 18.—(AP)—An Asuncion dispatch says the Paraguayan government has taken control over all radio stations. The government charged evidence had been obtained showing that information about troop movements and other governmental matters was being transmitted to Bolivia. Clandestine radio stations, the dispatch said, have been raided and several persons arrested on espionage charges.

FACTOR DECISION DELAYED DESPITE BRITISH PROTEST

Crown Attorney Demands He Be Jailed.

Over the protests of counsel for the British crown, United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday again postponed giving a final ruling in the extradition case of John "Jake the Barber" Factor. Factor is wanted in London for trial on a charge of swindling English investors out of approximately $7,000,000 by the sale of worthless mining stocks.

When Commissioner Walker stated he would not hand down his opinion in the case until after Christmas, Attorney Franklin R. Overmyer protested, "Why coddle this man?" he asked. "In behalf of the British government I must complain that there has been more than enough time consumed on this case. You have had more than a month in which to arrive at your decision since all the evidence was placed in your hands. Either hold him or let him off, if you want to and I'll have him arrested again."

Wants Time to Write Opinion.

"I don't want to let him go," Commissioner Walker said, "but I must have more time to write a formal opinion."

"We don't ask a formal written opinion," Overmyer replied. "All the British government asks is an end of these delays. You can rule yes or no now and enter your opinion on the case when you get it written. An opinion isn't necessary under the law, anyway."

Senator Otis H. Glenn, one of the several attorneys representing the alleged millionaire swindler, then said: "All you want is to get this man back to John Bull as quick as possible. John Bull couldn't get convictions against four of Factor's five associates. The senator continued to advance arguments upholding the delay of a ruling in the case until Commissioner Walker indicated that his decision to give a decision on Dec. 28 was final.

Wants Factor Jailed.

"Then I make a motion that Factor be put in jail until there is a ruling," Overmyer insisted. The motion was overruled. Factor has been allowed to go around in custody of a United States deputy marshal since his arrest seven months ago.

"What difference is it to you whether he's in jail or not?" Attorney David Stansbury, of the defense, asked Overmyer. The latter responded that it made no difference to him, but that it did to the British government and the people whom Factor is alleged to have swindled in England.

JUDGES DISRUPT COUNTY ECONOMY ASK MORE JOBS

Report for 1932 Jars Placid Meeting.

Judges of the Circuit court yesterday astounded members of the county board. A placid meeting of the commissioners was disrupted by the preliminary report of the committee on employment of the court. Under the state law Circuit court judges fix the number of employés in the fee offices of the county.

The report was submitted to the commissioners as they were debating methods of retrenchment. At first glance the commissioners were about to move for a vote of thanks to the judges for coöperation in the program, but they discovered employé totals in the report for 1932 called for 7,676 employés, or an increase of 7 employés over the 1,665 total of 1931.

Figures Are Called Serious.

Careful study revealed that the slight increase was serious. Deputy Controller Michael J. O'Connor pointed out that since Recorder of Deeds Clayton Smith had done away with 22 jobs in his office and that these were distributed among other offices in the preliminary report, the judges' committee had added 29 jobs to the county pay roll. All of the jobs are clerical.

The judges' report makes the following recommendations:

Departments—	1931.	Jobs in	Jobs asked by officers.	Judges allow for 1932.
Circuit court.....	73		79	78
Superior court...	58		66	64
County court....	31		32	32
Probate court....	64		67	66
Criminal court...	46		49	49
Sheriff 652			701	653
Treasurer 172			173	172
Coroner	44		46	44
Recorder 324			332	332
Juvenile prob.....139			152	146
Jury comm.....	11		12	12
Adult probation. 25			27	27

O'Connor said that the recorder had never filled his allotment of employés in 1931 and that he had operated his office during the year with the 332 employés asked for 1932. At his observations the commissioners appointed a committee of President Emmett Whelan and Commissioners Mrs. Edward J. Fleming and Miss Amelia Sears to call upon the judges, who were meeting to pass upon the recommendations of the help committee. The committee was instructed to tell the judges the board was attempting to cut down on the number of employés and is about to prepare a 10½ months' pay budget for twelve months' work.

Judges Delay Action.

The committee presented its views to the judges. After an hour conference the judges voted to postpone final action of the preliminary report of the help committee until the committee holds hearings with the fee officers and a representative of the county board. No date was set for the hearing.

The representative of the county board is to be J. L. Jacobs, efficiency expert. The appointment of Jacobs was made after the finance committee of the board voted, after heated debate, to retain his services for 1932 on his per diem basis of $50. Several commissioners objected to Jacobs' retention on the ground his work should be done by the commissioners themselves, but agreed to his retention on condition his activities be directed by the president of the board.

street repairs financed by vehicle tax fees, and $4,000,000 for work already done on bond issue improvements.

Those obligations will not be met, since the money has been used to prevent the bond defaults. In addition, the aggregate of funds has nearly $15,000,000 in cash in it reserved for special purposes, principally in special assessment funds. The city is barred by law from using that money, however. In addition to city hall pay, the aggregate of funds has furnished $15,585,000 to the school board through tax warrant sales.

Cash available stands at $994,601, Mr. Szymczak told the council. That may seem a considerable sum to a private citizen, but it is less than a week's pay for all the city employés.

Seeks to Sell Bonds.

Comptroller Szymczak asked his bankers' advisory committee yesterday to investigate the possibility of reselling the $8,998,000 worth of refunding bonds placed in the aggregate of funds yesterday. It was the refusal of banks to buy these bonds originally which made necessary the dipping into the aggregate of funds to prevent the default.

The county payday was cloaked in some mystery. A week ago the finance committee of the county board said it had no money either for pay rolls or for mother pension payments. Yesterday, however, county employés got their checks for the last half of October, and the 1,800 widows and 6,000 orphans on the mothers' pension rolls got their checks for the first half of November. The payments, with $48,000 to jurors for services in September, totaled $510,000. They came principally from collections of county fee offices, it was said at the county treasurer's office.

RELIEF GROUP TO GET PLEA FOR SPECIAL POLICE

Members of the Parent-Teacher associations of several northwest side schools, with the approval of two police captains and three aldermen, will present to the Joint Emergency Relief fund today a request that fifteen unemployed men be appointed as special traffic policemen.

The proposal of the associations is that these men will relieve fifteen policemen now on traffic duty and that the policemen will be given the task of watching the vicinity of the schools for morons. A number of children have been annoyed by such persons recently.

Only men with families and of upright character are to be appointed to traffic duty, if the emergency fund management approves, and their names are to be passed on by the police. Police Captains Ira McDowell and Joseph Goldberg and Aldermen James C. Moreland, Joseph C. Kloss, and Walter J. Orlikowski, meeting with the Parent-Teacher groups' representatives yesterday, agreed with them that the idea had merit.

SEEK TO DELAY PENALTY DATE FOR 1931 TAXES

County Officials to Back Bill in Assembly.

With the 1930 tax levy uncompleted and the tax bills not in sight, the necessity for the extension of the date upon which these taxes become delinquent—now Jan. 1—caused county officials to take action yesterday. County Clerk Sweitzer and County Treasurer McDonough agreed to back a bill before the general assembly which will allow the taxpayers a breathing spell by extending the penalty date to March 1.

Both officials have admitted the impossibility of having the bills in the hands of taxpayers before Jan. 1. This fact caused yesterday's emergency meeting. The state legislature, the officials said, will not convene again until Jan. 5, four days after the taxes become subject to penalty. The action of the legislature, however, would be made retroactive by general consent.

Meet in Clerk's Office.

The meeting took place in Mr. Sweitzer's office. Assistant Controller Michael J. O'Connor also was present. The sanction of the county board, in the form of a resolution, will be sought.

The 1930 taxes are due in full upon the first day of 1932. The bills are not subject to the present statute, which allows the payment of taxes in semi-annual installments. The 1931 quadrennial taxes are the first to be affected by the law. The general assembly now is considering a new bill to allow the payment of taxes in six installments. The bill is in the second reading in the lower house.

Fix Rates Next Week.

Mr. Sweitzer announced that the 1930 tax rates will be fixed next week. This work involves the preparation of more than 900 schedules for each corporate body within the county limits. Mr. Sweitzer explained that he had hesitated to carry the work to completion pending the adjudication of the taxpayer's suit attacking the validity of the 1928 and 1929 levies, in Judge Jarecki's court. The 1930 figures are based upon the same values now under protest.

"I feel now that I cannot delay any longer with this work," he said. "We will have to go ahead regardless of what the legislature or Judge Jarecki does."

SCHOOL BOARD TRIMS COST OF REPAIRS BY 26%

Department Put on 4 Day Week.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

One of the most drastic cuts in expense proposed for any of the local governments was decided upon yesterday by the school trustees. They reduced the appropriations for repairs and replacements in the public school property 28 per cent and then trimmed the working time of employés on that work more than 27 per cent.

F. F. SULLIVAN.

The proposed 1932 appropriation for repairs and replacements was decreased from $4,815,215 to $3,656,649. The $1,351,933 appropriation for wages and salaries of repair employés was decreased to $1,000,000 even.

Will Work Four Days.

The painters, carpenters, piano tuners, plasterers, machinists, glaziers, scale repairers, electricians, shade repairers, sheet metal workers and other employés of the repair department are to work four days a week, instead of five and a half. An agreement to this end was effected with Patrick F. Sullivan of the building trades, Charles Fry of the machinists and other union leaders.

The cut will reduce the average income of the 413 employés of the department from $3,273 to $2,421 a year. The $1,000,000 for wages of repair employés during 1932 is comparable with an appropriation of $1,934,097 for the same purpose this year. For the salaries of these repair employés the board expended $1,550,003 in 1930 and $1,478,951 in 1929.

Call Result a Saving.

The trustees looked upon the result as a substantial saving, which will accrue to the benefit of the building fund. It is probably the most informative indication so far of what the trustees intend to do when they get to a consideration of the appropriations for the operation of the schools from the educational fund.

This fund is in worse shape than has heretofore been represented. To obtain a balanced budget, which the new statute requires, in the education fund it has been reckoned by Auditor H. H. Brackett that the estimates must be reduced $5,156,784.

However, the state Supreme court has decided against the school board in its contest over rentals from school fund property. These rents, which the board had hoped to obtain, total $1,503,239. The 1932 income of the board has accordingly been reduced by that sum, and it is consequently necessary to trim $9,660,023 from the educational budget, rather than $8,156,784.

"That is making more impossible what looked impossible at first," commented Trustee English.

Lobby for Early Closing.

Representatives of several teachers' organizations have been quietly lobbying to dismiss school a month early in order to effect a saving in the educational account. The trustees, in their chat after yesterday's board session, calculated offhand that a dismissal of school for two months would be necessary, if that is to be the plan for saving.

FIND SOME CASH FOR ONE PAY DAY AT PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Cash payment of their salaries for the first two weeks of December was assured the 25,639 employés of the city and county of Philadelphia today by action of the city council and the sinking fund commission.

It was announced tonight that the payments in cash would be started tomorrow morning and that the final distribution would be made by Tuesday. It was indicated further that the Dec. 31 salary fund would be ready on time.

The plan which placed $2,000,000 in cash in the barren city treasury required immediate payment by the city to the sinking fund commission of $2,000,000 interest due on Dec. 31 and the purchase by the commission of $2,000,000 of the municipal bonds now selling over the counter in the city treasurer's office.

PRICES OF PORK 27 TO 50% LOWER, PACKERS ASSERT

Wholesale prices of pork are now from 27 to 50 per cent lower than a year ago, William Whitfield Woods, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers at 506 South Wabash avenue, said yesterday. Mr. Woods made an analysis of the situation after scanning reports of the government bureau of agricultural economics. In the case of fresh pork, Mr. Woods revealed, loins are from 46 to 48 per cent lower than a year ago, fresh hams are 50 per cent lower, shoulders, 46 per cent; Boston butts, 50 per cent; smoked hams, from 30 to 33 per cent; bacon, from 33 to 39 per cent, and lard, 28 per cent. Wholesale beef prices are from 7 to 36 per cent lower, veal has declined 24 per cent, and lamb about 26 per cent.

COURTNEY HITS BARR AS CZAR OF RELIEF SESSION

Charges Attempt to Save County Machine.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Recuperating at his residence from an illness that kept him away from the special session at Springfield for the last two weeks, Senator Thomas J. Courtney, minority leader of the upper chamber of the assembly, told yesterday what he would have said if he had been on the floor last Wednesday when the "Barr plan" for the taxing machinery of Cook county was approved.

T. J. COURTNEY. [Walinger Photo.]

This plan was an amendment to the bill urged by Gov. Emmerson's tax conference to abolish the present boards of assessment and review and replace them with one assessor and two reviewers named by the president of the county board. On the motion of Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet, president pro tempore, the bill was modified to an extent that required a complete rewriting.

Holds Barr Is Dictator.

"Senator Barr is a czar," said Courtney, the Democratic leader, "and there never was a clearer demonstration of his dictatorship than this.

"Reports that have come to me from Springfield show that he determined in advance what the senate majority would do, that he knew he would count on enough votes to follow him on any plan he proposed, regardless of its merits or demerits, and that when he gave the word the majority followed his instructions without even analyzing his proposition.

"I am told that when President Traylor of the First National bank made a special trip to Springfield at Gov. Emmerson's invitation to talk over this bill he went to the governor's office and there Senator Barr simply told him what was going to happen regardless of the damage that might follow. There was nothing that Traylor or anybody else could do."

Seeks to Save Machine, Charge.

"What Barr sought to do was to keep alive the board of review, of which his friend Charles V. Barrett is a member, and to protect the thirty township assessors who in themselves constitute a fair sized country towns Republican machine. The governor's tax conference recommended that all of these offices be abolished as the first step toward restoring confidence in the taxing system.

"Barr put his amendment through with 28 votes, two more than necessary for the passage of the bill, but that doesn't mean that the bill will be passed when it comes up in January. Some of the senators will have a chance to think things over before the legislature reconvenes and some of those who voted for the amendment probably will listen to reason before they vote on the final rollcall."

Senator Courtney said that he intends to urge Mayor Cermak next week to call a meeting of the entire Cook county delegation in both houses, Republicans as well as Democrats, to adopt a program to meet the situation created by the Barr amendment. This plan was proposed at Springfield, but no action was taken upon it.

RELIEF FUND AT $10,153,203; END CAMPAIGN TODAY

With the active campaign closing today, the Joint Emergency Relief fund announced last night that a total of $10,153,203 had been pledged. The goal was $10,000,000. Contributions of $131,389 were received yesterday.

The largest single contribution reported was for $20,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Harris. Among other pledges received were the following:

Employés of Chicago Title and Trust company	$5,000
[illegible] & Co., agents, employés, and buildings	4,950
Employés of Consumers Sanitary Coffee and Butter stores	4,000
North American Car corporation and employés	3,000
[illegible], Waterhouse & Co.	3,000
Albert H. Wetten & Co.	2,697
[illegible] Baking company and employés	2,010
[illegible] Bakeries corporation and employés	2,000
Employés Brennan Packing company	1,500
[illegible] Foundry company	1,000
[illegible] S. Lord	1,000
[illegible] Packing company	1,000
[illegible] Grocers' alliance	1,000

Although the campaign will officially close today, the offices will remain open a short time to care for pledges. The joint relief fund office will remain open to administer the money collected.

Three More City Jobs Added to List of 10 to Be Dropped

The city council yesterday received the finance committee's ordinance abolishing the posts of several members of the mayor's cabinet, as well as several other important officers. It was ordered deferred and published. The ordinance is a part of the program for the reorganization of city departments now pending in the finance committee.

The offices to be abolished are those of city physician, commissioner of public welfare, commissioner of buildings, commissioner of compensation, superintendent of licenses, chief boiler inspector, city business agent, commissioner of public service, harbormaster, vessel dispatcher, and three market masters.

Three Added to List.

The ordinance as drafted by the finance committee called for abolishment of all ten jobs. Three others, those of the commissioner of public service, harbormaster, and vessel dispatcher, were added in an amendment offered by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th]. It is the purpose of the measure to abolish the jobs before Jan. 1, so that if the council later adopts the department organization plan, it will not be legally compelled to appropriate for a group of job holders who are left without duties.

The council also received the ordinance creating a central purchasing department and ordered it deferred and published. John A. Cervenka, whose post of city business agent is abolished by the other measure, is slated for the post of commissioner of central purchasing.

Strike at "Drag" Stars.

Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th] introduced a resolution, which was adopted, calling on Gov. Emmerson to use his influence toward the repeal of an act of the last legislature, permitting members of the legislature, state officials, and peace officers to display "I gotta drag" stars on their automobiles. The resolution pointed out that the state law renders difficult of enforcement the ordinance passed June 10 by the council, prohibiting such stars, and stated that the only purpose of the "I gotta drag" stars is to enable the holders to violate traffic regulations.

The finance committee was ordered to insert in the 1932 budget an appropriation of $149,000 for the services of Attorneys George I. Haight, Edmund D. Adcock, and Benjamin Goldstine, representing the city in the telephone rates case.

AUSTRIAN REVOLT CHIEF ACQUITTED OF HIGH TREASON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Dec. 18.—Soldiers and police stood by with fixed bayonets in Graz, capital of Styria, tonight, while crowds celebrated the acquittal of Dr. Walter Pfriemer, chief of the Austrian Heimwehr, and his six accomplices of high treason for having attempted to overthrow the Austrian government on Sept. 13.

Though Dr. Pfriemer refused to recognize the Austrian republic during the trial and openly declared that he was determined to overthrow it, a jury of peasants unanimously found him and his aides not guilty. The seven were set free at 7 o'clock tonight and were fêted at a banquet by Heimwehr [Fascist] leaders who had assembled from all over Austria.

By a new decree, which went into effect tonight, all political meetings throughout Austria are prohibited for a fortnight. Despite the presence of troops, the Fascists rented the town hall in Graz and 4,000 Heimwehr "shock troops" heard their leaders demand the end of the republic.

A PANTS BUTTON DISCLOSES GANG MURDER OF YANK

French Police Trace It to U. S. Fugitive.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 18.—A body of charred clothing and a wrecked automobile with bloodstained cushions, found yesterday in a wood 30 miles from Paris, but police on the trail of a crime which seems likely to develop into a French Arnold Rothstein case.

The body of the victim has yet to be found, but detectives, police and judiciary, by a piece of spectacular deduction of the kind for which they are famous, have already identified him as Richard Clifton Wall, 30 year old American sporting man and associate of confidence men, who is wanted in New York on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Pants Button Only Clew.

His identification hangs literally on a pants button, but so confident are the French police of their methods of detection that they have announced publicly that there is no doubt but that Wall has been murdered.

The police state positively that he was taken for a ride in American gangster fashion, murdered at some lonely spot, and that his body was tossed into the Seine at the Triel bridge near the suburb of Poissy. Divers will attempt to recover the body tomorrow.

Wall cut a flashy figure during his brief sojourn abroad and was well known at Montmartre, Montparnasse, and all resorts frequented by Americans of sporting proclivities. He lived at an expensive hotel in Paris until recently and drove a roadster. He flashed enormous rolls of greenbacks with careless gusto.

Deserted by Girl Friend.

He jumped into the limelight last summer when his sweetheart, the blond dancer, Cleone Verbeck, alias King, deserted him for Jean Barbet, who was arrested tonight. Wall filed a complaint that she had carried off $30,000 belonging to him. The charges were never substantiated.

Since then Wall dropped out of sight. His car and other belongings were sold. He was last seen at Deauville six weeks ago.

Yesterday a telephone lineman working near Triel found half of the burned pile of a man's clothing, including a derby hat, a blue suit, an overcoat of expensive material, and one patent leather shoe.

Later in the afternoon a forester discovered the wrecked automobile with the bloodstained cushions nearby. The Parish police prefecture was notified and the divisional commissar, Guillaume, accompanied by the inspector commissar, a homicide squad and finger print experts sped to the scene.

Finds Owner of Car.

Guillaume ordered a search for the owner of the car, which had the license plate torn off. The remnants of clothing were scanned for a clew. The car's owner was found. He reported the auto had been stolen last Monday.

This afternoon Guillaume established the identification of the victim. He detected on one of the charred buttons the name "Lidwall, 26 Rue Boissiere." The tailoring shop proprietor declared that the scrap of cloth taken from the heap was from a suit sold to Wall in June.

Guillaume, likewise, traced the shoe to a fashionable Paris shop. He found several similar models bought and charged by Wall.

Guillaume's greatest feat of detection, however, was the discovery that the shoe had been repaired with an American made rubber heel. On a bench he stopped by the American Express company's office, whose Negro bootblack is well known to the American colony. The Negro remembered having taken a pair of shoes from Wall a few months before. He said he sent them to an American shoe repair shop in Versailles.

Finally Jan Landsittini, a peasant, told police he saw two men drag a long, heavy package from an automobile into the river Monday night.

GUNMAN BOOZE SERVICE.

Louis Cattani, a driver for the General Beer Sales company, 2700 South Chicago avenue, was robbed of $2,625 yesterday by a gunman who held him up at 79th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

VINSON DEMANDS ACTUAL BUILDING OF TREATY NAVY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Construction of a treaty navy capable of protecting the United States during any emergency that might develop was demanded today by Chairman Carl Vinson [Dem., Ga.] of the house naval affairs committee in announcing that he would introduce such a program immediately after the holiday recess. He indicated his bill would follow closely the billion dollar program submitted to congress last year by Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations. The Pratt communication announced a naval committee inquiry as to the cost of building up to parity.

REP. CARL VINSON.

The Vinson announcement today threw the spotlight on the growing discord among senate and house leaders over the type of warship construction bill that should be acted upon this session.

Two Bills Introduced.

Thus far Chairman Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] and Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] have introduced authorization bills. The Hale bill is opposed by Vinson because it calls simply for an authorization of all ships needed for bringing the fleet up to the maximum tonnage limits permitted by the London treaty. The Britten bill is similar to the Hale measure except that it directs the "secretary of the navy to submit estimates to the bureau of the budget covering construction needed to build up to treaty levels."

While congressional leaders scrap over the type of bill to be introduced the White House maintains silence on the whole question of new naval construction.

Nonpartisan Duty.

"The duty of this committee," Mr. Vinson said today, "is a nonpartisan obligation. Politics have no place in our deliberations. The primary interest and responsibility of this committee is to initiate and support such legislation as will guarantee that the navy can and will function in an efficient manner in the hour of the country's need."

KIDNAPERS FREE MRS. DONNELLY; NO MONEY PAID

Rich Kansas City Woman Home Unharmed.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nell Donnelly, the millionaire dress manufacturer, tonight conferred with police in an effort to aid them in capturing the kidnapers who held her captive for 24 hours before her release early today. She was shown photographs of gangsters, but it was not announced whether she identified any of them.

Officers declared they would seek the death penalty for the kidnapers if they can be brought to trial. No ransom was paid, but it was pointed out the kidnapers' demand for $75,000 made them liable to the death penalty under Missouri law.

The kidnapers had threatened to blind Mrs. Donnelly and kill her Negro chauffeur, George Blair, unless the ransom was paid, but both were released unharmed.

Held in Shabby Retreat.

Mrs. Donnelly and Blair were held blindfolded in a shabby retreat, somewhere in Kansas within an hour's drive of Kansas City, from the time of the kidnaping early Wednesday night until they were released on Kansas avenue, in Kansas City, Kans., at 4 o'clock this morning.

In the early morning hours Mrs. Donnelly and Blair were led out of the hiding place to a motor car which bumped over country roads for perhaps forty-five minutes. They were released far west on the street and told by the leader there would be a car along soon to pick them up. They walked to the nearest lighted building, a small restaurant at 1135 Kansas avenue.

At about the same time the telephone in Chief Lewis M. Siegfried's office rang. He was told succinctly that the woman he had been looking for could be found on Kansas avenue, in Kansas City, Kas. A hurried trip through the central industrial district of that city and Mrs. Donnelly was under Chief Siegfried's protection.

Seized at Her Home.

The kidnaping took place at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the entrance to the driveway leading to the Donnelly home at 5235 Oak street. Blair, the chauffeur, had called at the Donnelly Garment company plant at Nineteenth and Walnut streets and had driven Mrs. Donnelly home.

When an attempt was made to place a sack over Mrs. Donnelly's head she screamed and fought her captors as the car, driven by the apparent leader, sped south to 54th street, west to Brookside boulevard, and south. Her lips were cut by the rough hand of the man who sought to stifle her screams.

Mrs. Donnelly said she gave up trying to escape when the car left brightly lighted Brookside boulevard and turned west on Huntington road. Later she and Blair were transferred to another car and taken to the small and isolated cottage where they were held, unharmed, until an hour before their release this morning.

Friends Send Messages.

Flowers and telegrams were arriving momentarily from friends in Kansas City and from widely scattered cities. But Mrs. Donnelly could not be disturbed with them. They were left for her to appreciate after she had recovered from her ordeal.

The prison house was an isolated cottage, into which filtered seemingly the noises of a countryside. Mrs. Donnelly believes it was in Kansas, possibly near Bonner Springs.

More than an hour was spent in driving to it, possibly over an indirect route. The trip, which had her liberation at its end, consumed thirty to forty-five minutes.

The gangster who took leadership among the three told Mrs. Donnelly that when she should be set free a second car would be along in fifteen or twenty minutes to take her home. He referred to a police car he knew would respond to the telephone call he had made, or was about to make, to police headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

Free, standing on a roadside, the pals of her captors' car picking up speed, Mrs. Donnelly jerked a towel from her head and saw the rear of a large, dark colored sedan speeding toward the Kansas avenue bridge and the Missouri side.

CORD OFFERS CUT RATE FOR ALL AIR MAIL BUSINESS

U.S. Calls on Other Lines to Reduce Charges.

The Cord corporation, which operates Century Air Lines out of Chicago and Century-Pacific, Inc., a system on the Pacific coast, has proposed to Postmaster General Brown that they carry all air mail in the United States at rates substantially lower than are being paid to the many individual operating lines.

This proposal was revealed last night in a statement of the postoffice department in Washington and in statements of representatives of the Cord corporation in Chicago. L. B. Manning, general manager of Century Air Lines, is returning to Chicago from Washington today after making the proposal.

Mail Operators Cut Is Needed.

As a result of the proposal, Mr. Manning called in operators of other lines and informed them that they must take a substantial cut in their mail pay. He suggested a ten per cent cut, in order to meet a deficit of $10,000 in the amount allotted for carrying the mails by air.

According to the postoffice statement, the Cord proposal was that they carry over all the daylight mail flights at 30 cents a hundred pounds per mile. Existing rates paid air mail operators range from a minimum of about 60 cents to a maximum of about $1.75 per 100 pounds per mile.

A committee of postoffice officials was appointed by the postmaster general to confer with representatives of the operating firms "in an effort to come to some agreement within the next few days in curtailing their allowances for carrying the mails. The object of pay is to become operative Jan. 1 next.

Cord Growth Rapid.

The Cord proposal follows an extremely rapid growth of the two Century air transport systems. Included in Cord subsidiaries are the Stinson aircraft corporation and the Lycoming motor corporation. The two systems are equipped with Stinson trimotor planes powered by Lycoming motors that sell for considerably less than the equipment used by other operators.

The Century Air Lines were established less than a year ago, following the establishment of the Ludington air line between Philadelphia, Washington, and New York, on which Curtiss planes were used. The Ludington line made a small net profit during the first year of operation, carrying 5,000 passengers. The Century lines have built their passenger traffic up to more than 50 per cent of all air passenger traffic in the country, it is said, also without the aid of air mail revenue.

INDICT SUSPECT IN FLOSSMOOR BANK HOLDUP

CRIMINAL COURT.

Abner Delorias, incest, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Ben Palmer and John Palmer, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge George Fred Bush.

Edward Deive, 25 years old, was indicted yesterday on a charge of participating in the robbery of the Flossmoor State bank of Flossmoor on Oct. 12 in which three men escaped with $3,800. His bond was set at $15,000. Deive was seized by Chicago Heights police on suspicion a few days ago. C. A. Jansen, real estate man, who was in the bank at the time of the holdup, identified Deive as one of the bandits. The three bandits in the robbery kidnaped Charles Willis, the cashier, and threw him out of their car 5 miles south of Flossmoor. Willis could not identify Deive as one of his abductors. Deive does not have a previous police record.

Women Forced to Curb in Suburb; Robbed of Gems

Three bandits in an automobile forced the car of Mrs. Edith Kohler, 37 years old, 1535 Fargo avenue, a milliner, and her sister, Mrs. Edna Brubacher, 42, of Detroit, to the curb at Chester street and Crawford avenue, Glen Center, last night. They took two diamond rings, a bracelet valued at $2,500, and a $450 fur coat from Mrs. Kohler and cash amounting to $50 from both. Mrs. Brubacher, wife of a Detroit city employé, saved three rings costing $3,000 by concealing them. She fainted after the robbery.

U. S. ARMY FLYER SETS NEW WORLD GLIDER RECORD

Soars 21½ Hours in a Homemade Machine.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Dec. 18.—Lieut. William A. Cocke of the army air corps established a world's record for endurance and distance for gliders over a closed course here today. He was competing in a national glider meet sponsored by the Honolulu chapter of the National Athletic association.

Cocke landed at 12:36 p. m. [5:06 p. m. Chicago time] after having been in the air 21 hours and 36 minutes. Cocke's glider was designed and built by himself. Officers tonight were computing the distance he had flown.

The previous glider record was held by Ferdinand Schuls of Germany, who in 1929 flew 265.32 miles over a closed course in 14 hours and 7 minutes.

When he landed Cocke was not aware of the death yesterday of Lieut. W. J. Scott, who was fatally injured when his glider crashed 500 feet shortly after taking off.

German Aviatrix Missing.

BASRA, Iraq, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Fraulein Beinhorn, German aviatrix, was reported missing today somewhere in Iraq or Persia. She left Bagdad yesterday and has not been heard from since. Fraulein Beinorn took off on a flight to the far east early this month in an attempt to win the Hindenburg cup for the best amateur flight of the year.

ON WAY TO SERVE 25 YEARS 12 HRS. AFTER ROBBERY

Newcastle, Ind., Dec. 18.—(AP)—Twelve hours after they held up and robbed the Mount Summit, Ind., bank of $2,000 John B. Siler, 26, of Dunkirk and Robert Stewart, 24, and Arthur Nelson, 24, both of Chicago, were en route to the Indiana state prison at Michigan City tonight to serve 25 year terms for bank banditry.

The three were arraigned tonight before Judge John H. Morris, pleaded guilty, and sentence was pronounced immediately. The three were started for the prison in charge of Deputy Sheriff Charles Zornes.

Officers said Siler recently was paroled from the Indiana reformatory, where he had served six years on a robbery charge. The two Chicago men denied ever having been in criminal difficulties before.

S. B. CHAPIN JR., BROKER, HURT BY AUTO IN GOTHAM

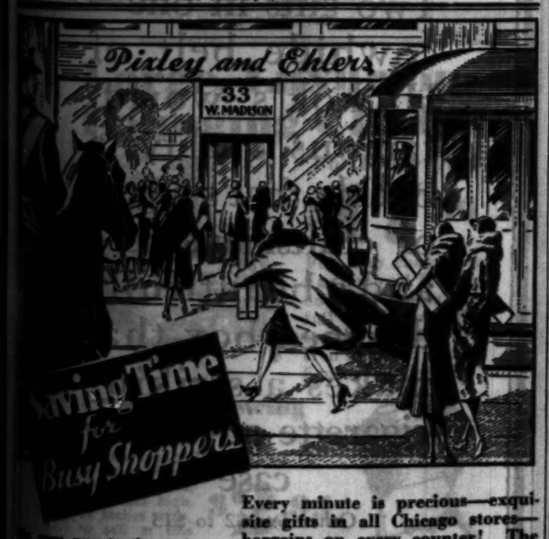

Simeon B. Chapin Jr., member of S. B. Chapin & Co., brokers, was reported to be in a serious condition last night at the Lenox Hill hospital, New York, where he was taken after he had been struck by an automobile at Park avenue and 74th street. He suffered a fractured skull, a compound fracture of the left leg, and other injuries.

Mr. Chapin is the son of Simeon B. Chapin of New York and Lake Geneva. His wife is the former Elsa Bartholomay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay of 1455 North State street. Their wedding was one of the principal social events in Chicago's autumn of 1926. Mr. Chapin is a member of the Union League club. He lives in Greenwich, Conn.

STATE TO GO ON WITHOUT JURY IN CANAL TRIAL

Northup Decides Course After Court Decision.

JOHN NORTHUP.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup announced yesterday that he would not seek a mistrial in the sanitary district case of T. J. Crowe and his seven co-defendants, on trial before Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court.

When the state supreme court on Thursday announced a decision that the state had a right to insist upon a jury trial if the right was waived by the defense, Prosecutor Northup said he would determine whether he should ask a mistrial at this time because the case is being tried before Judge Fisher, with two other judges in an advisory capacity.

Northup Studies Record.

In the beginning Northup had insisted that he wanted a jury to try the case, but after the defendants had waived the jury the court ordered the trial to proceed. With the decision by the Supreme court upholding the right of the state to demand a jury trial, Northup made a study of the record to determine whether he had made a formal demand for a jury.

Yesterday the prosecutor announced that he was satisfied with the progress being made in the trial and that he had decided to go ahead without interruption when the case is resumed Monday.

"There is also a possibility," Northup said, "that if we halted the trial at the time and went back over the same ground before a jury, the defendants might avail themselves of a plea of double jeopardy. I am not sure the point is a good one, but I see no good reason for risking it."

The prosecutor said he would be willing, if the defense insists, to stipulate that no formal demand for a jury trial had ever been made by the state.

Attachment Move Dropped.

Northup also announced that he had rescinded his earlier announcement that he would seek the issuance of writs of attachment to cause the arrest of 13 witnesses who had not been located by the prosecutor's investigators.

"Ten of these witnesses telephoned the state's attorney's office today to assure us they will be on hand when wanted and that they are not seeking to avoid testifying in the case," Northup said. "The other three witnesses, who are Morris Sabath, brother of Congressman Albert J. Sabath; John J. [Boss] McLaughlin, former legislator and gambler, and 'Prince Arthur' Quinn, had better notify us promptly of their intention to appear or they will feel the full pressure of the state's attorney's office."

Fail to Find Pay Roller.

Efforts to find Gus Spagat, sanitary district pay roller who is said to have obtained $12,000 on fake expense accounts, were unavailing yesterday.

Chief of Police Edwin Ahlstrom of Waukegan was served yesterday with a subpoena requiring his presence at the trial on Tuesday. He is alleged to have been one of those on the padded pay rolls.

DEATH ACCIDENT

VICTOR CHOJNICKI.

Victor Chojnicki, 42 years old, went into the candy store of his friend, John Kaitulis, at 1841 North Paulina street, to pay a friendly visit yesterday. Martin Tastore, 1623 North Irving avenue, a watchman, was discussing protection against bandits. "I was robbed recently," said Chojnicki, "and I'd like to get a revolver, but I don't know how to use one." Tastore pulled out his revolver, intending to extract the cartridges, and the piece was accidentally discharged. Chojnicki dropped to the floor with a bullet through the body. He died in the county hospital.

ALL CINCINNATI POLICE HUNT FOR KIDNAPED CHILD

Vanishes with Man Thought Demented.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Police were searching the city tonight for 6 year old Marion McLean and a prowling stranger who is believed to have kidnaped her.

The little girl was seen last evening near her home, walking hand in hand with a neighborhood loiterer who had attempted several times recently to lure small girls away with him.

On the theory that the child had been murdered by her captor and her body hidden, police tonight were scrutinizing all waste lots and sewer culverts.

Joseph McLean, father of the missing child, lives in Phoenix, Ariz. He was notified today by Phoenix police of the kidnaping.

Mrs. Mildred McLean, mother of the missing girl, said that her daughter had been allowed to go outside Thursday for the first time in a month. The child had been ill.

Julius Servissi, 18, was the last person known to have seen her. Servissi was washing his automobile in front of his home at 4:40 p. m. when he noticed a man walking back and forth along the street several times.

In a few minutes the McLean girl came along and talked to the stranger and the two walked away together. Other children in the neighborhood told police that the man answered the description of a foreigner, apparently demented, who had accosted them in the last few weeks.

PUTS $200,000 COUNTY FUNDS IN FAKE RUM SHIPS

Treasurer Tricked by Woman Vanishes.

New York, Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Charles J. West, whose popularity with the voters of Columbia county won him the Republican nomination and Democratic indorsement for county treasurer at the last election, was misled and inveigled into investing $200,000 of public funds in three rum ships that never sailed, according to detectives assigned to search for him. A warrant for his arrest has been issued in Columbia county.

West was born and reared in Hudson, on the east bank of the Hudson river, more than 100 miles up the river, and when he went to war he turned in a splendid record.

Everybody for West.

With his record, his personality, and his acquaintance through the country since schoolboy days, it wasn't difficult for him to line up constituents. Everybody was for him. He received the Republican nomination for the treasurer's job and Democrats indorsed him.

There was a bit of a celebration last November in Hudson as the returns came in on election night telling of West's reelection. The next day he appeared at a bank with City Cemetery association bonds and asked for a loan. The bank gave him $3,000 and promised to wire an additional $1,000 to the National Republican club in New York, where he expected to be for the next few days.

Persons at the club recall seeing him around the building from Nov. 4 until about 5 o'clock Nov. 6, when he entered a taxicab with an armful of bundles, remarking jokingly that "these are toys for the children and should save me a bedtime story tonight."

Wife Becomes Alarmed.

When he failed to return his wife became alarmed. His friends engaged private detectives and county officials found his books in bad shape and a shortage of $200,000.

Meanwhile, a private detective obtained this story. West liked night clubs. He liked to come to New York to play, drink, and dance. He didn't come often, and he didn't stage any grand carousals, but he came often enough to think he knew his way around.

In one club, it is said, he met a woman who was a foil for a gang of Broadway sharpers who had figured out a new and rather original racket. The woman described how huge profits could be made from financing rum ships. She induced him to invest in the venture.

Waits in Vain for Money.

West is said to have given the woman a substantial sum and waited to receive his slice of the melon. After several weeks of waiting word came that the ship had been captured.

That's the way it went. Three times the ship almost got through, but was captured. It cost West the better part of $200,000 to finance these ships that never sailed.

Cop Suspended After Shooting in Office

Policeman Fred Heller of the South State street station, charged with entering the office of the Big Four Advertising Carriers, 20 East 8th street, and firing several shots from his revolver while intoxicated, was suspended yesterday by Police Commissioner Allman pending an investigation of the charges.

SELFRIDGE TO EXPAND HIS BIG LONDON STORE AND TRIPLE PAY ROLL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 18.—In spite of admittedly poor business, as compared with that of other years, the H. Gordon Selfridge company today announced an eight year expansion program which will eventually triple the pay roll and will immediately increase the floor space by 30 per cent. The Selfridge company is one of the most important department stores in London.

H. GORDON SELFRIDGE.
[Harris & Ewing.]

Under this scheme, which H. Gordon Selfridge Sr., former Chicagoan, announced he hopes will be realized before 1940, the firm will begin demolition of old buildings in the rear of the store on Oxford street Monday.

The plan is to erect immediately a one story building with two or three basements, adding other floors and developing new property adjoining as the need arises. The immediate construction involves $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

SPREAD JOBS OUT, IS FEDERATION OF LABOR ADVICE

Sees Long Lane Ahead of Lean Times.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—The American Federation of Labor in its monthly business survey today summed up its conclusions regarding the business outlook with the statement that "unquestionably, recovery from this depression will be a long process." It stated that the nation must look ahead to at least a year of unemployment almost at present levels, with the average American family living on a smaller budget.

The labor bulletin urged the spreading out of all available work so that all workers would have part time employment.

"There is at present," it was said, "only enough work on our farms, factories, railroads and elsewhere to give 35 hours a week for all, if every one who wants to work is to have a job. Industry cannot keep its wage earner forces employed or maintain their buying power unless hours are reduced to a seven hour day and a five day week. Already an effort is being made to reduce hours to prevent unemployment, and many firms are coöperating. But the movement must be nation-wide before the maladjustment can be corrected.

"Unquestionably recovery from this depression will be a long process. We must look ahead to at least a year of unemployment almost at present levels.

"Unemployment funds cannot last; the adjustment of work hours is essential. Industrial activity will continue for some time from 20 to 30 per cent below 1929. The American people in general must live on a much smaller budget this year. Maintenance of wages is essential, and increases wherever possible to improve buying power."

CHRISTMAS BOX MASKS DIVORCE SUIT SUMMONS

So McLean Is Cited for Contempt.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, was cited for contempt of the District Supreme court today when it became known that he continued divorce proceedings in Latvia despite an injunction of the court restraining him from doing so.

That the publisher had disregarded the court's injunction became known after his estranged wife, Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, received a daintily wrapped Christmas package containing a summons to appear in a Latvian court within two months. The summons was signed by Bernhard Berent, a Latvian attorney, who claims to be acting for the publisher.

E. B. McLEAN.
[Acme Photo.]

The summons, according to Mrs. McLean's attorneys, was delivered at her residence by an unidentified taxicab driver. Efforts to locate the driver have thus far been unsuccessful, as have attempts to discover who gave him the package to deliver. The package, it was stated, was wrapped in tissue paper, with Christmas trees, reindeer, and Santa Claus for adornment.

Threatened with Prison.

In his order today Justice Wheat required McLean to show cause why he "should not be held for contempt and imprisoned" for violating the injunction.

The rift between the McLeans is of long standing, having resulted in numerous court actions in this country and in proceedings in Mexico and Latvia. Mrs. McLean has a suit for divorce pending in the District Supreme court as well as a suit asking that her husband be removed from the trusteeship of his father's estate and as publisher of the Post.

POLA NEGRI GAINING, PHYSICIAN SAYS, BUT NOT OUT OF DANGER

Santa Monica, Cal., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Pola Negri was reported as "slightly improved and responding to treatment" at Santa Monica hospital, where she is recuperating from an emergency operation for removal of her appendix and removal of an intestinal obstruction two days ago.

The actress began to rally after receiving a transfusion of blood yesterday. Her pulse was 108 this afternoon, her temperature 100.2, and her respiration 20.

Dr. Leo Madsen said that, although he was pleased with the improvement in Miss Negri's condition, she was not yet out of danger.

DUNCAN SISTERS TELL HOW MILLION HAS VANISHED

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 18.—(AP)—A $15,000 equity in a home and $3,000 in bonds are all the Duncan sisters, stage and screen actresses, have left of a fortune they say once amounted to $1,000,000.

The sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, appeared in Bankruptcy court to file a schedule of liabilities and assets with their petition of voluntary bankruptcy. They listed liabilities at $50,000.

Poor investments and unsecured loans to friends were blamed by the actresses for their troubles. They also said they lost money when they took their show, "Topsy and Eva," to London.

At present they are appearing at a Hollywood theater.

"We are getting good crowds. Maybe all the creditors come out to see how business is," Vivian told the court.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The British war department has decided not to include in its scheduled order any new 16 ton tanks in next year's estimates, according to reports today. The decision is not only in recognition of the need for stringent economies, but is also planned as a gesture before the opening of the February disarmament conference.

It is reported that the decision may also apply to light tanks. In that case the country's four tank battalions will need 50 to 60 light tanks. The British estimate the French tank forces at 25 battalions with 21 tanks to a company, as compared to England's 12 tanks to a company.

Another report in military circles today questions the utility of the fast two seater fighting planes. This craft has developed such a speed that it is impossible for the gunner in the rear cockpit to train his gun accurately because of the tremendous air pressure.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A VICIOUS TAX PROPOSAL.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi has earned the gratitude of the hard pressed taxpayers of the nation by his vigorous stand against the proposal of a retroactive income tax increase. The proposal to raise the income tax for 1931 is not only bad from the standpoint of its effect upon public morale, but it is bad from that of revenue. The injustice of such a retroactive exaction would be generally resented and its influence would be to increase psychological depression, the worst factor in our situation in this country. This reaction would be justified. Incomes have been universally and drastically reduced at the best and largely wiped out. The practical result is that income tax returns will be correspondingly diminished. But such taxpayers as have anything to be reached have had to meet their obligations, and, indeed, increasing demands upon their resources, while their means to meet them have been rapidly disappearing. Business and individual reserves have been severely depleted, while the struggle to meet conditions has intensified. To add an unexpected and increased tax cannot be justified by the small returns which it will yield, and the petty profit to the treasury will be many times offset by the demoralizing effect upon private and business affairs and upon public morale.

We hope Senator Harrison's protest will carry its deserved weight with congress and the country will be saved from this blunder.

BELLICOSE YOUTH IN CHINA.

One of the most unfortunate factors of the Chinese crisis is the violence and irrational demands of organized student bodies. Thousands of students, so called, are said to have come to the capital, Nanking, and are holding meetings demanding an aggressive policy toward Japan, and threatening government officials. Guards are placed about all the government buildings, and the former provisional president, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, has left by airplane for his home town, sending his wife by air to Shanghai.

Meantime the leaders of the secession government of Canton have reached Nanking, but they will be under pressure to strike a belligerent attitude and perhaps take military measures which promise no success against Japan, but will give its government further excuse for augmenting its forces in Manchuria and strengthening its grip there. The demands of the students are extremely foolish, and if yielded to will gravely injure China and not impossibly bring about a war involving other powers, including ourselves. The bellicose students seem to have no conception of the inadequacy of the Chinese armies, ill disciplined and ill equipped, to cope with one of the strongest, best equipped and directed armies in the world. It is easy to riot in Nanking, but fighting Japan without supplies, without efficient communications, and without armies highly disciplined and scientifically led is the worst of follies.

The government overthrown may have been guilty of graft or other misdeeds, as charged, and the group now taking over may be more patriotic and even more capable of government, though that is by no means certain or perhaps even probable. But it is certain that if the new government is disposed or forced by organized clamor to undertake a war or even a course of serious provocation, the consequences to China will be very unfortunate. Impassioned youth may be ready to die for China. It would be wiser to live for her. There is nothing so certain in the Chinese situation as that her vital need is peace, peace practically at any price, and yet this is what the Chinese students seem least willing to work for.

At this moment China is suffering famine and banditry. Her agriculture is disorganized, her few railroads almost destroyed, her credit gone, her treasury almost empty. That the rest of the world is in deep trouble only makes China's situation worse. The problems she must face in peace are difficult enough. If embroiled in futile and destructive war they cannot be solved, but are only too likely to pass beyond solution. There are in the United States organizations of Chinese students. If we may judge from the propaganda they are putting out, though it is a natural effort to get before the American public the grievances of the country in Manchuria, they are more preoccupied with those than with the worse evils of Chinese disorder and economic paralysis. They could serve their country best by using their influence with their fellows at home to demand peace and concentration upon the task of administrative and economic development. China needs no army, not to be beaten by Japan but to put down banditry. She needs capital, not to be wasted in a war foredoomed to failure, but in building up her industries and transportation and in restoring her credit. The Chinese people have great virtues, but the efforts of their leaders are now perverted from her vital needs. They can better afford to suffer foreign injustice than injustice to themselves. The former will soon cease when the latter is ended.

This counsel may be suspected of being in the interest of foreign exploitation. It is not. If the interest of the United States is a selfish interest, it is nevertheless an interest in Chinese peace and progress from which the United States would gain far more than from any projects of exploitation any of her citizens may cherish. The interest of the United States is in the prosperity of China, and this understanding is the basis of our policy. The United States would like to help China, not only because of the good feeling which really exists here toward the Chinese people but because our material interest is in her stability and prosperity. But revolutionary China is making it difficult if not impossible to help.

WHO LOST THE WAR?

Under the caption "Must We Continue to Pay for the War?" Charles Benedict in the Wall Street Journal makes the most effective summary of war costs to the United States we have seen. It is in graphic form which for lack of space we are unable to reproduce. But the figures are as follows:

Lives lost, 126,000. Expenditures, exclusive of all loans, $26,645,000,000.

Loans: U. S. private loans to Germany [1924-1931], $1,263,000,000 [long term]; $750,000,000 [short term]. From this sum and other foreign borrowings making a total of $4,046,000,000 Germany has paid in reparations $2,069,000,000 to Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, and other governments, not ours.

Of which there has been repaid to U. S.—zero.

In addition loans by the U. S. to other European nations were $9,850,000,000 plus interest of $2,554,000,000, or $12,704,000,000, to Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Poland, and others.

Of which there has been repaid to us $2,515,000.

Leaving the present cost of the war to the U. S. $38,837,000,000.

Upon this summary Mr. Benedict makes the following pungent comment:

"All talk of cancellation of war debts is irrelevant. The war debts will never be canceled. They can only be transferred from Europe to the United States.

"Our entrance into the war turned the tide against Germany. The treaty of Versailles divided the spoils—colonies and various other properties—among the victors. The United States sought nothing and gained nothing.

"We put Germany in the position of meeting the payments to the allies from cash which she obtained from private lenders in the United States.

"Thus, it would seem we have paid the war damages for Germany, as well. Now there is a growing insistence from abroad that reparations be scaled down or made secondary to private obligations—in fact, propaganda for an entire remission of the debts has been going on for many years.

"For her pains, for the unstinting sacrifice of men and money, the United States receives not even a friendly smile. The billions which we have since loaned for rehabilitating and industrializing Europe stand in jeopardy.

"When the curtain comes down on the final act will the United States taxpayers be obliged to shoulder the burden of cost from a war in which we have reaped nothing but economic difficulty? And will the American investor be forced to assume the obligations of that war's indemnities or rehabilitation costs, or both—willy-nilly?"

CONSERVATION.

The governor has appointed five well known sportsmen as an advisory committee to the state bureau of conservation. There is a certain irony in this proceeding. It is supposed to be in the interest of conservation, but every one of the new advisers is primarily interested in the shooting of birds. One member is described as one of Chicago's most ardent duck hunters. It is true sportsmen are interested in preserving game birds from methods of slaughter which would abolish them. Nevertheless their own interest is in shooting them.

The true conservation of bird life is a farmer's problem. It is the farmer who should realize the value of birds to agriculture and, though many farmers are ignorant of this value or heedless of their own interest in preservation, the best farming intelligence does not ignore it. It is a fact that every game bird from pheasant to quail is more valuable to the farmer alive on the farm than cooked for the table. There should be a broader conception of conservation than that of the hunter, whose point of view is naturally that of the killer and whose notion of conservation is limited to the protection of his sport. The state policy of conservation should have much broader scope.

Editorial of the Day

AFTER SIX WEEKS.

[The Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

After six weeks the general assembly took a rest over the week-end and contemplated the remarkable record of a hen pheasant law, some pauper relief, and appropriations for the expenses of the session. That is all that has been done.

The governor's tax conference program, which was behind the call for the special session, has come to nothing, and no other relief plan for Chicago or Cook county has been more talked about in cloakrooms and on the floor. On the whole, the legislature's hands seem paralyzed. The baton of leadership is buried in the knapsack of the flabby. There are some keen critics of what has gone on, but nobody has dared to step forth and assume the role of the Moses who will lead the legislature into the promised land where dwells a satisfied public.

On the whole, the session has been a rank failure. Perhaps this is not at all surprising. The legislators met in fear and trembling. They whisper hopefully among themselves at the sessions, hoping that they will not be required to do anything either to redistribute the tax burden, add to it, and cut it down. The present state of affairs is bad enough, but they are aware that anything else might be worse.

Illinoisans, particularly those residing in Cook county, are clamoring for relief. But so long as no specific relief plan can be found which will be accepted by all, none need be advanced beyond the proposal stage. That seems to be the attitude of most of the legislators.

Manifestly, tax reform cannot be accomplished by a timid and hesitant legislature. Unless there is made extremely evident the kind of spirit which assures the state of immediate action, the special session of the legislature will end in confusion, bitterness, and failure. The disturbed political situation is probably largely responsible for the fear to do anything, but it is even more likely that nobody wants to take responsibility because nobody knows how.

TULAREMIA.

A FELLOW countryman, commenting on the depression and the difficulty many will have in getting food this winter, and particularly referring to the rural districts, made the following prediction: "The folks who are going to have a hard time, but it's the rabbits that's going to suffer most."

The lack of money with which to buy meat is certain to cause a slaughter of rabbits and other edible wild animals and birds. As a rule, the meat from game animals is nutritious and thoroughly wholesome, but there are some exceptions.

Tularemia is a widespread disease. Originally it was thought to be limited to Utah and neighboring states. Then it was found to be present in California. Physicians in the U. S. public health service, who had learned about the disease in Utah, were able to recognize it in Washington, D. C. Physicians all over America now recognize this disease at times and in consequence it has been reported from every state in the country.

The ordinary cottontail rabbit is the agency through which it is spread. Of the very considerable number of cases reported from Illinois, 98.3 per cent were charged to cottontail rabbits. Practically all the cases occurred during the open season for rabbits. Those who are most frequently affected are hunters who kill rabbits and bring them in, market men who sell rabbits, butchers who skin and clean them, and cooks who prepare them. Eating a tularemia rabbit seems to be reasonably safe.

The hunter should not kill or handle a rabbit that is easily killed, or easily caught, or that does not try to get away, or that appears otherwise to be sick; or that, having been killed, appears otherwise to have been sick.

In addition to rabbits, the following game have been found to be affected with tularemia at times: Quail, squirrels, opossums, woodchucks, coyotes, muskrats, and rats. It is possible that other birds and animals spread the disease, but proof is lacking.

There is not much plague in America, but there is some. Such as we have now is limited to rodents, such as woodchucks, ground squirrels, prairi dogs, and their kinsmen. That undulant fever is spread by animals is well known. In certain parts of the country it is caused by drinking raw cow's milk; in others, by butchering hogs and handling hog meat. If it is spread by game animals the fact has not been established.

Two varieties of Rocky mountain spotted fever, one of which is not a Rocky mountain disease, are spread by ticks found on wild animals as well as on tame ones. A form of typhus fever is pretty certainly spread by some wild animals, but the proof is not final. One variety of tapeworm is spread by eating raw or poorly cooked fish, especially pike and pickerel.

CANNED FOODS.

H. E. G. writes: Do the average brands of canned grapefruit, tomato juice, and orange juice retain all the good qualities of the fresh fruit? It is stated that only ripe fruit is used in the above, while in many cases fully ripened fruit will not stand shipment for any distance.

REPLY.

The canned product is practically as good as the fresh. In some products, for instance, tomatoes, the canned product is thought to be better than that of the green vegetable market; in others the canned article is not equal to the fresh. Canning methods have improved greatly in recent years.

HALITOSIS.

E. N. writes:

1. Is it possible that large and decayed tonsils will cause halitosis? In this particular case the tonsils were lanced several years ago due to quinsy sore throat, and, naturally, that left several large cavities in the tonsils where little food particles lodge. Now, is it possible that the food particles in the tonsils can rot and become stagnant, thus causing halitosis?

2. What is the general cause of bad breath?

REPLY.

1. It is.

2. The most frequent cause lies in the lower digestive tract.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

DERIVATIVE CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—[Friend of the People.]—Is it possible for a foreign born child to become a citizen of the United States while still a minor? M. E. V.

The law provides that all children dwelling in the United States, under the age of 21 years, become citizens with the naturalization of the father, or, if the father be dead, upon the naturalization of the mother.

FRED J. SCHLOTTFELDT,
District Director United States Department of Labor.

FRIENDSHIP SOCIETY.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there any law of the state of Illinois prohibiting the organization and operation of a friendship society within the state confines if organized not for profit? C. E.

There is no such prohibition on the bare facts that you state.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DEPENDS ON DATE.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[Friend of the People.]—A girl is not an American citizen, having been born in a foreign country. Will her marriage to an American citizen make her a citizen, or will it be necessary for her to procure citizenship papers? J. F.

The marriage of a woman after Sept. 22, 1922, does not affect her citizenship status.

FRED J. SCHLOTTFELDT,
Dist. Dir., U. S. Department of Labor.

NO OLD AGE PENSION.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there an old age pension law in this state or in Chicago? 2. Is there a fund of any kind that could be drawn from by an old couple? My husband and myself have lived all our lives in the state and nearly thirty years in Chicago. He is unable to work because of illness and we are in need of funds to tide us over the winter. N. W.

1. No.

2. There are, of course, various forms of charitable relief. We suggest that you get in touch with the United Charities.

OUR DAILY ADVICE TO THE UNIVERSE.

It seems absolute FOLLY for Japan to continue its WAR out in Manchuria. The WORLD is so full of talk REGARDING moratoriums; reduction of WAR debts; beach pajamas; income taxes; the depression; light wines and BEER; payless teachers, POLICEMEN, and firemen; what the Paris style will be for NEXT SPRING; will so-and-so give us a CHRISTMAS present? Because, if they do, we ought to give them one; that really it isn't of the SLIGHTEST use for China and Japan to fight way out there in MANCHURIA. Really, NOBODY is going to pay the slightest attention to YOU and what's the use of having a WAR if the whole world is not LOOKING on.

So here, Japan and China, is the IDEA. The Republican CONVENTION is going to be in Chicago in June. It LOOKS as though it would not be very much more EXCITING than a Sunday school PICNIC out at Funk's Grove. You know what makes life INTERESTING is suspense. Well, there's no more SUSPENSE about that convention than there is in THROWING bricks into the lake to see if they will SINK. You know darned well they will sink. Anyhow, they ALWAYS have.

That's the TROUBLE about the convention. We KNOW just as well what will happen as though it had HAPPENED last week. The convention will VIEW with alarm and POINT with pride, CHERISH our sacred institutions, and nominate the CANDIDATES who are nominated right now and ADJOURN. There will be no FIGHT.

Now, then, JAPAN, and you, too, CHINA, here's the BIG idea. Bring your WAR to Chicago and fight one big BATTLE right HERE in the Stadium. BRING it here where the BOX OFFICE returns will be much BIGGER than you could POSSIBLY get in Manchuria. Fight your BATTLE in the Stadium, either ten rounds or to a finish, and have it OVER with. Fight it here where the COMMON PEOPLE may see and ENJOY it. WRITE to your congressman TODAY!

JAYHAWKER.

THE OTHER REPUBLICANS in congress are going to punish Mr. McFadden for saying what he did the other day about the President. They won't let him appoint any more postmasters, and some of them want to throw him right out of the party. Cheer up, Mr. McFadden; we have a snappy comeback all ready for you when they do that. You just look at 'em and smile and say, "Phooey, I've been thrown out of better parties than this." Oh, oh!

MR. McLEAN, the publisher, was cited in Washington yesterday for contempt of court for sending a Christmas present to his estranged wife. But, estranged or not, the point is, as you can tell the missus at Christmas, a man was haled into court for sending a Christmas present to his wife, and you didn't want to take any chances. It may not go so good, but it's worth trying.

AND, ANYHOW, nobody seems to have thought up a new kind of income tax yesterday. Which is, indeed, something to be exceedingly happy over. R. H. L.

THE STUDY OF HISTORY

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 19, 1915.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, and Mrs. Norman Galt, widow of a wealthy Washington jeweler, were married at 5:30 o'clock tonight at the residence of the bride in 20th street Fewer than 45 guests, members of the immediate families of the bride and the bridegroom, were present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev Herbert Scott Smith, who was a student under Dr Wilson at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., in 1888, and who is now rector of St. Margaret's Episcopal church, of which the bride is a communicant. The President and his bride left for Hot Springs, Va., on their honeymoon trip. The couple received wedding gifts of great value.

ATHENS.—French troops destroyed several miles of the Giegveli-Karasuli railway near the Serbo-Greek border in anticipation of a German invasion within a few days Heavy artillery has been moved forward from Saloniki and stationed on the heights near Sariguiol and Kilkis to resist the expected Teutonic advance. The Austrian offensive against the Montenegrins continues and more than 13,000 prisoners have been captured.

CHICAGO.—Miss Billie Burke has been engaged by THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE to be the star of its next moving picture serial. For a mere matter of $120,000 in cash, an automobile, unlimited dresses, two maids, a secretary, a chauffeur, transportation to and from distant points and all expenses Miss Burke has agreed to give thirty weeks of her time to the readers of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 19, 1901.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Rear Admiral Schley's exceptions to the findings of the court of inquiry were submitted to Secretary of the Navy Long. The exceptions read almost like an arraignment of the officers who made up the majority report. In addition to the protest against the majority finding permission was asked to reply orally to the objections of Sampson to the Dewey finding. The Sampson objections were to have been filed simultaneously with those of Schley, but it was learned that they would not be put in until tomorrow. Schley lists many reasons why the majority report should be set aside or amended, and states, among other things, that his own testimony, lasting over four days, has been ignored.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Extreme punishment will be visited upon anarchists if the measure prepared by Representative Ray of New York is adopted by congress. The bill makes an attempt on the life of the President, Vice President, or members of the cabinet a felony. If the President's life is taken the criminal will suffer the death penalty, and if injured in an attempt to assassinate him the assailant will be imprisoned for life. An attempt on the life of other executives is subject to imprisonment of not less than ten nor more than fifty years.

DECEMBER 19, 1881.

CHICAGO.—The restaurant attached to Chapin & Gore's liquor house on Monroe street was badly damaged by fire. The origin is a mystery, as there was no fire in the place, as it was closed on Sunday. It is believed to have been set by some maliciously inclined person.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Recommendation by the Republican members of the Massachusetts delegation that Judge Gray be appointed to the seat on the bench of the Supreme court of the United States made vacant by the death of Judge Clifford is expected to settle the matter of the appointment and that it will go to the senate today.

CHICAGO.—Seven years ago the Rev. W. E. King started out on the then almost vacant prairie a Methodist Episcopal mission. This was in the vicinity of 22d street and Blue Island avenue. Yesterday, as an outgrowth of the mission, the Lincoln Street Methodist Episcopal church was dedicated. Subscriptions wiped out its entire debt. Among the contributors were T. W. Harvey, Cyrus H. McCormick Jr., H. N. Higinbotham, and R. D. Fowler, each of whom contributed $250.

GUNS FOR HONEST MEN.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—In Mexico they once had a law where they tied up the hogs and turned the dogs loose, and that is precisely what happened in this country when we placed on our statute books a law making it a felony for a man to carry firearms as a protection to himself and his family.

If not another small firearm were manufactured for a hundred years, the professional thug would continue to be well provided for.

The thug is not a brave man: he wants 99 per cent the best of the argument. Today he can safely rob your automobile into the curb, murder your chauffeur, take you and your wife for a ride, rob and perhaps murder both of you, and steal your automobile.

Every law abiding citizen with a clean record, who can demonstrate his ability to handle firearms safely, should be licensed to carry them. A small charge should be made for a license, the number of the firearm registered, and the owner, if necessary, finger printed. Shooting galleries and out of door ranges, with competent instructors, should be established.

Give the honest man a fifty-fifty chance for his life and repeal this fool law at once. ED V. PRICE.

THE HEAD.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Another way for the surplus of cotton to be absorbed would be for the manufacturers of cotton thread to put back on the spools the hundred yards that has disappeared since the war. As cotton thread used to have 200 yards to each spool. During the war it was cut to 150 yards and recently to but 100 yards. It is advertised as a rare bargain at 37 cents per dozen spools, which is 74 cents for the old size spools—14 cents more than they ever retailed for before the war, when other cottons were selling at about the present price. How come?

DOES ANY ONE KNOW?

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Will some better student of language help me out of an annoying difficulty? I have a task which requires the names of the letters of the Latin alphabet. In English the letters are named: Ay-bee-see, etc. In German: Ah-bay-tsay. In Hebrew: Aleph-beth-gimmel. In Greek: Alpha-beta-gamma. What in Latin? What would be the Latin equivalent for Delta Sigma Rho? I will be profoundly grateful to the linguistic Good Samaritan. A STUDENT.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—Mr. David Darrah in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE says: "The Vatican is alone among the modern states not affected by the world economic crisis. Americans have guaranteed the budget."

He overlooked the District of Columbia. Money is flowing as freely as water in peak pay wages to the 60,000 or more employes in Washington, a $100,000,000 building project is being carried out in the capital city and millions have been generously handed and are now being paid out to the adjoining territory to beautify ravines in Maryland and build costly highways in Virginia. Millions, millions and millions going out, and always how can we get more to spend from the people, and never a successful plan to stop spending. The high wages being paid out to employes in Washington do them no good. The real estate men merely raise the prices of houses and rents and the stores add extra for being in Washington. Compare the cost of houses and goods in Washington and Baltimore.

If the people of the United States actually knew intimately how and where money is poured out in their capital, the knowledge would be dangerous. Washington produces nothing. It is your money that is being thrown away. Washington has become a rich man's city, not the people's capital.

WRITE TO THE BIOLOGICAL SURVEY.

Kenilworth, Ill., Dec. 14.—For several days I have noticed a catbird which has been hopping about my garden, coming to be fed. It seemed healthy, but I wondered why it had not flown south. I have never known a catbird to stay so late. This morning I found it in my bird table dead. It was not injured in any way, and had plenty of food, so it must have died from cold.

On its leg was a band numbered A223946. As I understand that these bands are all registered, I wondered when and where this bird was banded. Also whether these bands do not make it harder for a bird to fly.

THE FIVE CENT FARE.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—I have been wondering for some time why the Chicago Surface Lines do not cut the street car fare. My carfare is a big item with me and if it was cut to the five cent fare I would save in my own family of two adults about $125 per year.

SHERIDAN ROAD MAY HAVE NEW NAME AT STATUE

Lake View Avenue May Run Past Bronze.

"From Sheridan twenty miles away," wrote the poet, Thomas Buchanan Read, telling the course of the Union general's celebrated ride down Shenandoah valley to rally the spirit of his fighting troops. The rout was turned to victory and "Sheridan's ride" immortalized it in American history.

Mounted in bronze by Gutzon Borglum, Chicago's famous statue of the civil war epic commands the point where Sheridan road and Belmont avenue join in north Lincoln park. It was placed there to identify the prominent thoroughfare, but as a contemplated change of street names takes place, Sheridan may be "twenty miles away" from the boulevard that honors his memory.

Expect Action Tuesday.

A petition to rename Sheridan road from Melrose to the turn north of Grace street, so that Lake Shore drive can eventually extend from the new Wilson bridge at the river mouth on north to Devon avenue, rests now with the Lincoln park commission. A majority of property owners have signed, and there is little doubt that the board will ratify the action on Tuesday.

This left exit Sheridan road into two sections, one running west from Lake Shore drive just north of Grace street, while the other, the strip from Melrose to Belmont, will be isolated. Another petition is about to be circulated asking that property owners approve changing the name of the southern portion from Sheridan road to Lake View avenue.

Would Restore Statue.

If this is done Sheridan and his "white charger—a steed as black as the wings of night," runs the poem—will be marooned between Lake Shore drive and Lake View avenue, almost a mile south of the lane they were headed to graze.

Mary Sheridan, widow of the famous general, unveiled the massive bronze figure on July 17, 1924, at an assemblage of notables, including the late mayor, William E. Dever, and Sculptor Borglum, paid tribute to her husband.

Just what the park board would do if a petition for the second name change is presented has the board members in a quandary.

REFORM PROGRAM OF 'ALFALFA BILL' TRAILING AT POLLS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 18.—(AP)—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray's four initiative reform measures, submitted to the voters when the legislature refused to pass his program, trailed by from 45,000 to 65,000 votes late tonight on returns from 1,810 out of 2,346 precincts.

The vote on the measures:

The income tax proposal, which would increase levies on corporation and higher individual incomes: For, 124,436; against, 169,722.

The escheat bill, which would forfeit certain corporation lands to the state: For, 117,529; against, 174,204.

The budget officer amendment, which would increase authority of the governor over appropriations: For, 113,782; against, 178,664.

In the cotton country, farmers plowed through seas of mud on horseback to mark "yes" on the ballots of "Alfalfa Bill," whom some regard as a Moses fitted for the nation's presidency.

But the cities, apparently heeding the warning of Murray's foes that his so-called "firebells" program would scare capital to other states, turned their backs on the measures.

SHARP DROP IN BANK FAILURES IS NOTED BY U. S.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—(Special.)—Banking conditions in the United States showed definite improvement during November, with a reduction in the number of failures from 352 in October to 168 during the following month, the federal reserve board's monthly bulletin disclosed today.

In October the failures reached a new high record and involved deposits of $402,751,000, while in November deposits in the suspended banks totaled $87,409,000. Illinois had 139 bank failures during the first eleven months of this year, twelve coming in November.

The board anticipated there will be less pressure on the banks this month, which was characterized as a month when reserve bank credit usually increases in response to the seasonal demand for currency. This year, however, with the lower level of prices, it was anticipated that the demand may be expected to be smaller than in recent years, "particularly if the recent return flow of currency should persist during December and offset in part the seasonal increase in the demand for cash."

FOUR BANKS IN CITY, SUBURBS SHUT BY STATE

Are Closed at Request of Their Directors.

Four state banks in Cook county were closed by State Auditor Oscar Nelson yesterday at the requests of the boards of directors of the banks. They are the Ashland State bank, 1800 South Ashland avenue; Maywood State bank of Maywood, Park Ridge State bank of Park Ridge, and the Melrose Park State bank of Melrose Park.

The Ashland State bank had capital of $150,000, surplus of $22,500, and deposits of $230,000. The deposits had dwindled from $1,600,000 in June, 1930.

$1,100,100 Deposits in Maywood.

The Maywood State bank had capital of $300,000, surplus of $200,000, and deposits of $1,100,100 in comparison with deposits of $1,400,000 a year ago.

The Melrose Park State bank had capital of $200,000, surplus of $300,000, and deposits of $800,000 in comparison with deposits of $2,200,000 in June, 1930.

Two of the three banks in Benton Harbor, Mich., failed yesterday. They were the American National Bank and Trust company and the Benton Harbor State bank. It was announced that the banks were closed for reorganization.

BOYS' SECTION OF JUVENILE HOME IS QUARANTINED

Discovery of four cases of scarlet fever in the boys' quarters of the Juvenile home caused that portion of the home to be quarantined yesterday. A quarantine was also placed on the second floor of the girls' quarters, where one case was found.

The quarantine affects the 147 boys now in the institution and all of the 111 girls there. It also presented a problem to the police, since department regulations prohibit the keeping of juvenile prisoners overnight in police cells.

In previous years when the home was quarantined, however, one police station was set aside for juvenile prisoners alone, and the proper attendants detailed there from the home. It is probable that some such arrangement will be made in the present case. The quarantine runs until Dec. 28.

STORM AND FOG KILL 30; TRAIN AND 3 SHIPS WRECKED

LONDON, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Storms at sea and fog on land were the cause of a series of ship and train wrecks today in which at least 30 persons were believed to have perished.

Three shipwrecks were reported from the North sea and surrounding waters, with a probable loss of 25 lives. Near Dagenham, in Essex, a passenger train crashed into the rear of a freight train, killing at least two persons and injuring between 40 and 50.

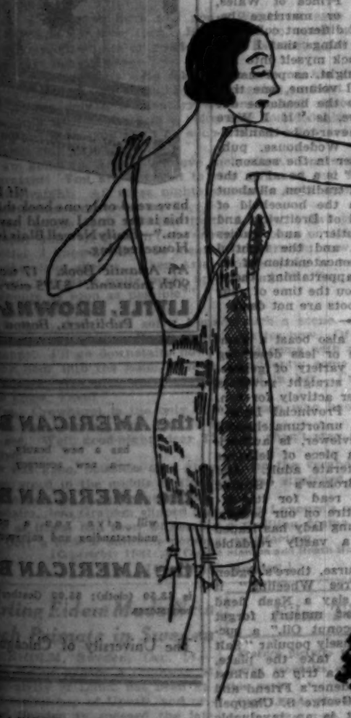

The two leading cars of the passenger train were overturned and many persons were caught in the wreckage.

The ships sunk were the hull trawler Girdleness and the trawler No. 782, lost off the Faroe islands, and the motor schooner Sirten, wrecked in the Kattegat.

LET'S MAKE THIS A GOOD OLD-FASHIONED CHRISTMAS

Culbertson and Partner Gain Big Lead

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Ely Culbertson and Theodore A. Lightner added 2,950 points last night to the lead of 4,965 they had previously enjoyed in their contract bridge match with Sidney Lenz and Oswald Jacoby. When play ended after nine rubbers early this morning they had a margin of 7,915 points—the greatest either side has held in the match.

The rubber standing of the rivals follows:

	Last night.	Previous.	Total.
Culbertson	6	28	34
Lenz	3	26	29

Only a vulnerable small slam made by Mr. Lenz prevented the match being turned into a rout as the Culbertson-Lightner combination consistently held good cards and made the most of them.

In the course of the night the Culbertson-Lightner pair held 91 aces and 92 kings, to 81 aces and 80 kings for their rivals.

The night's play began with the fifty-fifth rubber, when Culbertson and his partner were leading by 4,965 points. The progress of the play was as follows:

Rubber No.
55—4 hands, won by Culbertson; Culbertson now plus 5,465.
56—9 hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 5,105.
57—5 hands, won by Culbertson; Culbertson now plus 6,145.
58—7 hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 5,175.
59—3 hands, won by Lenz; Culbertson now plus 4,165.
60—3 hands, won by Culbertson; Culbertson now plus 5,695.
61—3 hands, won by Culbertson; Culbertson now plus 6,695.
62—2 hands, won by Culbertson; Culbertson now plus 6,945.

Prof. and Mrs. Einstein Reach Canal Zone; Going to Pasadena

COLON, Panama, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Albert Einstein and Frau Einstein were disappointed when the liner on which they are en route to California arrived here last night and they found no mail from their two children in Vienna waiting for them.

"They must have written too late," the professor said, as he stood with his hands full of other letters.

Frau Einstein explained they were going to Pasadena "because it's quiet there."

"If we went to San Francisco," she said, "so many universities would want my husband to lecture he would get no time to rest and have no time for his studies."

The professor declined to discuss disarmament, but said he believed the Manchurian conflict would lead to a world war.

His present work, he said, is progressing along the line of a new theory, but he did not know when it would be finished. "Science is never finished," he said.

They will sail tomorrow, through the canal.

Lincoln, Neb., Kiwanis Honors Gen. Pershing as Famous Neighbor

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 18.—(AP)—The Lincoln Kiwanis club presented its 1931 distinguished service medal to Gen. John J. Pershing at a luncheon here today.

E. B. Perry, president of the club, said Pershing was selected to receive the award in an effort to show appreciation for his unselfish service to the public.

"Gen. Pershing is a citizen of Nebraska and simply because his service has been to the nation and the world is no reason for his home club overlooking that service. What we do today is to show our friendship and appreciation for our neighbor rather than to attempt to add to his honors.

"He has had honors conferred upon him such as few men ever received. Nothing Kiwanis can confer upon him can be looked upon as greatly adding to these honors. However, we can show our appreciation for his unselfish service to the public."

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

If you should walk into a meeting of bridge experts or teachers one of the first questions you would be sure to hear would be, "Why are people so interested in demand or forcing bids when they only occur in but one per cent of all biddable hands?" To me the answer is very obvious. Why not ask why people are interested in kings and Lindberghs and Edisons? The question obviously answers itself. Simply because there are so few of them.

While I will agree that it is foolish to base an entire bidding system on hands that occur only one per cent of the time and to the detriment of far more frequent bids, game demand or forcing bids will continue to hold the interest of all bridge players.

Yesterday's play-a-problem was of this type. It was:

NORTH
♠—6,5,4
♥—10,9,8
♦—A,9,8,6,5

WEST
♠—7,3
♥—K,J,5,4,3,2
♦—3,2

EAST
♠—K,10,9
♥—A,Q,7,6
♦—K,Q,J,7
♣—4,3

SOUTH (Dealer)
♥—None
♦—10,4

South opened the bidding with a game demand bid of three spades. He held 4 probable tricks in spades and 5 probable tricks in clubs—a total of 9 probable tricks, which is the minimum requirement for a game demand bid in a major suit. West passed. North bid four spades. East, holding a lot of high card tricks and somewhat outraged at the high handed manner in which he had been shut out of the bidding, doubled. South passed. West thought of taking out his partner's double with a bid of five hearts, but being vulnerable (while North and South were not) he finally decided to let the double stand.

Under the Official system a partner's game demand bid may be raised with four small of that suit and nothing on the side or with three small (normal support) of the suit bid and one high card trick. If North had had 1½ high card tricks a diamond take-out would have been advisable, but a take-out that requires a bid of four over three requires 1½ rather than 1 high card trick.

West opened with the ♥ 4, dummy played the 8, East the A, and South trumped with the ♠ 2. South then led the ♣ 6, West taking the trick with the K. West returned the ♥ 3, which South trumped with the ♠ 8. South then led the ♣ 7, which dummy took with the 10. Dummy now led the ♠ 6, East played the 9, and South finessed the Q, which held. South then led the ♦ 4 to dummy's A, leading back dummy's ♠ 5. East played the 10 and South finessed the J. South now led the ♠ A, dropping East's K and clearing the suit. South then proceeded to cash in his ♣ A, Q, J, and 9, losing the last trick to East's ♦ K and making his bid and one extra.

May I commend to your attention South's clever building of the second entry to the dummy in order to lead the spades twice through East's K.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITARE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. S. H. K. etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Housewives Reveal Discontent, in Mid-West Questionnaire

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What on earth is the matter with the housewives of America? That portion of them, I mean, willing to admit aloud that their jobs are menial, unimportant; that they'd rather be doing something else?

From out of a mid-west city comes a report, based on a questionnaire spread among housewives, which indicates that some eighty-five per cent of the wives therein are unhappy in their domestic jobs. It is suspected that much of the discontent is due to the low status housewives themselves ascribe to their chosen profession. They don't dignify it as a profession. They make housekeeping drudgery, monotonous. It's—just nothing to waste valuable time on, they think.

As a career—and a privileged one, an executive one and, assuredly, a most valuable one from the human welfare standpoint, it should be desired and not so frequently made a despised form of service.

Looking down on housekeeping as a career shows a thoroughly and absolutely warped state of mind. The obligations attached to this career alone lift it to a dignity that should command respect. Yes, and the privileges are many, too, if they're only exerted. To run a home with charm, beauty and efficiency requires intelligence of no mean order. To cater to food wants alone may be an experience in dietetics; to buy well, a valuable economic practice. To set a table, serve food nicely is a talent of quality. To budget the income wisely, a prideful stroke of business. To say nothing of the height of importance to which a career rises on which the destiny of young lives largely depends.

It's so silly of women to look down upon their housekeeping and home making careers as commonplace. Only those who make a mess of the job should be allowed the privilege of belittling the work. They do belittle its importance. But so would they belittle any other line of work they adopted and put as little pride of labor into.

It isn't, however, that women in their sober moments aren't perfectly aware of the value of their housekeeping careers. They simply let themselves be clouded mentally by the fictitious glamor of work outside the home. That glamor, so far as the great percentage of working women is concerned, is just plain apple-sauce.

There's mighty little glamor attached to the workaday life of the average female employed outside the home. She just barks loudly to keep up courage until such a day as she'll have a chance at the domestic wheel. If it's envy of the working girl that makes the housewife unhappy, shame on her for her shortsightedness, I say, and behave herself!

Wise Parents Keep Santa Mysterious, Cloaked in Glamor

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

As Christmas draws near I'm often asked in letters what I think of this and what I would do about that, in connection with the Santa Claus myth. And at various times in this column I've answered those questions. But there's one question I've never answered fully—one opinion I've never expressed definitely. However, I'm going to do so today.

Do you remember the holidays of your childhood very clearly? Do you remember those days before Christmas when your head was filled with visions of Santa Claus and his workmen, in a warm, cozy, but snow-covered work shop at the North Pole? And the nights in bed, when after the lights were out, visions used to dance through your head as you dropped off to sleep—ecstatic visions of crisp, dark, starred skies, of tiny prancing reindeer, of a fur robed sleigh, of magical, musical, never-heard bells, and a magical little, white-bearded, red-coated, never-seen figure? Do you remember the delight and the glamor of it all?

Now, the Santa Claus idea is, after all, a myth, a legend, a fairy tale—call it what you will. And a fairy tale, it seems to me, isn't a fairy tale without mystery and glamor. So I personally, think it destroys much of the glamor of Santa if children are told that every man they see in December, who wears a red coat and a white beard, is Santa Claus.

There are many Santa Clauses standing on street corners, tall and thin, young and old, collecting money for the needy. There are one and sometimes two in every department store and in some toy stores. And others are scattered here and there around the landscape. Some are serious, some are solemn, some are uninterested, while a few are jolly and sympathetic.

On the whole, they're not very glamorous and they don't fill in the outlines of the picture we try to make of Santa Claus. I think it's a mistake to act as though they were the mysterious, glamorous friend of children.

Then, what shall you say? Oh, whatever you please. Perhaps that they're only men dressed up as Santa. Or if that hurts you, that they're Santa Claus' helpers—for Santa Claus himself is never seen. But not that they are the little old Saint himself. He, I think, should be kept just out of sight behind the lovely fairy veil of mystery and sparkling glamor.

Honor Boy Scout Plans to Enter Naval Academy

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 18.—(AP)—The honor Boy Scout of the United States plans to enter the naval academy next year. He is Henry A. Arnold of Chewelah, a suburb of Spokane, Wash. At present he is preparing for admission to the academy at a school near here. In 1930 Arnold won the annual award of the Veterans of Foreign Wars as being the member of the Boy Scouts who had done most for the organization from a national standpoint.

Lace Trimmed Satin Frock Dear to Fashion

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—How many years has it been since the belle of the ball wore a satin frock trimmed with lace? There are no belles, any more. They are a memory of the romantic past, but the lace trimmed satin frock is just as lively and fashionable this winter as it was in the Naughty Nineties. It is resurrected out of the past to become the latest fashion in this season when revived modes are the rage.

The satin frock, bedecked with frivolous laces, comes also in a revived color scheme—red satin and black lace. It is not only red satin, dears, but wine red satin which our mothers adored and found so stylish, and it is trimmed with real Chantilly lace.

The Irene Dana dress shown in the sketch today has this color scheme, and the fabric and lace combination Paris finds so charming for midwinter dances and dinners. The bodice of this frock is a simple, straight satin bodice with a square neckline in front and a deep V in back, trimmed with a bertha of black Chantilly lace that falls below the waistline in back.

The skirt has a full length satin panel at the front and back, and the sides are tucked from a hip yoke to a depth of about eight inches, from which point the tucks are released so the skirt is very full and is trimmed with three bands of black Chantilly lace.

BOOKS

Depicts Show of '20s Decade Under Big Tent

With Fads, Menaces and History as Cast.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Only Yesterday," by Frederick Lewis Allen. [Harpers.]

"AN informal history of the nineteen-twenties" is the subtitle of Mr. Allen's "Only Yesterday." Neither the title nor the subtitle, in their modesty, tell the reader what a perfectly grand piece of historical record and synthetic journalism the book is.

The author tells the story of the ten years from 1919 to 1929—a period which most of the possible readers of the book can remember distinctly, and which, therefore, is material which could cause readers to rend their hair with annoyance if it were used with inaccuracy or looked at with too glimmerish an eye.

Mr. Allen, it seems to me, has an attitude toward his material and a style in presenting it which are intriguingly characteristic of the period in which he has written the book—today. The book, therefore, is historically interesting for its external as well as its internal evidences. Only today could "Only Yesterday" have been written.

Mr. Allen sees the decade which ended two years ago with the eyes of an interested participant, a keen observer, a skillful researcher, but also with the eyes of wisdom. He is amused by its foibles, alive to its ironies, sharp in his judgment of the causes of both, but wise enough to offer his findings as so much raw material gathered at the source, from which time—and history—may make a different tale, and not as the final adjudication of a period.

That is why I called the book superb synthetic journalism. What Mr. Allen has done is to codify the written records and statistics with the unrecorded emotional memories of the period and to offer to his public a synthetic record of importance. I use the word synthetic in its scientific definition of "combining separate elements into a new form," rather than in the popular one of "artificially constructed." In an interesting fashion Mr. Allen has combined the separate elements of recorded but uncollated contemporary history into the new form of a popular panorama.

The author has succeeded in writing a popular contemporary history in the style of his day, with skepticism and honesty—skepticism toward the clichés of the period and honesty in his own judgment and fairness towards the judgment of others. We have emerged from a period of "shock" in literature.

As Mr. Allen shows amusingly in his chapter on "The New Morals," the whole business of the short skirts, of the younger generation going to the dogs, drinking by ma as well as pa, conversation from the smoking car, free sex for all, and assorted warps and woofs of the recent moral and social fabric is a piece together. The popular literature of the period was woven of the same raw materials. Many novels dealt with sex, plays were often psychopathic, biographies masqueraded shock under the head of "debunking." But all those things were evidence of a struggle for freedom and its motto was, "Well, at any rate, we're honest about life."

Honesty, minus its passion for shocking, has emerged from the mêlée. Nowadays, in books, authors do face life with a little less prejudiced eye. Mr. Allen skillfully evidences that fact in his own writing. Honesty has at times a shocking quality which mere effort to cause apoplexy in a reader never could have. This author lets the statements of facts do his jolting of the reader's mentality for him.

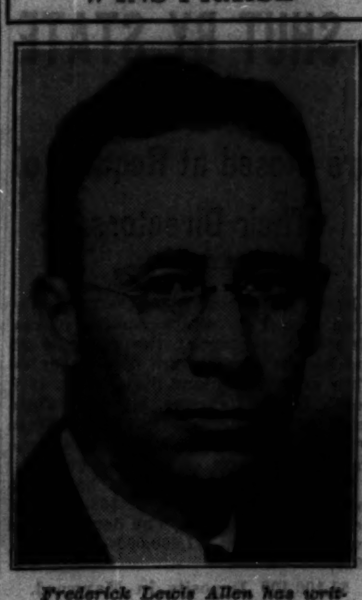

We were pretty goofy, those ten years; that's evident from his recordings. We were swayed by fads, whims, the victims of ballyhoo, scuttling like rabbits from imaginary menaces, but suddenly in crises standing up to real ones. We were fooled by prosperity and then fooled by the bursting of its bubble. We lost our manners, made heroic efforts to lose our morals, but achieved something nearer a new sanity. In a word, we were the same old so-called human race, as B. L. T. used to say.

We tried to be hard boiled, but, as Mr. Allen says, "it takes longer to hard boil a man or a woman than an egg."

There isn't a phase of national life during those ten years that the author misses. "Gone but not forgotten," this volume might bear as a subtitle, and its greatest value lies in the fact that it records so many of the little things that get forgotten, the quips of dress and manners, and frills and fancies, as well as the large historical issues of the period.

"Only Yesterday" is my favorite book of the month—if that means anything to you. It was chosen by the Book of the Month club jury as theirs.

WINS PRAISE

Try Laughing Therapy, Says Cuppy to Glum

He Reviews Efforts of the Gloom Chasers.

BY WILL CUPPY.

[Author of "How to Tell Your Friends from the Apes" (Liveright).]

"TO tell you the truth, Will——" said a rather sober sided gentleman to me only yesterday, as the crow flies—sober sided but fairly bright, at that, I had always considered him [in fact, I had just been telling him that I thought he really understood]—"to tell you the truth, Will," he said, "I haven't much patience with humorous books in times like these." And maybe I didn't give him a look.

WILL CUPPY.

Now you know and I know that a person who would make such a crack ought to be left to stew in his own juice; but, as I was saying, I gave him a look and a little heartfelt advice. The truth is, and I told him so, that the state of the stock market has little or nothing to do with the always beneficent effects of fun upon the consumer. Moreover, it takes two to make a joke, and this guy would be running down humorous books even if he were rolling in wealth. In his case the poor hard driven humorist has nothing to work on, broke or not broke.

"Look here, Pete," said I, with a pardonable rush of owlishness, "don't tell me that humorists don't know about hard times. For the humorist it is always hard times, so to speak. That is what he writes about, that is almost all there is to it. And that is why humor is said to have a decided therapeutic value for the sad citizens of this our vale of tears."

This was not becoming of me, since I've just published an allegedly funny book myself, but I was forced to it. Besides, Lord knows I wasn't thinking of myself [calling myself a humorist, indeed!]. I was thinking of Frank Sullivan and Corey Ford and Ogden Nash and Donald Ogden Stewart and P. G. Wodehouse and Isabel Paterson and Mary Rose Himler and such. If I were that kind of an egoist I'd have started this article by begging all and sundry to rush to the bookstores and buy copies of "How to Tell Your Friends from the Apes" by Will Cuppy, a comic natural history just issued by Horace Liveright at only a dollar seventy-five, a slick price that ought to prove popular with the Christmas shoppers—in fact, the ideal Yuletide gift! That's not the way I go about things.

No, what I say is, rush to the bookshop and purchase "Broccoli and Old Lace," a priceless collection of fun by Frank Sullivan, much of which has appeared in that invaluable organ, the New Yorker.

Frank Sullivan's tome needs no recommendation from humbler scribes. If it doesn't get over by the mere fact that Frank Sullivan wrote it, something is radically wrong with modern civilization, so-called. I shall merely mention that he takes up the ravings of postcard addicts, love and life in the French foreign legion, the panic of '07, the weather, costume balls, the 985,673 Girls Who Have Danced With the Prince of Wales, "miscevarsitation, or marriage between adherents of different colleges," and a lot of other things that I shall discover when I tuck myself into bed with it this very night, as per usual.

Another essential volume, one that will positively take the headache out of New Year's eve, is "If I Were You" by the never-to-be-thankful-enough-for P. G. Wodehouse, published a little earlier in the season.

"If I Were You" is a novel on the great Wodehousean tradition, all about amazing events in the household of Anthony, fifth earl of Droitwich, and Slingsby, the butler, and babies changed at birth, and the rightful heir, and such a concatenation of astonishing events appertaining thereunto as will give you the time of your young life if the roots are not dead.

The season may also boast a number of other more or less deserving funny books in a variety of genres. For instance, the straight novelists have gone in rather actively for fun. "The Diary of a Provincial Lady" by E. M. Delafield, unfortunately still unread by this reviewer, is authoritatively rated as a piece of delicious humor for the literate adult. And Clare Boothe Brokaw's "Stuffed Shirts" must be read for its extremely cutting satire on our betters, the rich. This young lady has leaped into fame with a vastly readable book.

In poetry, of course, there's Ogden Nash, whose "Free Wheeling" it would practically slay a Nash fiend to miss—you just mustn't forget Corey Ford's "Coconut Oil," a successor to the immensely popular "Salt Water Taffy," will take the place, and much better, of a trip to darkest Africa. "The Gardener's Friend and Other Pests" by George S. Chappell and Ridgely Hunt is an invaluable handbook on aspidistras and assorted blooms. Moreover, how about George Ade's mellow venture into the back room with "The Old Time Saloon"?

Still, maybe what you need is boners. If so, you can procure "Still More Boners," offered as answers to examination questions by the rising young schoolkids of our nation, but actually, I fear, thought up by their elders. When they are good, they are very good. But to my mind nothing can ever take the place of the inspired outgiving of some anonymous infant in "English as She Is Taught," that good old Mark Twain collection: "To find the number of square feet in a room you multiply the room by the number of the feet. The product is the result."

The Bride's Boat

By Coralie Stanton and Heath Hosken

SYNOPSIS.

Kit Lenoure, who had worked four years in a London family hotel, accepts a post in the Grand Africa hotel, Soydoret, Kenya. Theo Sable had gone there two years before when Kit had broken her engagement to him. But Kit still wanted him more than anything in the world. She sails on the "Bride's Boat." Jess North, her cabin mate, is going out to be married. Lal Crowhurst, the biggest landowner about Soydoret, and a most attractive bachelor, is on the boat. He is attentive to Kit. Jess tells Kit the gossip she hears about "the widow who owns him." Soydoret proves to be a paradise with many serpents and terrible powers of demoralization to weak natures. Jess is married on her arrival to Noel Graham, who manages Crowhurst's coffee plantations. Kit learns that Theo has taken up big game hunting. Crowhurst shows her through his estate, "Boon Fields." She meets the widow, Ariel Grieve, who lives nearby. Theo Sable arrives in Soydoret, with a hunting party. They are both overjoyed to have found each other again. But there are unexplainable changes in Theo that Kit can't understand. Ariel Grieve also has her tentacles secretly around Theo Sable. A dance and entertainment to wind up the season in Soydoret is given at the hotel.

INSTALLMENT XXX.

MORE FOOD FOR SCANDAL.

Jess had serious thoughts of tackling Crowhurst on the subject of Noel's salary. They really couldn't live on it: not properly. If only she could find some way of putting it so that it didn't look quite so brazen. Perhaps she wouldn't have the courage tonight. Anyhow, she wasn't going to spoil the evening.

How nice Kit's room was! That girl was awfully clever in some ways. Frightfully neat, the room, as well as pretty. Slightly old maidish! O, it was wonderful to be married to Noel! If only they had more money!

She sighed, as she fished in Kit's workbasket, regarding herself in the mirror at the same time, her pretty, round, creamy face, that was just a little fuller, and her golden eyes that smouldered with new secrets, and her ripe red, moist mouth. She looked jolly well, she thought.

The windows of Kit's room were wide open on to her private veranda, in each corner of which stood a large pot of growing tobacco plant, sending out its sharp, hot scent. Jess sniffed it, and went and stood in the window while she plied her needle.

After a few moments she heard voices underneath. A man's voice and a woman's. She stopped sewing, and listened, her needle poised in the air. Then she tiptoed across the room and switched off the light.

It was Theo Sable and Ariel Grieve, talking.

"I must talk to you alone," she had told him in a voice that brooked no refusal. "I must. Where is your room—on the main veranda?"

"Yes."

"Let's go up there! The outside staircase is round the corner. Look, there's nobody there! Come on!"

"Ariel, is it safe?" he asked unhappily.

"Of course, it is!" She was round the corner of the building and up the wooden stairs in a moment. He had to go after her, to lead the way to his room, which was a corner one, looking on to the courtyard and outbuildings, and immediately under Kit Lenoure's.

They stood in darkness just inside the window. She was clinging to his side. There was nobody in any of the other rooms. In the gloom she was a gray wraith, the blue black eyes burning with her devastating passion for the young man.

"Theo, I can't bear to see you with all those other people! I simply can't. Darling, this is what I want to say—don't let's pretend any longer. I can't live without you, Theo. I am free now. We can go away somewhere and be all by our two selves—and be happy. Theo, what do you say? Don't you feel just as I do, beloved? Just now, when Lal introduced you to me, I thought I would die. I can't act or play a game, Theo. I thought I could. But I love you too much!"

From below came the music of Crowhurst's jazz band—that implacable, relentless, nerve shattering music of Africa. Though it was playing an ordinary dance tune, still it was filled with the dark powers and the terrible spirits of all Africa.

Neither of them guessed that, up above, a young woman was leaning over the veranda rail, absorbed, listening with all her ears, oblivious of her dance with Crowhurst and of everything else.

"Darling, shall we go tomorrow?" Ariel whispered.

"But, Ariel, you forget that I am booked for this trip to Lake Rudolf," he said. "I can't let these men down. Besides, I must earn some money. I must do some work. I can't go on loafing——"

"Theo!" The woman's voice was throbbing with true anguish. She was abandoned entirely to her devouring desire. "You can call living with me—loafing! When it is my life, my happiness—my peace of mind, after all the misery I have been through! And I have loved you through it all—and only you! Don't stop to think about these people! Come with me! What do you owe them?"

She drew closer to him, the whiff of violets and the wraithlike body clinging to him abjectly.

However, conscience was making, not a coward, but a brave man of Theo Sable. Probably because conscience went hand in hand with inclination. He would not keep up the pretense any longer. It wasn't fair. Suddenly, with pulserizing effect, he threw down his hand.

"Ariel, I must tell you. It was wrong of me not to tell you before. I must work hard and earn money now more than ever, because I have a real reason for doing it. I am engaged to be married to Kit Lenoure."

A terrible pause, and then her voice hissed through the darkness: "Are you mad, Theo?"

"No. I ought to have told you. We knew each other long ago, in London. We fell in love then. But—I had to come back to Africa. And then she came out—quite by accident. We had lost sight of each other. But when we met again, we——"

He stopped abruptly. He felt Ariel's grip on his arm relax. She was sinking to the floor. He thought she was going to faint.

But it was only a momentary weakness, and almost at once she was battering him with protests in a voice that sounded almost insane.

"You are mad—you can't do such a thing! You are bound to me. You can't marry this girl!"

"I am going to, Ariel. We love each other. One must be straight."

"Straight! You are engaged to this girl, and you never tell me! You call that straight! All these nights you have been coming to me at Snow Tops, pretending you loved me!"

"Ariel, please don't talk like that! I know I owe you so much. I can never repay you. It wouldn't do any good to go on lying to you. I am a rotter, I know. But I do mean to go straight now."

Another long silence. Then Ariel Grieve spoke in her usual light voice. "Theo, you have quite made up your mind? You are going to marry Kit Lenoure as soon as possible?"

"Yes, Ariel."

"All right, dear. I'm sorry I made such a scene. I was a little mad. You might have told me. But it doesn't matter now. Of course, I want you to be happy. I'll go downstairs now. Don't come with me! You go out by your own door into the hotel. There is evidently some great charm about Kit Lenoure. All men seem so interested in her. I'm sure Lal is, too. Does he know, Theo?"

"Yes. Crowhurst is the only other person who knows, Ariel. Kit told him. He has been so very kind to her."

"I see. Well, good-night, dear Theo! I shan't stay much longer. I am very tired."

She was gone, noiseless as a ghost, along the veranda.

Theo stood in the middle of the room and stretched out his long, young arms in a gesture of supreme relief.

Upstairs, Jess Graham slipped out of Kit Lenoure's room, with a look on her face as if she had been witnessing a thrilling drama on the stage. And beyond that, a look of supreme personal satisfaction.

"Private Lives" Good Comedy of Newlyweds

"The Secret Witness" Is Murder Mystery.

By Mae Tinee.

Good morning!

Conjure for yourselves the following vision:

Two pair of honeymooners landing in adjoining suites of a romantically situated hotel. Each husband has been married before—to the wife of the other. One wife and one husband—never having fallen out of love—decide that the scheduled new honeymoons cannot go on, but that they, who had once been man and wife, must start off on their second one together—leaving behind the other husband and wife, who also had at one time taken marriage vows together.

Complicated, isn't it? However, you can work it out, if you really put your minds to it. If you can't—just picture Miss Norma Shearer and Mr. Robert Montgomery who, when married to each other, frantically fought like cat and dog, dashing off together, because, having met again, they can't possibly imagine a life apart.

They decide that never, never more will they quarrel! Should, by any chance, an argument start, one or the other will say, "Solomon Isaac!" and, automatically, all conversation will stop for two minutes.

Well, Solomon Isaac is good as far as he goes, but—with a pair of hot-tempered eccentrics like Amanda and Elyot—it's not such a great distance.

I would like to tell you all about that happens in the little Alpine chalet that they make their refuge, but I won't. You'll likely laugh yourselves sick over a certain breakfast for four that occurs after such a night, my dears, SUCH a night! . . . ! The picture's ending will most certainly meet with your approval.

Miss Shearer and Mr. Montgomery give spicy performances. So much so, indeed, that, at times, you feel embarrassedly like a Peeping Tom and wish that somebdy would pull down a curtain.

The picture is talky, but most of the dialogue is interesting. Scenery, sets and costumes are lovely.

"THE SECRET WITNESS."

The action revolves about the death of the wealthy and conscienceless Mr. Folsom, who comes to his end suddenly and under strange circumstances in his penthouse atop a fashionable apartment hotel. All in the cast, including a pet ape, property of the deceased, are at one time or another under suspicion. The solution is much like that in one of Mr. Van Dyne's novels—I won't tell you which one.

Acting and direction are commendable throughout, and comedy relief is provided by conversations of the hotel's switchboard operator with her boy friend, Elmer. Zasu Pitts, in this rôle, gives an amusingly Zasu-Pittsic characterization.

See you tomorrow!

P. S. Also on the Castle's screen is a short number that will interest both grownups and children. Jackie Cooper gives a Christmas party. It is originally intended to be just for his ball team, but the team immediately grows into an army and it's necessary to hire a hall—in other words, have Miss Norma Shearer intercede with studio heads for the use of one of the M-G-M studios. Here the party and feast occur and the children are dined and entertained by Marie Dressler, Clark Gable, Polly Moran, Anita Page, Ramon Novarro, and a bevy of other stars. Such a lot of fun and turkey! Boy!

Crowd Attends U. of I. Annual Prom; Girl from Chicago Crowned

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Nearly 1,000 couples participated in the annual junior prom—the outstanding social event of the school year which was held at the University of Illinois tonight. The grand march was led in three columns. The first was headed by H. M. Adams, Pontiac, Ill., president of the class, and his guest, Miss Betty Belch of Bloomington, Ill.; the second by Lee H. Pray, Chula Vista, Cal., co-chairman, and his guest, Miss Alice Kircher of St. Louis, Mo.; the third by Robert A. Nelson, 4957 Sunnyside avenue, Chicago, co-chairman, and his guest, Miss Eleanor T. Irland, 807 North Hayes avenue, Oak Park, Ill.

Miss Dorsey Connors, 162 East Ohio street, Chicago, was announced as the queen of the prom and crowned at 11 o'clock. The identity of the queen, chosen by vote of purchasers of tickets to the event, was kept secret until the coronation ceremonies tonight. Miss Connors won over Miss Gertrude Barber of Joliet, Ill., who tied for the honor in the first election held several weeks ago.

Children of the Thirty-seventh ward regular Republican organization will attend a Christmas party on Wednesday afternoon at the organization headquarter, 458-60 North Parkside avenue. All children of the ward will be welcome, and in addition to a Christmas tree, according to Francis A. Horrigan, director of the organization, each child will be given a gift.

"No Applause as 'Parsifal' Is Sung," Opera Director Asks

When "Parsifal," the sacred opera of Richard Wagner, is presented tomorrow afternoon at the Chicago Civic Opera house the audience will be asked not to applaud during the acts. All applause will be given at the lowering of the curtain at the end of each of the three acts, in keeping with the custom in Germany, it has been announced.

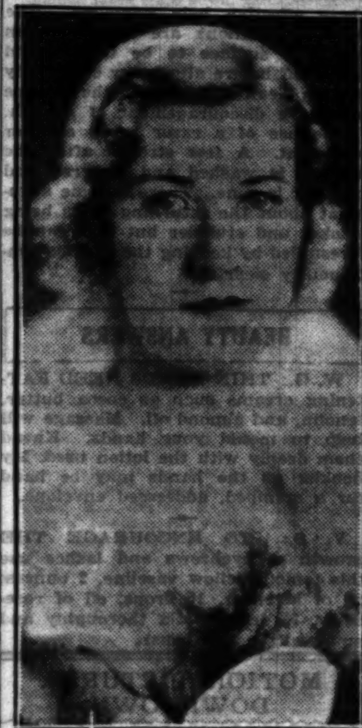

The announcement was made by Herbert Witherspoon, artistic director for the opera company, and Egon Pollak, conductor of the opera. The audience has also been asked to be in the house and seated by 2 o'clock.

Silence during the overture and acts of "Parsifal" has been requested, it was explained, because of the high spiritual note of the opera. "Parsifal" was the last of Wagner's operas, and he witnessed it for the first time seven months before his death.

Belgian Royalty Cancels Projected Trip to Japan

BRUSSELS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—The duke and duchess of Brabant today canceled a visit to Japan which was planned for next spring. It was understood the visit was canceled because of the political situation in the far east and economic conditions. The duke is crown prince of Belgium.

French President as Grandfather Will Be Host for Christmas

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—For the first time in many years the French White House, the Palace of the Elysée, will be filled with children's shouts over new toys at Christmas.

President Doumer is a grandfather. His three married daughters all have promised to bring their children to Paris for the holidays. There also are the children of the president's three sons who were killed in the war (another died from wounds shortly afterward), who will complete the family group in the old residence on the Rue du Faubourg St. Honoré.

Doumer's predecessor, the jovial M. Gaston Doumergue, was a bachelor until about ten days before he went out of office. Before him M. Alexandre Milerand and madame had a grownup son and daughter, but none of the third generation. The late M. Paul Deschanel, who was president for only eight months of 1920, never celebrated a Christmas in the Elysée. And M. and Mme. Raymond Poincare, who were the officials hosts of the republic from 1913 to 1920, have no offspring.

Predicts Lunch Fund Will Aid 32,000 Pupils

Bodine Lauds Efforts to Feed Children.

A prediction that 32,000 children will be benefited by Hungry School Children's fund before the winter is over was made yesterday by William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education of the Chicago public schools.

"Previous estimates that 18,000 children who will be fed by the fund are too conservative," Mr. Bodine said. "It would not be an exaggeration to venture the statement that 32,000 pupils will be given food by THE TRIBUNE movement for school luncheons before spring comes. Thousands of children now only have one scanty meal at home each day."

Mr. Bodine declared that in some districts the school lunches have helped reduce truancy.

"Present conditions among the children of the poor are the worst in the history of Chicago," he said. "THE TRIBUNE is to be commended for heeding the cry of childhood in distress. The bureau of compulsory education may be depended on to do its share in the investigation of all cases referred to it for the relief of the hungry school children."

$15—"From a Friend."
$10—Jean Ray Fourot, Sigma Alpha Pi, Mrs. B. M. Crippin, Eleanor G. Gallagher.
$8—Ella M. Rea.
$6.50—Delta Mu Delta sorority.

CHRISTMAS MINGLES PAGAN RITUALS AND CHRISTIAN, PROF. SAYS

The Christmas celebration of the modern world derives much of its warmth and charm from pagan customs, Prof. William Warren Sweet of the divinity school at the University of Chicago said yesterday. Prof. Sweet pleaded, however, for holding the Christian element uppermost in the observance.

Barbaric peoples in northern Europe contributed the holly wreaths and mistletoe for Christmas, Prof. Sweet said. During the yuletide celebrations of the Nordic races green things were gathered to decorate the homes, which gave rise to the origin of Christmas trees. The yuletide was also a period of the slaughter of animals and voracious feasting.

"It was not until about the middle of the 4th century after Christ that a day was formally set aside by the church for the observance of his physical birth," Prof. Sweet said. "The exact date of his birth is unknown. As Christmas was first observed it was purely a spiritual festival. There was no gayety; no bells announced the coming of the glad morn; there were no garland; no tables heaped with good cheer."

Prof. Sweet said that pagan traditions were carried over into the celebration. One of the most important of these was the feast of Saturn, which began on Dec. 17 and lasted until Dec. 24. "Saturn was the oldest and most benign deity of ancient Italy," Prof. Sweet explained, "and his fabled reign on earth was supposed to have brought peace and happiness to mankind, and so the festival dedicated to him was full of joy and feasting. The schools were closed, public places were decked with flowers, and presents were exchanged."

In America the early colonists who observed Christmas as a festival were the Church of England adherents and Roman Catholics. Prof. Sweet pointed out that the Puritans objected to the celebration. On May 11, 1659, the general court of the colony of Massachusetts passed the following law: "Whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forbearing of labor, feasting, or any other way, as a festival, shall be fined 5 shillings." That statute was repealed twenty years later.

Duke of Manchester and New Duchess Plan Christmas in U. S.

New York, Dec. 18.—(AP)—In an apartment in the tower of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel the duke and duchess of Manchester temporarily set up housekeeping today. After spending Christmas in New York the duke and duchess will sail on Dec. 26 for Havana on a four months' wedding trip.

They were married late yesterday afternoon in Greenwich, Conn., where his grace succeeded in obtaining a marriage license after it had been denied him in New York on legal grounds.

They brought with them a small staff of servants—a maid, a valet, and a chauffeur—from England a week ago. Until their marriage the duchess, formerly Miss Kathleen Dawes, was the guest of friends in the fashionable Sutton place district.

The duke's cousin, the earl of Gosford, was one of the small group that witnessed the marriage yesterday in the office of Walter M. Anderson, a Greenwich attorney, and after the ceremony the bride and bridegroom motored back to New York with him.

Christmas Party for U. S. Disabled War Veterans

Disabled war veterans at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital yesterday were treated to an old fashioned Christmas party with presents of food, cigarets, bathrobes and entertainment provided by musicians and vaudeville performers. The party was sponsored by County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer and funds were provided by the Midwest Baseball league of which he is chairman.

Gen. Obregon's Daughter French Engineer's Bride

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Señorita Serafina Obregon, daughter of the assassinated Mexican president, was married yesterday at Passy in the Church of Notre Dame de Grace to Pierre Lakhovski, son of a French engineer. The bride's witnesses were her uncle, Evaristo Obregon, and Gen. Vasquez Cobo, the Colombian minister.

Indiana Boy Finds It Too Warm, So Goes Swimming

Bluffton, Ind., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—George Gilliom, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilliom, Villa North, today took advantage of mild weather to go swimming in a gravel pit near his home.

Chicago Begins Yule Parties for Children

Songs, Plays, Charity Are Among Features.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

CHICAGO swung into the enthusiasm of the Christmas season yesterday with the arrival of students home for the holidays and the staging of the initial Yuletide parties by charitable groups.

A jolly crowd of 800 students of the University of Wisconsin arrived at the Chicago and North Western station yesterday on special trains. Classes were dismissed at noon and trains departed shortly afterward. This morning at the Union station over the Pennsylvania railroad there will come 200 cadets from Culver Military academy.

On the same train in a special car will be students from Goucher college, Baltimore, and in another car, pupils of the Deveraux school, Berwyn, Pa. Boys from Hill school, Pottstown, Pa., will also arrive on the same train.

For more than ten years Mrs. Patrick J. Newton, 544 South Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park, has sponsored an entertainment and gift party to make possible Christmas presents for the patients of Cook county hospital. Last night this party was given at Columbus park hall, Central avenue at Congress street. Entertainers offered their services and all who came brought a gift.

At Chicago Commons, last night the Italian Community association presented "The Miracle." The play was directed by Antonio Pallazzo. A program of Christmas music was given by the Chicago Commons Mothers' club under the direction of Grace La Rocco with Miss Martha Carris, accompanist.

The monthly meeting of the Ohio Society of Chicago yesterday was given over to a Christmas party in the Hotel Sherman. Santa Orville Williams distributed novelty gifts and among the guests were Gen. Leroy T. Steward, Thomas J. Holmes, master in chanery, and others.

Plans to entertain 500 underprivileged children at five Christmas parties were laid yesterday at a meeting of the Church Club of Chicago at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman. Two hundred families will be given assistance during the winter, according to John D. Allen, president. The parties will be held at Cathedral shelter, Chase house, House of Happiness, Trinity church and Church of the Atonement.

Bundles of cigars, cigarets and delicacies for the war veterans at the Edward Hines hospital were collected in the office of Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk, yesterday, preparatory to taking them to the hospital.

One hundred and ten children of the Peabody Elementary school, 1444 West Augusta boulevard, all of whose parents will be unable to provide them Christmas dinners, will be given a treat today. A. V. Wolfrun, principal, said these children had been selected as the neediest in the school.

This afternoon the Goodman theater will hold a Christmas party for the needy children served by Hull house, the United Charities and Catholic orphanages. The children will see "Treasure Island," to be presented by the Children's theater.

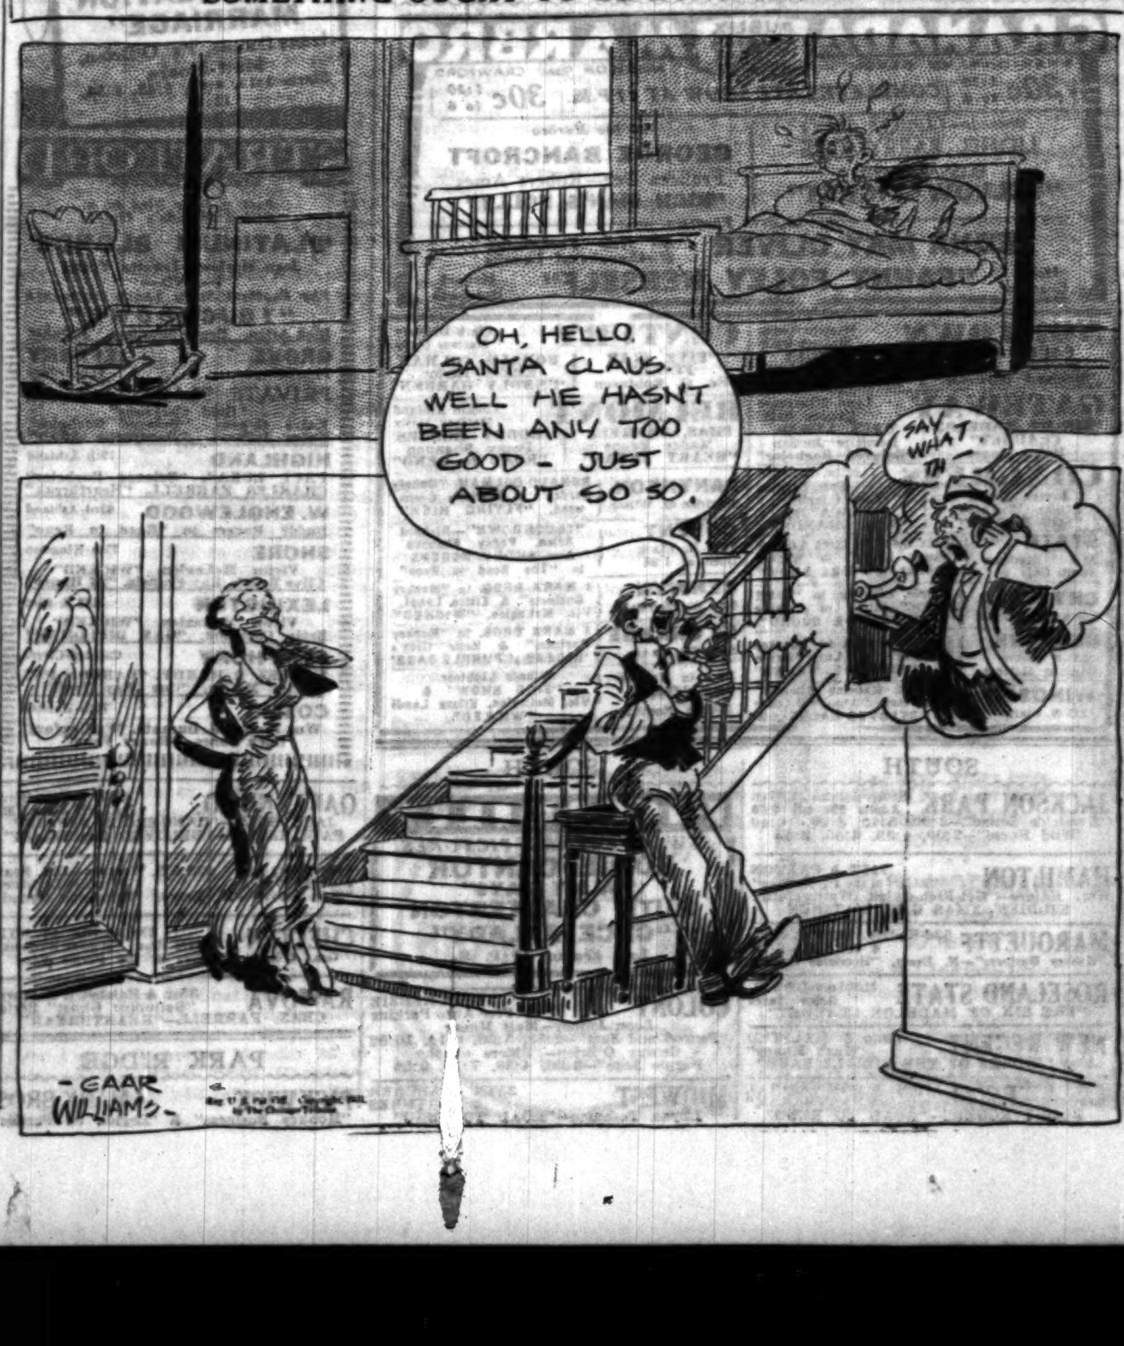

Santa Claus will be master of ceremonies in a Christmas pool pageant to be held tonight in the swimming pool of the Harriet Hammond McCormick memorial residence of the Y. W. C. A. A hundred girls and children will take part.

The South works organization of the Illinois Steel company will give its 25th annual dinner tonight in the La Salle hotel. Veteran associates who retired during the year will be honored guests. They include men with 29 to 51 years of service behind them. T. W. Robinson, vice president of the company, will be the principal speaker.

The south park employés will stage their annual Christmas-New Year party tonight in the Southmoor hotel. About 500 persons are expected, among whom will be officials of the south park system and the World's Fair of 1933.

John Prignano, 7 year old son of A. J. Prignano, Democratic committeeman of the Twentieth ward, will be host to 2,500 needy children in a Christmas theater party at 10 o'clock this morning at the Broadway Strand theater. Candy will be passed out to all.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

For fifteen years, Ida Noyes hall on the Midway Plaisance has been a haven for University of Chicago co-eds. For fifteen years, Mrs. George S. Goodspeed, widow of one of the original faculty members, has made them welcome and supervised their social activities. After today the place won't seem the same, because Mrs. Goodspeed will not be there. She is retiring from her post.

Long before the carpenters and masons were out of the new building, back in 1916, Mrs. Goodspeed was established in the office that has been her own in that decade and a half. Officially, her campus life began then. Unofficially, it started away back in 1892, when her husband accompanied the late William Rainey Harper, the institution's first president, to Chicago from Yale, where they had been fellow faculty members.

With the exception of Mrs. Harper, there is no one whose connection with the University of Chicago goes back farther than that of Florence Mills Goodspeed. And her interest in it has always been three ply. For her uncle, Thomas W. Goodspeed, was one of the financiers for the struggling young educational center, securing funds from John D. Rockefeller and others to launch it; her husband was a member of its faculty, being professor of comparative religion and university recorder at the time of his death in 1905; and Mrs. Goodspeed as a girl of 18, worked in Morgan Park in the magazine office of Mr. Harper, even before it came into being.

When Ida Noyes hall was built as a social center for women, unique of its kind and a memorial to the wife of the donor, La Verne Noyes, President Harry Pratt Judson nominated Mrs. Goodspeed as the director of social events there. In that capacity, she has handled many large and important affairs, the most outstanding in the last few years being the reception staged for President Robert Maynard Hutchins and Mrs. Hutchins on their arrival here.

In the fifteen years Mrs. Goodspeed has been in charge at Ida Noyes, changing customs saw the introduction of both card playing and smoking, against which a ban was placed for several years. The glowing tip of a co-ed's cigaret may have caused terrific battles elsewhere, but it was not made a point of a battle royal here. When it was discovered that the girls who wanted to smoke were taking surreptitious puffs, rooms were set aside for the smokers and the indulgence forbidden elsewhere, unless a large party was scheduled. Then the privilege extended to the entire building. With bridge, the same thing happened.

Mrs. Goodspeed leaves tomorrow for Berkeley, Cal., to spend three months with her son, Prof. William Rainey Goodspeed of the University of California. Then she returns to Chicago to start a speaking campaign as one of the volunteers for the World's Fair, about which she is tremendously enthusiastic.

Girl Gives Blood; Her Mother Expected to Live

Mrs. Nina Vanpelt, 39 years old, 432 West 60th place, was reported recovering from a hemorrhage last night at the county hospital, where her daughter, Alice, 17 years old, a sophomore in the Englewood High school, gave her mother a pint of blood in an effort to save her life.

At Field Museum

Publication of a book on "The Archaeology of Santa Marta, Colombia," was announced by the Field Museum of Natural History yesterday. The work discusses the culture of the long extinct Tairona Indians, presenting the results of an expedition to Colombia, South America, sponsored by Marshal Field. J. Alden Mason, anthropologist and leader of the party, is the author of the book.

MAKES HER DEBUT

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Polly Hart wore a lovely dress of topaz color tulle with a be-ruffled skirt when she made her formal bow to society last night at a dinner dance at the Blackstone, where her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stillson Hart, were host and hostess. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Miss Elizabeth Hart, who received with the debutante and her parents, wore turquoise blue net appliqued with taffeta and orchids, and Mrs. Hart wore white brocaded chiffon. The invitation list was limited to young people, most of whom went on to the charity ball after the party.

Salvation Army to Open Another Shelter Today

The Salvation Army will open its third shelter for homeless men today at 659 Hobbie street. The shelter, operated in conjunction with the Joint Emergency Relief fund, will accommodate 1,200 men. Still another shelter is now being considered. Lewis E. Myers, chairman of the Salvation Army board and head of the housing committee of the joint relief fund, will be in charge of the opening. Music will be furnished by the staff band and officials of the joint fund will be guests of honor.

Smooth, Velvety Skin Assured Any One by These Little Devices

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Will you kindly tell if there is any danger involved in the removal of superfluous hair from the legs by the electrolysis process? An operator advises me to have this done, but I don't want to take her word for it. MISS L. E."

The electrolysis process will remove the hairs all right and as permanently as hairs can be guaranteed to be removed. But it seems a pretty expensive process for the location. It is a tedious method, more or less painful, although some people report little discomfort from pain. It does require expert handling of the needle. When it is done expertly it gives a great degree of comfort to the afflicted, especially those with facial growths of excessive hair.

In the hands of an expert the procedure is perfectly safe. The process consists in introducing into the hair follicle just enough electricity to dissolve the follicle, destroy the papilla and thus take the home out from under the hair.

For the larger surface areas where hairs abound temporary measures are usually adopted. It means repeating the treatments with fair regularity. But what matters that? One has to bathe daily; one has to have her hair done weekly or semi-weekly. Its all in the game. And there are excellent depilatories on the market, some of which lay claim to a gradual disappearance of the hair after a period of use.

The depilatories commonly in use are in powder, paste or wax form. And thanks be, the manufacturers are overcoming the obnoxious odor that formerly was attached to certain of these effective hair removers. The wax preparations are spread warm over the surface to be treated and pulled off before altogether cold. They leave a clean surface with the promise of future discouragement of growth.

The use of a razor is an another expedient. A few strokes after the surface is washed and lathered and the hair is gone. There is some argument about the returning hairs being thicker and stubbler but that can be forestalled by keeping the surface continuously clear.

Food Talk

Today most of us don't have to go down into the root cellar before a meal and plan the dinner in accordance with the vegetables that are left. We don't have to stow away our winter supply in sand and paraffin. In almost every market there is lettuce all through the winter, in company with potatoes, sweet potatoes, beets, carrots, turnips, rutabaga, and parsnips. When we have these homely vegetables there are any number of things that may be done with them.

In stores where there is a greater selection we find celery cabbage, celery, artichokes, vegetable oyster, leeks, asparagus, tomatoes, and many others. I was surprised by the fine quality and low price of asparagus at the present time.

Fennel, or finocchio, as the Italians call it, can be had in some stores. It is a strange looking vegetable, something like a cross between a kohlrabi and a stalk of celery, but it is delicious.

Endive is appearing more and more in our markets. There was a time when it was most difficult to obtain, but now there are baskets of it in even obscure shops. It has no rival for a green salad, once one becomes used to its somewhat unfamiliar tang. It combines the virtues of being good to taste, inexpensive, and decorative.

Curly cabbage is also something of a novelty. It tastes much the same as the ordinary kind, but is darker green. A salad of curly, red, and common green cabbage looks attractive.

By the way, when you serve a salad with wooden spoon and fork don't wash them. Wipe them off. If they need cleaning do it with a cloth and a little oil. Washing gives the utensils a rough, furry looking surface, while the oiling leaves them smooth and eventually darkens them appetizingly.

ASPARAGUS LOAF.

3 bunches asparagus ¼ cup butter
4 eggs Salt
1½ cups bread crumbs Pepper

Steam the asparagus till tender. Chop fine and add well beaten eggs, crumbs, butter, salt, and pepper. Place in a well greased bread tin, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

BRILLIANT SCENE AS CHICAGO PEOPLE DANCE FOR CHARITY

The last dance, merry adieus, and the charity ball of 1931 revived from the limbo after an absence of 20 years passed into history.

During the intermissions there was entertainment in the lobbies, where astrologists and numerologists disclosed interesting futures to debutantes and their escorts. Sideshows and a chamber of horrors were also among the features provided by Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank and Miss Dorothy Schmidt. Other brilliantly gowned young women passed in and out of the boxes badgering the dancers for cigarets, carnations, and programs.

REVIVES OLD GLORIES

From 1910 until the new opera house was opened in 1929 there was plenty of grand opera music heard within the walls of the fine old Auditorium, but no music for dancing was heard there from 1909 until last night. Chicago's first charity ball was given there in [...], and from that time until Chicago deserted the theater for its own opera company charity balls were held sporadically there, and always they were the high lights of the years in which they were given.

And last night's ball was no exception, for it was as lovely and colorful a sight as Chicago has seen in many years. The old theater seemed to have taken a new lease on life for the evening, and many a sentimentalist sighed and was sorry that the Auditorium no longer was of prime importance in our social life.

It was a grand party, both from the standpoint of those there to be entertained and those who were benefited, for the Joint Emergency Relief fund will be increased by about $20,000, as Mr. Gillette, chairman of the executive committee, estimated. No accurate figures will be available until the expenses are added up and the entire receipts counted, however. But the relief fund is not the only beneficiary, for a small army of dressmakers, caterers, carpenters, florists, hairdressers, and the like must have increased their earnings by the extra work necessary to make last night's picture the dazzling, lovely one it was.

Ball as Planned by Mrs. John Alden Carpenter

The interior had been turned into a huge garden scene with huge colored lights like giant balloons suspended from the high ceiling. All was gayety and color, just as the late Mrs. John Alden Carpenter had planned it before her sudden death two weeks ago. The boxes were filled with society folk, many in the same boxes they occupied during the opera seasons in the old theater, but when the grand march started at 11:30 o'clock the boxes were almost deserted for every one took part in the stately march, almost the only survival of the old time balls. Mrs. Palmer, upholding the grace and dignity of the name she bears which is such an important one in the social history of Chicago, led the march with Mr. Gillette, followed by Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick and F. Herman Gade.

Pearls Are Favorite Gems of Those Attending Ball

Pearls were almost the only jewels in evidence, that is on the necks of the women, although there were diamond bracelets and jeweled clips galore. Mrs. Palmer wore a gorgeous gown of oyster white crêpe embroidered in rhinestones in a wheat design and she wore her famous large pearls and a shoulder bouquet of orchids. Mrs. McCormick wore gold and white brocade and her only jewels were diamond pendant earrings.

Mrs. Joseph Ryerson's gown of white satin was simply made and she wore a single strand of pearls but several [...] diamond and sapphire bracelets were on one arm. Mrs. Insull Jr. was in pale blue satin with no jewels and she wore orchids. The senior Mrs. Insull was in white satin and she was wearing pearls. Gowns today are so simply made, depending solely upon the lines for effect that although a huge group of beautiful gowns is a beautiful, lovely picture, it loses its charm when the gowns are described one by one, for there usually is nothing but color and lines to the most stunning gowns today. As these lines are written the grand march is just over and the first dance is being played and all is a whirl of lights and color and the picture is as beautiful a one as Chicago society has ever seen or will see in a long time.

Highland Park Infant Welfare Session Tonight

The Highland Park-Ravinia branch of the Infant Welfare society will hold a benefit ball this evening at the Moraine hotel. Day's Program for Society Full of Action

THERE'LL be no chance for many of the young people who danced so late last night, or rather so early this morning, at the charity ball to catch up on their rest today, because the calendar is dotted with affairs to engage them from morning until well after midnight. The opening of the Junior league play, two weddings and two debutante parties are among the events scheduled.

"The Runaway Papoose," at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Blackstone, is the holiday offering of the Junior League Theater for Children. The girls on the various committees have been working for weeks on the casting, costuming and staging of the show, and from what we know of their former productions, we judge this one will be another success.

Most of the league girls will be at St. Chrysostom's church at 4:30 o'clock to attend the wedding of one of their members, Miss Emily Pope, to Robert Massonneau Hoffman. Dean Kroll of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, an uncle of the bridegroom, is to perform the service, which will be followed by a small reception at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry Peirce Pope, at 2820 Sheridan road.

Mrs. Charles B. Cook [Leslie Pope] will attend her sister as matron of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Helen Pope, Miss Janet Kirk, Miss Jean Spens, Miss Betty Knode, and Miss Winifred McKeown. Vincent Healy will be best man for the groom and the ushers will include Henry De Witt Whittlesey of Cleveland, Charles Robert Hogan of France, Frederic Drake Nielson, Charles Brainard Cook, Robert Stiel and Voyta Mashek of Chicago, and Morgan Baker of New York.

Helen Hardenbergh to Wed at Military Ceremony Today.

Miss Helen Hardenbergh, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Raymond W. Hardenbergh, and Lieut. John Francis Regis Seitz, son of Mrs. George Hillary Seitz of Wilmington, Del., are to have a military wedding at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Winnetka residence of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson. The Rev. Andrea Simoni, chaplain at Fort Sheridan, will officiate.

The bride's attendants will include her sister, Miss Suzanne Hardenbergh, as maid of honor, and the Misses Henriette Countess, Eloise ReQua, Margaret Quan, Louise Lackner, Ruth Redman of Los Angeles, Wilma Koelsch of Dobbs Ferry, and Mrs. W. Calhoun Smith as bridesmaids.

Lieut. George Seitz will act as his brother's best man and seven young lieutenants in dress uniform will serve as ushers.

This evening Miss Jane Fortune will make her formal bow to society at a dinner dance to be given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Fortune, at the Blackstone. Later in the evening the debutante and her guests will go on to the ball that Robert F. Carr is giving at the Casino for his daughter, Miss Florence Carr. The Carr ball will be a comparatively small one and only members of the younger set have been invited.

Mrs. Howard Gillette is to give a luncheon tomorrow for the Misses Patty McCormick, Betty Brown, and Polly Parry, and in the evening Mrs. Walter S. Brewster will be hostess at a supper party for Miss Brown and Miss Perry. Other young people's parties tomorrow will include the tea that Mrs. John Sheppard Stone is to give for her daughter, Miss Lucy Stone, who is to arrive at home today from Vassar, and the Cary Davis Terrells tea for Miss Elizabeth de Wolf Archer and Miss Frances Terrell, at the Terrells' Evanston residence.

Genevieve Carpenter's Wedding Will Be at Vermont Home.

Miss Genevieve Carpenter and Patrick Champain Hill will be married just a week later than they had intended before the death of Miss Carpenter's mother, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, changed their plans. But instead of pledging their vows in St. James' church in Chicago, they will be married in the small chapel at Charlotte, Vt., where the Carpenters have their summer residence. Miss Carpenter and her father and fiancé left Wednesday for Vermont and are staying at the residence of Miss Carpenter's uncle, Joseph Winterbotham, in Burlington.

Mrs. Shreve Badger, a cousin of the bride to be, met Mr. Winterbotham, also her uncle, in New York yesterday upon his return from abroad, and they have gone to Burlington to join the Carpenters and Mr. Hill.

If present plans are carried out the ceremony will take place on Monday, Dec. 28, although it might be that it could take place a day or two earlier if the young people find that there is not as much red tape connected with getting a marriage license in Vermont as they thought there would be. Mr. Hill had expected to take his bride to Mexico for a wedding trip before going to Fort Worth, where they will live for a year, at least, but whether plans for the honeymoon have been changed we do not know.

Clay Judsons, J. T. M'Cutcheons Plan Party for Miss Shaw.

Trust the Clay Judsons and the John T. McCutcheons to do something novel and interesting when they entertain—the dinner dance they will give for their debutante sister, Miss Theodora Shaw, next Wednesday is to be at the Bal Tabarin, and as far as we recall this is the first debutante party that has been given there. Miss Shaw, the daughter of Mrs. Howard Shaw of 2450 Lake View avenue, returned yesterday from Sarah Lawrence college, accompanied by Miss Mary Robinson of Chattanooga, who will be here until two days after Christmas. Miss Faith Whitney of New York will arrive Monday to be Miss Shaw's guest until Christmas eve. Miss Shaw will return to college on Jan. 4.

BOXES ARE GAY WITH COLOR

The gowns of the occupants of the boxes provided a colorful sight and there were many jewels worn.

POLICE IN DRESS SUITS GUARD GUESTS AT CHARITY BALL

Seventy-two detectives and policemen, many of them in formal attire, protected guests at the charity ball from theft last night. The protection was ample, no thefts being reported.

Lieut. Edward Kelly and twelve men, comprising the anti-pickpocket squad, were attired in evening dress and mingled with the crowds. Al Gorsson, superintendent of the Pinkerton agency, and twelve picked men also in formal attire, sauntered about the ballroom and corridors.

In other sections were Lieuts. Tim Rohan of the Hudson avenue station and Terrence Vaughan of the Hyde Park station and Sergt. Kyran Phelan, pickpocket aces. Throughout the lobby and outside were forty bluecoats commanded by Capt. John Prendergast of the South State street station. On the outside, keeping a close watch, were Sergts. J. Griffiths and William Evans, who know most of Chicago's and New York's pickpockets by sight.

WITTMER QUITS PRINCETON GRID COACHING POST

Blames Press for Resignation.

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Al Wittmer, who succeeded Bill Roper as head football coach at Princeton university this fall, tendered his resignation to the Princeton board of athletic control at an adjourned meeting tonight at the Nassau club. The resignation was accepted by the board. Wittmer's resignation was contained in a letter which he wrote to Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board of athletic control. His letter said in part:

"I should like to tender my resignation and give up my contract as head coach of the team, to take effect immediately.

Blames Newspapers.

"While I appreciate more than I can say the support of the board of control and of the graduate football committee throughout the year, I feel that through the press and otherwise there has been built up such an overwhelming body of misinformation about the coaching at Princeton as to put a handicap not only upon me but upon the players as well, and that my remaining under such circumstances would not be to the best interests of Princeton. I say this reluctantly but definitely, in spite of the fact that many members of this year's team have urged me to remain."

Still Basket Coach.

Wittmer has been connected with football at Princeton since 1919. As an undergraduate he was a member of the 1919, 1920, and 1921 teams, playing full back during the first two years and center in his last year.

Wittmer will remain head coach of the Princeton basketball team, a position which he has held this year in addition to being football leader.

BADGER QUIZ GOES ON

Madison, Wis., Dec. 18.—(AP)—An attempt of a legislative investigating committee this afternoon to uncover evidences of friction between University of Wisconsin athletic department heads failed for the time being, at least.

George Little, who resigned as athletic director this week, was the first witness called by the committee. He outlined the structure of the department and dwelt principally on finances. The head football coach, Glen Thistlethwaite, who has been under fire recently, was scheduled as a witness, but was unable to be present.

"Do all your departments give you cooperation?" asked Assemblyman Frederick Krez.

"I feel that I have received good cooperation from my departments," Little answered.

"The public at large," continued Krez, "feels that something has failed in Wisconsin, that there has been a lack of team work somewhere. Pinning it down, I don't think things have worked in the football department. Do you feel satisfied with the results there?"

"At the present time, there is a difference of opinion regarding the coaching situation," Little said. "I would prefer to answer your question in the presence of Coach Thistlethwaite."

Little told the committee that the decline in football gate receipts during the last season had created the greatest problem in handling the athletic program. He said the deficit was being met by cutting down the schedule of minor sports teams and by having various assistant coaches double up on work.

GREENLEAF WINS NINTH IN ROW; SURE OF TIE FOR TITLE

The ten times world's titleholder defeated Frank Taberski of Schenectady, also a former champion, 125 to 70, in eleven innings.

A capacity crowd saw Greenleaf make a high run of 55 in the seventh inning. Taberski's best run was 29. Greenleaf still has George Kelly, young Philadelphian, and Erwin Rudolph, 1930 world's titleholder, to play. Kelly will be played tomorrow afternoon and Rudolph Monday night.

ILLINI BASKET TEAM DEFEATS MIAMI, 37 TO 19

Oxford, O., Dec. 18.—(AP)—University of Illinois gave Miami university a basketball lesson here tonight, winning, 37 to 19. The Illini led, 15 to 8, at the half. Miami's underhand defense was tight and Illinois had from the foul line, R. Kamp getting two in rapid succession. Miami started the second half with a rally, but R. Kamp again broke through to score three times and end the rally.

'Twas Song and Dance Act, Not Bad Eyes, Ruined Hack

BY EDWARD BURNS.

HACK WILSON.

Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs predicts that the Columbus, O., representatives of the St. Louis Cardinals will find nothing wrong with Hack Wilson in their impending research into Hack's system, a research announced yesterday with Hack's arrival in Columbus.

Hack is sound of torso and limb, Rogers said, in discussing the plans of the Cardinals to give the faded home run king the physical once over.

"It has been printed that the Cubs had Wilson examined by three oculists and that each found he had a habit of looking in six directions at once," said Rogers. "Wilson's eyes were examined by experts, and contrary to the printed reports, his vision was found to be above the average.

"In the various deals that were discussed, including the one which went through, that of Wilson for Grimes, these alleged eye discoveries always came up. In each instance I advised inquirers of the actual findings, and told them that I felt sure Wilson would be glad to submit to any tests desired.

Best Wishes from Rogers.

"Wilson has no physical handicaps in his comeback chances. It would not surprise me if he had a great year. The chances are largely up to Hack and his attitude toward his work. He says he is in a frame of mind to stage a big return to form. He has my best wishes."

Beyond the foregoing, Hack's 1931 boss had little to say about last season's biggest baseball flop. Despite a lot of tactless and soreheaded alibiing by Wilson for his failure last year, Hornsby has maintained a dignified position, and never once has said anything mean about the fallen star. He repeatedly has said that if Hack approaches his task with the proper mental attitude he has an excellent chance for a comeback.

Vaudeville Did It.

Though Hornsby did not say as much, it is known that there are those in the Cub organization who think that Hack's flyer in vaudeville at the close of the 1930 season, after he had set a new major league record for runs batted in and a new National league home run record, did more to upset him than any granulated lids, cataracts, signals from the bench, or whatnot.

"The vaudeville and movie fans did Hack a great injustice when they applauded his act," one commentator said yesterday. "After the first matinée he thought he could dance better than Terpsichore and Bill Robinson combined, and that he had the voice of a nightingale—much sweeter than Caruso's ever was.

Couldn't Use Partners.

"As the act went on Wilson's superiority complex increased to the point where the presence of his three partners—Hartnett, Cuyler, and Heathcote — irritated him and he wanted them to stand behind the piano while he was doing his stuff. He even said that Cuyler's voice rasped his soul—and Ki really could dance and sing a little.

"Hack also was in demand for personal appearances in stores that wanted to clear out their lines of two pants suits and there got continued adulation, while demonstrating what the well dressed man would wear. Sometimes, though he was engaged purely as a manikin, Hack would drift off into a song and dance. Never a day went by that Hack didn't autograph a gross or so of baseballs, but this never seemed to remind him that after all he was just a star baseball player.

And That Fight Offer.

"Having mastered the dance and having discovered the dulcet tone of his voice, Hack's mind went back to an earlier offer of $15,000 to fight Art Shires.

"All this attention had Hack swelled up to the bursting point, and he got to thinking that baseball was just an incident in his success. His Big Time Charley reflexes became even more active. The result was inevitable and it turned out the great all-round idol had clay feet."

Last summer and fall no one wanted to hear Hack sing and no one wanted to see him dance. No one this winter has asked him to fight Art Shires. There will be further deflation when Hack gets his 1932 contract. This changed scene may make Hack a little bitter, but, his friends think, it probably will lead him back to the field of outstanding ballplayers.

GOLD RUSH DAYS ARE OVER, BIG 10 GATES INDICATE

1931 Season Below Two Million Mark.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The six golden years of Western conference football, when the ten teams grossed annually more than two million dollars, ended this fall. For the first time since 1925 when Big Ten football receipts were $2,080,364, this fall the gross income fell below the $2,000,000 mark.

The figures for 1931 are not available, but there is no doubt that receipts were less than two million dollars judging by almost unanimous reports from the universities.

Reach Peak in 1927.

From 1923 to 1930, a period of eight years, Western conference football teams did a business of $17,590,615. The peak year was 1927, although the last of the boom seasons, 1929, was only approximately $67,000 lower. In 1927 Big Ten football brought in $2,777,596. The total receipts for eight years follow:

1923	....$ 1,320,816	1928	2,613,874
1925	 2,080,364	1930	2,195,440
1926	 2,203,617
1927	 2,777,596	Total..	$17,590,615

The eight year total finds Michigan at the head of the Big Ten and Indiana at the bottom, judged by gross income. Michigan, from 1923 to 1930 inclusively, had a football income of $3,171,812. Indiana university, in that same period, received $637,683.

The income of each of the Big Ten universities for the eight year period follows:

Michigan	$3,171,812
Illinois	2,351,757
Chicago	2,260,227
Ohio State	2,192,106
Minnesota	1,836,427
Northwestern	1,653,674
Wisconsin	1,567,439
Iowa	1,135,473
Purdue	784,017
Indiana	637,683

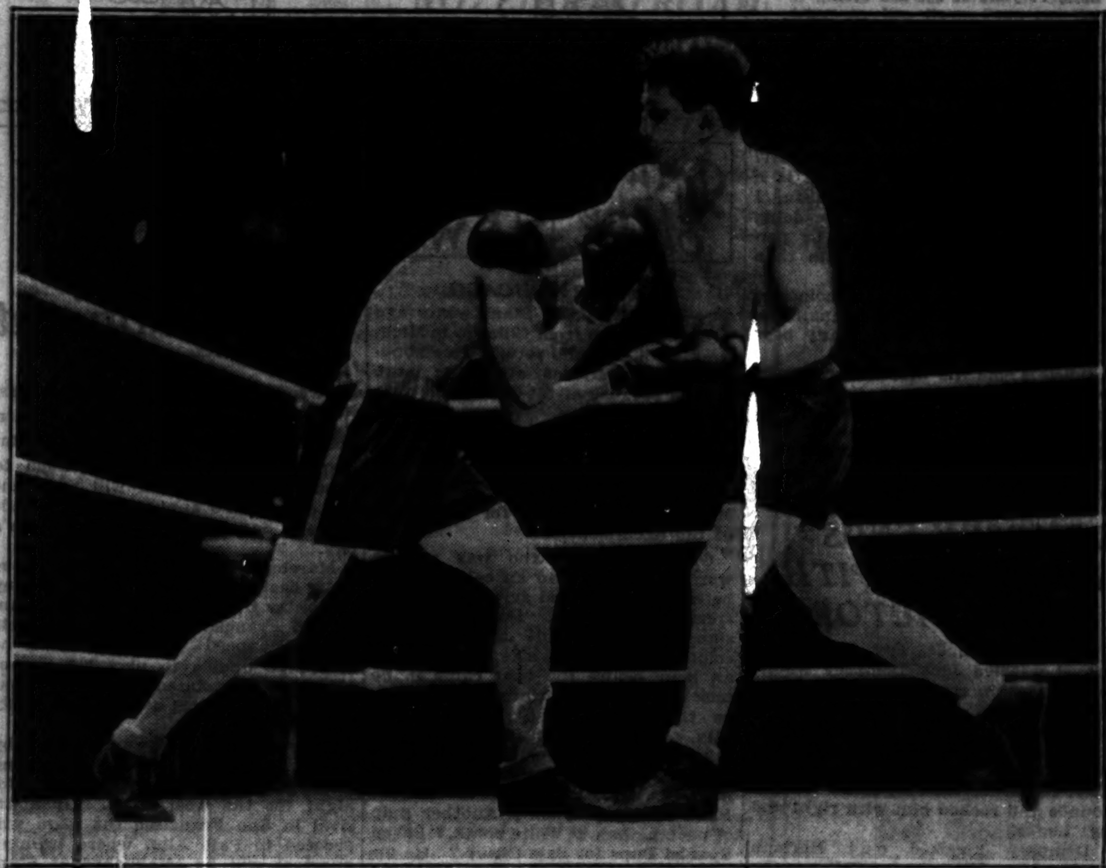

Michigan is the only university which ever has passed the half million dollar mark in one season. Michigan has had two such banner years, 1927 and 1929. In the former season Michigan set a record with gross football receipts of $563,062.

Chicago Shows Increase.

Northwestern, Purdue, and Chicago were the only universities which showed slight increase in football revenue in 1930 over 1929. Northwestern tied Michigan for the championship that year, while Purdue finished second. Chicago showed a gain of a few thousand dollars principally because the Maroons' receipts in 1929 were half of their 1928 income.

This was due to the collapse of Chicago's teams and also to Northwestern's growing popularity. The year of 1929 also showed that Purdue did not quite equal its 1928 income, despite a championship eleven.

KING, CRUDE BUT FUNNY, FLOORS TOMMY THRICE

10,000 Pay $21,000 to See Garden Bout.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—The heavyweight prize fighter who calls himself King Levinsky unveiled himself in a fight with Tommy Loughran in the Garden ring this evening and turned out to be a rather fat, dull eyed, open mouthed kid with an alley fighter's right hand swing and a silly disposition.

He knocked Loughran down three times, in the third, fourth, and ninth rounds for counts of eight, nine and eight, respectively, using the right hand exclusively, and set him tottering on two other occasions with the same amazingly inartistic punch.

Catches Tommy in First.

Just before the bell closed round one, when Loughran was jogging along cautiously and apparently in no danger, Levinsky's right swished out of nowhere and flicked him on the jaw for his first serious mishap of the fight. Tommy came all apart for an instant, staggered along the faded green plush ropes, grabbed the middle one, and might have been floored by Levinsky's pursuing rush if the bell hadn't clanged just then.

Levinsky won the decision from a declining master in ten rounds, and although he was much pleased with himself all the way, he was exaggerating the victory, for Loughran at his best undoubtedly would have spent the entire evening slapping his face and also yawning in his face. No longer as agile as he used to be, Tommy lacked that fraction of a second of his old speed which used to evade the rushes of far better fighters than King Levinsky, and once he had been tagged and put down for a count of eight in the third he was slower than ever, the shock having no refreshing effect.

Levinsky Down Twice.

Levinsky was down twice but due to no urging from Loughran, merely slipping to the floor from the violence of his own incredibly clumsy swings and bouncing right up. In the seventh when he jumped up after his first flop he formed a knotsky and stormed at Loughran in a juvenile rage as the blasé Philadelphia fighter regarded him with a toothless grin of amusement. The Levinsky seemed much embarrassed, like some eminent statesman hit by a saloon door and knocked off balance, and he apparently wished to take revenge on Loughran for his own clumsiness.

Except such times as he was sitting on the floor in quiet meditation pondering the amazing accidents that were occurring to his chin, Loughran busied himself poking Levinsky in the face with his left hand, not forgetting to stick him in the eye with his thumb at every opportunity. He also found opportunities to prod Levinsky in his flabby middle, but Loughran never was a puncher and these strokes gave Levinsky no pain although they did seem to make him indignant.

King Resents Tom's Punches.

He seemed to regard himself as a magnificent boxer and to resent Loughran's presumption in hanging around at all, whereas it has been many a year since any one as awkward and unskilled as Levinsky progressed far enough in the prize fight business to command a place in a main event in the Garden.

His right swing was his only punch and he landed only a dozen out of about two hundred.

Loughran was close to a knockout in the ninth when he went down the last time. Fielding a swing with his chin near Levinsky's corner he got up dizzy at the count of eight, slid around behind Levinsky and grabbed him around the waist with both arms. The erstwhile fish dealer flounced and bucked, trying to hurl him loose and when Arthur Donovan, the referee, went between them, the bell rang.

Tommy in Wrong Pew.

Loughran, completely lost, then flopped on to Levinsky's seat and his own seconds tore across the ring to spray him with water, hoist him up and bundle him back to his own quarters for the rest period.

Levinsky is a terrible fighter, but very amusing and the patrons would have enjoyed the show entirely but for the exhortations of Levinsky's sister, a sweet-faced, demure lady known as Leaping Lena Levy, who was completely carried away by her enthusiasm and put in the entire half hour shrieking "Get him, King." Mrs. Lena Levy has a siren voice. So have the New York harbor tug boats. The receipts were $21,000.

Considering that Mr. Loughran has been one of the great American boxers for several years, a prizefighter whose chief virtue was a sweet character and a pretty profile, the turnout of ten thousand customers was very flattering to the unknown Levinsky. Long ago Mr. Leo P. Flynn remarked that he would just as soon watch a man read a book, and the patrons were of about the same mind for a long time.

But in the last few years the customers have been a little more attentive to Tommy, probably fascinated by the idea that some time in his life something will happen to him and not wishing to miss it after patient waiting. It is not interesting to watch a smokestack smoke, but when the dynamite brings it down, the news reels record that with sound.

PURDUE BASKET TEAM DEFEATS PITT, 41 TO 23

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Purdue scored a 41 to 23 victory over Pittsburgh in its opening home game of the basketball season tonight. Led by Johnny Wooden, who scored six field goals, the Boilermakers were in command throughout the game.

Purdue took an early lead of 12 to 6, only to have Willie Kowallis tie the score with three field goals. A moment later Pitt went ahead for the first and only time, 14 to 12, but three quick baskets, two of them by Wooden, gave the Boilermakers an 18 to 14 lead at the half.

Estelle Drops Divorce; Dempsey Makes Settlement

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Estelle Taylor today withdrew her divorce action against Jack Dempsey in the California court because she feels "personal satisfaction would be the only end served" and because she desires to permit Dempsey to prepare, undisturbed by court embarrassments, for the comeback fight he will make next summer.

Miss Taylor's action is tantamount to acceptance of the divorce decree Dempsey won from her in Reno, Nev., last Sept. 21.

The couple's attorneys settled matters here yesterday. There was no division of property, but it was learned Dempsey paid up back taxes on their former home, which had stood in Miss Taylor's name for three years; took care of her attorney's and legal fees; settled an accumulation of household debts, and paid off sums so that her two automobiles stand clear in her name.

GULDAHL AND MANGRUM TIE IN PASADENA OPEN

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 18.—(AP)—Ralph Guldahl of Detroit and Mangrum of Los Angeles tied for the lead today in the opening round of the $4,000 Pasadena open golf championship by turning in duplicate cards of 69, two strokes under par. George von Elm of Los Angeles, Jack Gains of Glendale, MacDonald Smith of New York, and Willie Goggin of San Francisco tied for second with 70's.

Bang! and 4 More Light Heavies Bite Stadium Dust

BY FRENCH LANE.

The second series of battles in the scramble for the world's light heavyweight boxing championship all but stood 4,053 paid customers on their heads at the Chicago Stadium last night.

There were four quick knockouts. There were enough knockdowns to satisfy any crowd. There were two other bouts which brought some of the most furious fighting ever witnessed in a Chicago ring.

The boys who rocked their opponents into a state of momentary unconsciousness were Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro; Lou Scozza, a Bohemian lad from Buffalo; Roscoe Manning, another towering black man from Newark, and Bob Olin, a hard punching, raw boned Jewish fellow, also from Newark, who is a Golden Gloves tournament graduate.

Bozo and Bain Win.

Those who scored on points were Battling Bozo, the Birmingham clown, and Abie Bain, another Jewish lad, who hails from Newark.

Johnson knocked out Rosy Rosales of Cleveland, in the second round. It was a technical knockout. Johnson sent a terrific right to Rosales' jaw just a few seconds before the second round ended. The Cleveland boy went down with a thud. The crack of his head on the canvas echoed throughout the big arena. At the count of seven, the bell sounded, ending the round, but Referee Dave Barry gave Johnson the decision on a technical knockout.

Then the knockouts came fast and furious. In the second bout Lou Scozza of Buffalo began aiming vicious rights and lefts at the body of Russ Rowsey of Huntington, W. Va., at the first tap of the bell. He kept it up all through the round and was at it again just as soon as the second session opened. After a minute of fighting, a right which traveled almost from the floor to Rowsey's middle parts, connected and the West Virginia boy went down. He was counted out before he could get back on his feet.

Manning Wins Fast.

Manning didn't lose any time in putting Buddy McArthur to sleep. He moved along as if he had a pressing date out in the vicinity of Thirty-fifth street and the Grove. It took him just a minute and some thirty second to put the sleeping powder to work. It was a right with a pile-driving force that sent McArthur down. He didn't come up until long after the ten count, when some of his buddies dragged him to his corner. Manning appeared to be a terrific puncher.

When Olin socked Tait Littman down in the fourth round the crowd was stunned. Many Milwaukee fans followed their home town boy here for the tournament. They couldn't believe anybody could hit him hard enough to bring on unexpected sleep. But that blow delivered by the former Golden Glover put Littman so fast asleep he didn't come out of the drowsy spell until along toward midnight.

Hoot Bain Decision.

A furious battle came out of the match which brought Abie Bain of Newark into action against Harry Fuller of Buffalo. There wasn't a knockdown, but it has been a long time since Stadium customers watched such a slugging bee. They stood toe to toe and whaled away in most of the rounds. Their eyes were cut and the claret was trickling from their noses. First Fuller had an advantage, a second later Bain was leading. It seesawed that way right up to the final bell. Then Bain got the decision and the crowd hooted its disapproval.

Battling Bozo's rôle as America's fistic clown, could hardly have been improved upon and at the end of eight rounds, after he had punched Pettit Ferrarer of Lansing, known as the Michigan Wildcat, all over the ring he got the decision by a wide margin. Bozo floored the Wildcat early in the encounter, but the colored boy bounced right up again.

The 4,053 customers paid only $5,968.05 to see the show. This bespoke a lean Christmas for the light heavyweights, everybody agreed. But the slashers who survived may have a more lucrative evening when the semi-final rounds are held later.

Wally Roettger Again Is Sold to Cincinnati Reds

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 18.—(AP)—An advance Christmas present was handed baseball fans here today with the announcement that Wally Roettger, outfielder, had been purchased from the St. Louis Cardinals by the Cincinnati Reds. Sidney Weil, president of the Reds, said Roettger's repurchase was strictly for cash.

Canadiens Hockey Club to Have $3,000,000 Home

MONTREAL, Dec. 18.—(AP)—A new amphitheater to seat 18,000 and costing about $3,000,000 is to be erected here as a future home for the Canadiens of the National Hockey league, Leo Dandurand, secretary and managing director of the club, said today.

MR. McGRAW HAS FEW KIND WORDS FOR MR. McQUADE

Testifies He Struck Wife, Berated Partners.

New York, Dec. 18.—[Special.]—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, gave testimony today at the trial of Francis X. McQuade's suit against McGraw and Charles A. Stoneham to bring about McQuade's reinstatement as treasurer of the Giants.

He pictured McQuade as one who struck his own wife, insulted Mrs. McGraw, hoped Mr. Stoneham would be sent to the Atlanta penitentiary, habitually used vile and abusive language to his partners, and made obscene references to the club's stockholders.

Tells of Club's Purchase.

McGraw told how it came about that Stoneham was induced to purchase the club and in this matter he said McQuade played a minor rôle. Stoneham, he said, was brought forward by a newspaper man named Howard, whom he and McQuade met in the lobby of the old Waldorf hotel in the fall of 1918.

"On the occasion of which I speak," McGraw testified, "McQuade and I walked up Fifth avenue and into the Waldorf, where we met a newspaper man by the name of Howard. He asked me what we were doing and I told him we were looking for a purchaser for the club and he said he had the man we wanted and would call me up the following morning at 10 o'clock.

Conferred with Stoneham.

"Right to the minute he called me the next morning and the man he had was Stoneham. McQuade and I went down to the Hotel Astor, where we met Howard and Stoneham and negotiations were begun that led to the buying of the club."

In 1925, when Stoneham was on trial in the federal courts, charged with a criminal offense, McGraw said McQuade made frequent and gleeful allusions to the possibility of Stoneham being convicted and going to prison.

Shamrocks and Pla-Mors, Battle Again

What promises to be a show as well as a hard fought game is expected tonight when the Shamrocks meet the Kansas City Pla-Mors at the Chicago Stadium. Porky Levine has been the main performer in every recent Kansas City game and if he stages his act again tonight the Chicagoans should be inspired to rise to a special exhibition in their fight to regain a tie for the league leadership.

The performance of Levine, Jack-in-the-box goal keeper, has made it possible for Kansas City to play 11 games and be scored against only nine times. Only two times in the last five games have opponents' pucks got past him. In the first of the five, he held the Shamrocks to a 1 to 0 score after 78 minutes of play and allowed St. Louis but two points in two games. An achievement this week approaching a miracle was a double shutout of the Buffalo Majors, although Levine tended goal the first time with one eye closed and played with the handicap of a smashed nose through the second.

SIX POLO TEAMS PLAY IN CHARITY GAMES TONIGHT

This game will be the climax of the program sponsored by the Central District Manufacturing club for the Joint Emergency Relief fund.

The Army team is led by Maj. C. C. Smith, a six goal handicap veteran of international competition. Capt. Max M. Corpening is the ace of the Riding club trio, carrying a six goal handicap.

Society's interest centers in the clash between Onwentsia and the 124th Field Artillery, the second of three polo games. Onwentsia represents the blue blood of the north shore. The artillery team has the backing of the south side.

Nappanee Prep Quintet Conquers Riley, 31 to 24

Niles, Mich., 22; Cassopolis, Mich., 10.
Laporte, 31; Plymouth, 19.
Benton Harbor, Mich., 15; Buchanan, Mich., 13.
Wakarusa, 27; Tyner, 9.

SECOND ANNUAL TRIBUNE SKI MEET
Riis Park, Jan. 3

NAME ....
CLUB ....
AGE ....

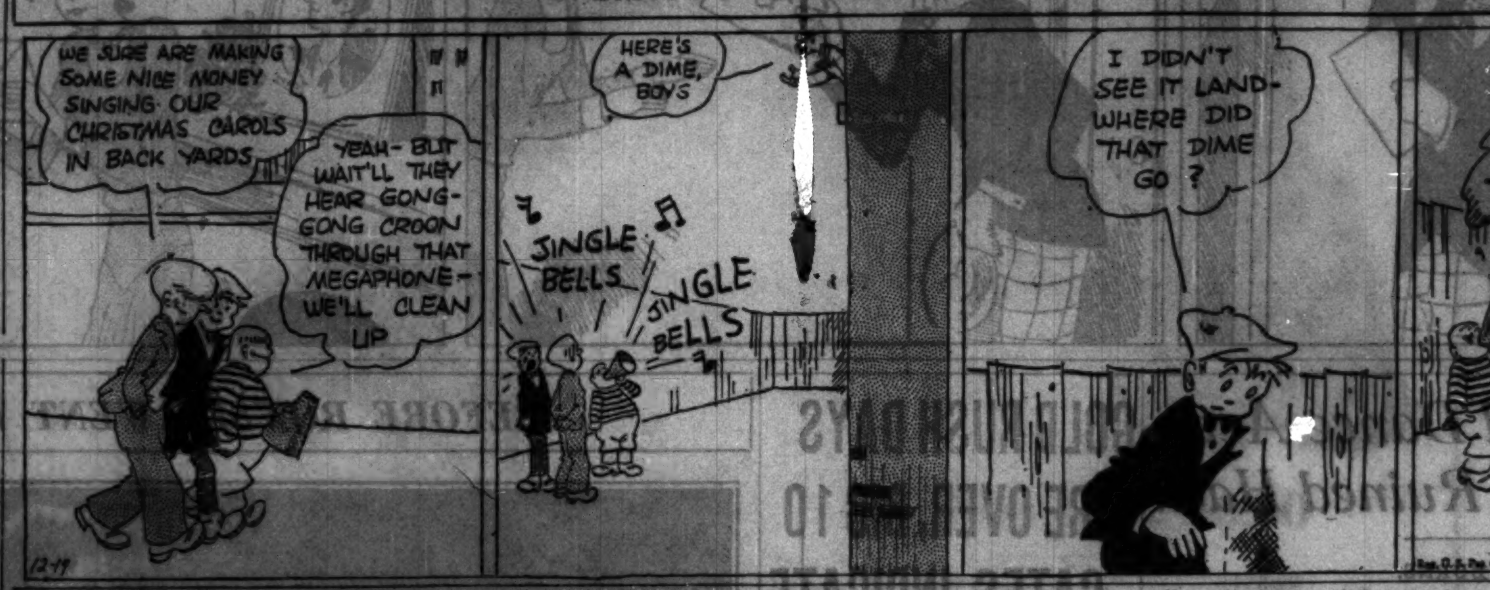

There will be four divisions: 12 years of age and under; 13 and 14; 15 and 16, and boys 17 and over. Mail entry to Ski Editor, Sports Department, Chicago Tribune. Entries close at midnight, Dec. 30. Neither THE TRIBUNE nor the Northwest Park district is responsible in case of injury to contestants.

Novices, 17 Years and Up, in Ski Meet

On the advice of Karl Nilsen, vice president of the National Ski association, the ski tournament which is sponsored by THE TRIBUNE and will be held at Riis park Jan. 3 has been extended to include all boys who are novice skiers. The age divisions are:

Boys, 12 years of age and under.
Boys, 13 and 14 years of age.
Boys, 15 and 16 years of age.
Boys, 17 years of age and over.

"Many boys have taken up the sport in recent years," Mr. Nilsen said yesterday. "Because a boy is 17 or 18 it doesn't follow that he is a good ski rider. For this reason, I think THE TRIBUNE will be doing more for the sport of skiing by permitting all novices to compete than if the age limits were 16."

Mr. Nilsen's suggestion coincides with the desire of THE TRIBUNE to promote the sport for as many boys as possible.

Officials of the northwest parks, who are coöperating in holding the tournament at Riis park, are preparing for the meet. The slide is located on a hill and the slope provides a natural setting for the jumpers when they leave the steel framework.

DEMPSEY ENDS HIS TOUR WITH THREE VICTORIES

Dempsey knocked out Herman Raschke of Watertown, 245 pounds, before their one round engagement had gone two minutes. In the final round Charles Paulson of Sioux City showed plenty of speed, but Dempsey allowed his wild swings to bounce off his shoulders and elbows without damage as he countered with solid punches.

M'MILLEN PINS BRONOWICZ IN STRAIGHT FALLS

Jim McMillen last night disposed of Frank Bronowicz in the main wrestling match of the heavyweight show at the Rainbo fronton. He won the first fall in 26:48 and the second in 11:55.

In the semi-windup, George Zaharias won the decision over Mike Romano after 30 minutes. The 30 pounds' difference in weight told the story. Hans Kampfer tossed Jack Washburn after nine minutes and twelve seconds, the winning hold being a body slam. Gino Garibaldi beat Lou Plummer in 16:40.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: Many years ago boat trips from Chicago to Michigan City and return were popular excursions, attracting large crowds because of the reasonable rate for transportation. When the restaurant men in the Indiana city heard the boat whistle they rushed out and changed their signs reading "Square Meal Inside, 25 Cents," to "Square Meal Inside, 35 Cents," for the benefit of the excursionists.

Old Doc Gray, who was a tape worm specialist, had an eating house between saloons and across the street from several more. He was a good sign painter and quite an adept with colored chalk on the side walk. About an hour before the boat came in he took a drink, then printed in red chalk on the walk, "Best Dinner in the City, 35 Cents—Strawberry Shortcake." After another libation he was likely to print after the first sign, still in red chalk, "I Take Them Without Pain, Heads and All." Another gulp of nectar, then in white chalk, "Seven Spaniel Pups for Sale Cheap." He usually derived business from all three of his ads. W. B. Manny.

Really.

Tired of this and tired of that—
Tired of reducing for fear I'll get fat,
Tired of hearing "How's my hair?"
Then wond'ring next spring "What'll they wear?"
Tired of those sorta soaks and cocktail glasses
That make up gin crazed night club masses.
To the devil with brilliants and sham,
And people who shout "Here I am!"
And what it's made of.
Belong to some one, share and bear—
Gee! To cuddle a babe and call it mine, all mine,
And drink of a kiss from lips so pure, so fine.
That is a goal to strive for, a pace to race,
Where there, face to face,
Will I reach this height where I turn to the right

East Eleven Leaves for West Tonight

Twenty-two college football stars, the pick of eastern and mid-western gridirons, will assemble at Dyche stadium in Evanston this afternoon to form the squad which will represent the east in the annual Shrine benefit game at San Francisco on New Year's day.

Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame half back, informed Coach Hanley yesterday that he would join the team in San Francisco, Dec. 24. Schwartz had announced previously that he would be unable to play because of injuries, but stated yesterday that with additional rest he would be ready to play again.

The squad, which was selected by Coach Hanley of Northwestern and Coach Kerr of Colgate, will leave tonight for the west coast. Upon arrival in San Francisco the team will proceed to Palo Alto, where training quarters will be established at Stanford university.

The roster:

TACKLES—Marvil and Engebretsen, Northwestern; McMurdo, Pittsburgh, and Scheibel, Colgate.

BOWEN, 37; HAMMOND, 23.

Bowen heavies scored their seventh practice victory, handing Hammond a 37 to 23 defeat. Bill Haarlow starred for the victors with 23 points. Hammond's lights won from Bowen, 23 to 10.

KANKAKEE LOSES.

Kankakee of the South Suburban league lost to Urbana, 40 to 13, last night in a non-league game at Kankakee. Kankakee's lights eked out an 11 to 10 victory over Urbana.

YORK, 15; HINSDALE, 12.

Led by Voels, who scored eight points, York defeated Hinsdale in a West Suburban conference game at Elmhurst last night, 15 to 12. Hinsdale's lights scored a 20 to 13 victory over York.

LIBERTYVILLE WINS.

Libertyville, northwest high school conference champion, scored its second victory of the season, defeating Lake Zurick, 40 to 15, last night at Libertyville. D. Murphy starred for the victors, scoring four baskets and three free throws. Libertyville lights won from Lake Zurick, 33 to 8.

BLOOM, 51; UNIVERSITY, 6.

Bloom heavyweights opened their South Suburban league schedule with a 51 to 6 victory over University High at Chicago Heights last night. Bloom lights won from University, 18 to 10.

BOB M'CARNES TO REJOIN PURPLE QUINTET TONIGHT

N. U. Battles Washington at Patten Gym.

Games Tonight

Washington U. at Northwestern.
Teachers at Chicago.
at Michigan.
at Iowa.
at Butler.

Northwestern's basketball team continues its heavy program by jumping back into action tonight against Washington university of St. Louis at Patten gym. Thursday night the Wildcats defeated an all star Knights of Columbus team, 33 to 14, and following tonight's game they go to South Bend for their annual clash with Notre Dame Monday night.

Washington, holder of the Missouri Valley championship, is expected to prove a strong foe for the Wildcats. The visitors overwhelmed Southern California, 33 to 26, while the Purple barely beat the Trojans, 22 to 20. Washington is coached by Don White, former Purdue star.

McCarnes to Play.

The Wildcats will be strengthened for tonight's encounter by the return of Capt. Bob McCarnes to the lineup. The Purple center has been out all season with a sprained ankle and has only recently been able to get back in uniform.

Bud Farber, the Wildcats' small but promising guard, seems to have clinched a regular job on the squad as a result of his showing in the games to date. Although considerably smaller than his mates, he makes up for his lack of size in speed and shiftiness. He is slated to start at guard tonight.

Probable lineups:

MAROONS IN ACTION

Western State Teachers college of Kalamazoo will provide Coach Nels Norgren with the second test of his Maroon basketball team tonight at Bartlett gymnasium. Judging by the showing the Teachers made against Michigan at Ann Arbor last week, tonight's game will be at least as hard a battle for the Maroons as the victory they won over Bradley last Saturday.

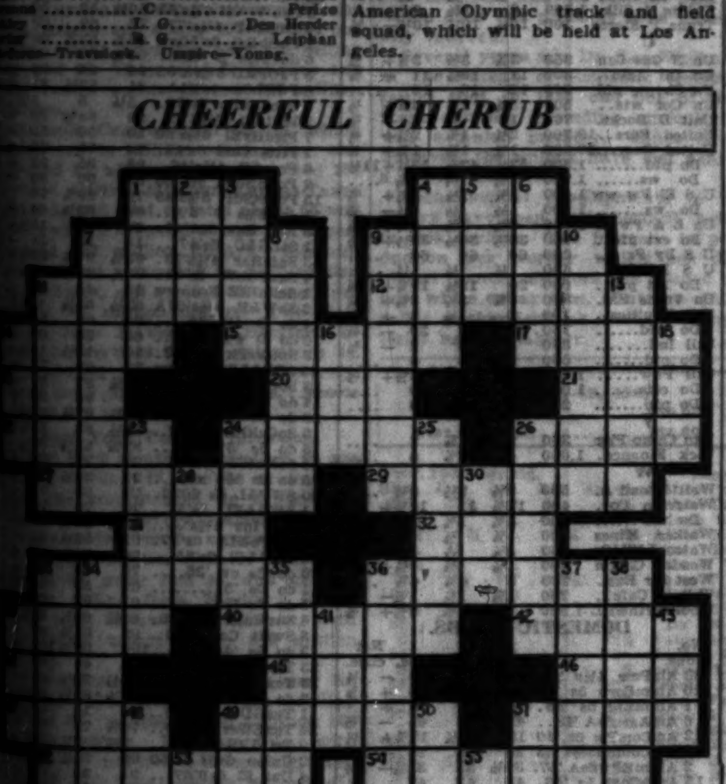

If the finishing touches on the new Maroon fieldhouse are completed on schedule, the game with Western State will be the last varsity basketball game in old Bartlett gymnasium. The next practice game on the Midway, with Carleton on Dec. 30, is booked for the fieldhouse, but it is possible that the clay floor will not be dry enough for the installation of a basketball court by that date.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Back at His Desk

How to Avoid a Headache from Shotgun

BY BOB BECKER.

Hunters who acquire headaches after considerable shooting with a shotgun may find a cure by studying the relationship between the weight of the gun and the loads that should be used in it.

As a rule most of us step into a sporting goods store and purchase a shotgun that "feels" right with respect to weight, drop and stock length. Then we shoot just about any shell we fancy. Of late the world has gone loco over heavy loads with lots of powder and shot that are supposed to drop ducks in the next county.

It is here that the hunter should consider a few statistics. How hard does your gun hit you? The load should show some balance with your gun. A heavy gun will take heavy loads and as a rule hand out no headaches. But a comparatively light gun shooting heavy loads means trouble.

Here is the point to consider: A recoil heavier than 28 foot pounds cannot be endured for any considerable time. The higher the velocity and the heavier the shot charge, the greater the recoil will be. So the wise hunter will seek to lessen the pounding from his gun by choosing loads which reduce the kick.

In a 6½ pound gun the maximum load to stay within the 28 foot pound recoil range is 2¾ drams of powder and 1¼ ounces of shot. In a 6¾ pound gun the ideal shell to stay under the 28 limit is 3 drams 1¼ ounces. This shell develops a recoil of 24.2 foot pounds. A 7½ pound shotgun will handle shells loaded with 3¼ drams of powder and 1¼ ounces of shot without discomfort to the shooter. The recoil of this shell measures 25.6 foot pounds.

All place winners automatically will qualify for the final tryouts for the American Olympic track and field squad, which will be held at Los Angeles.

SAYS NO WOMAN SHOULD BE MADE TO BEAR CHILD

Judge Eases Sentence of Abortionist.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 18.—Trenchant criticism of the birth control and abortion laws in Great Britain was delivered by Justice Henry A. McCardie, judicial philosopher on marriage and morals, as a farewell shot at the Leeds assizes today in his private war on reform. Judge McCardie has trampled across some of the stiffest legal and clerical doctrines in his campaign.

JUSTICE McARDIE.
[Acme Photo.]

A case in which one woman abortionist was accused of manslaughter because of the death of her young patient was the third Judge McCardie has dealt with at Leeds.

Sympathizes With Accused.

He unleashed another bolt against the hostile camp of bishops and other opponents in his opinion when expressing sympathy for the accused who was sentenced to seven months in prison.

The woman was originally charged with murder but the grand jury dismissed this indictment.

"The very last thing you desired was the death of this woman," Judge McCardie said to the defendant in passing sentence. "The charge of willful murder expresses the ignorance and the brutality with which the law on abortion is too often administered. It is plain to me that many of those who assist to uphold the present law of abortion are wholly ignorant of the grave social problem which not only besets but menaces the nation at the present time.

Finds No Extortion.

"I cannot think it is right that a woman should be forced to bear a child against her will, and I hope that the era of savagery in connection with these cases is drawing to an end. The amounts you have charged, 77 cents and 94 cents, are very significant figures in connection with this social problem which I have commented upon. They also show that there was no attempt at extortion or blackmail on your part."

BURGLAR'S LOOT, PAIR OF SHOES; TO DIE IN CHAIR

Winston-Salem, N. C., Dec. 18.—(AP)—John Moore, Negro convicted of first degree burglary in which the loot was a pair of shoes, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair at the state prison Jan. 29, 1932.

Judge John H. Harwood, bound by the jury's verdict to impose the death sentence, directed a letter to the warden of the state penitentiary asking that Moore be given a thorough examination for mental deficiency and stating that the jurors had recommended mercy for the prisoner. The jury's recommendation has no legal standing in North Carolina.

[Under the laws of North Carolina conviction for burglary of a dwelling in the night time carries a mandatory death penalty.]

CONFESS THEFT OF HUNDREDS OF REFRIGERATORS

Five men and a woman, arrested yesterday by Capt. Michael Grady of the Kensington station, have confessed the theft of several hundred electric refrigerators from new and vacant buildings in the last eighteen months.

Capt. Grady said he had reason to believe that the gang had stolen a thousand of the boxes, with a total value of more than $250,000. More than a hundred have been traced already to buyers who obtained them from the thieves and thirty-seven had been hauled over to the Kensington station last night.

Maria Daly Rites Today; Resident Here 72 Years

Funeral services for Miss Maria L. Daly, 80 years old, who died of heart disease Thursday night in the Methodist Old People's home at 1415 Foster avenue, will be held at 11 o'clock today in the chapel at the home. Burial will be in the Oakwoods cemetery. Born in Washington, D. C., Miss Daly came to Chicago when she was 8 years old, and had lived here since. She made her home in the Chicago training school for missions at 4949 Indiana avenue for thirty-three years until she entered the old people's home six months ago.

LITCHFIELD, Ill.—(AP)—John L. Cartwright, 67, life long resident here and for many years a merchant, died of apoplexy.

FORMER CARDINAL, WHO DISAGREED WITH POPE, IS DEAD AT 85

ARICCIA, Italy, Dec. 18.—(AP)—One of the most vivid careers in the Roman Catholic church came to an end today with the death of former Cardinal Louis Billot. He was 85.

The man, who several years ago was the center of a bitter fight between the holy see and the Action Française movement, died in a humble cell at the Jesuit monastery here. He had resigned his cardinalate in 1927, supposedly in protest against the severity of the pope's campaign, which ended with placing L'Action Française, French royalist newspaper, on the index expurgatorius.

Pope Pius X. made him a cardinal in 1911. He was the first cardinal to resign in many generations. After he put away the red hat he became a simple priest, but his name was stricken from the Pontifical Annual.

GUN DEATH HELD ACCIDENTAL BY CORONER'S JURY

A corner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death yesterday afternoon in the case of Carroll H. Harrington, chief statistician for Paul H. Davis & Co., La Salle street brokers. Mr. Harrington was found dead yesterday morning in the basement of his home at 607 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette, with a shotgun wound in his chest.

The statistician's father-in-law, Harry B. Hurd, an attorney, told the jury he had gone hunting with Harrington several times and had observed his inexperience with firearms. It was Mr. Hurd's opinion that the gun had been discharged accidentally as Harrington was cleaning it, a conclusion borne out by the finding of a bottle of cleaning fluid and a bundle of rags beside the gun. Harrington intended going hunting with relatives in De Kalb tomorrow.

Harrington was 31 years old, a graduate of Northwestern university in 1924, and an employé of the Davis concern since 1928. He is survived by a widow and a son.

INVENTORY OF WALTER STRONG ESTATE FILED

The inventory of the estate of the late Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, was approved yesterday by Nuncio J. Bonelli, assistant to the probate judge. According to the listing the major portion of the estate was contained in two blocks of the Daily News, Inc., stock, 233,650 shares of the common, and 957 preferred. Other stocks included 496 shares of the Chicago Times company, 100 shares of the Terminal National bank of Chicago, and 300 shares of the Pantepec Oil company of Venezuela. There was no real estate listed.

New $1,400,000 French Embassy in U. S. Approved

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Appropriation of $1,400,000 for a new French embassy at Washington, D. C., was approved today by the chamber of deputies finance committee.

POLICE CHIEF OF CALUMET PARK HURT IN CRASH

Matthew Wielgorecki, 35 years old, chief of police of Calumet Park, was critically injured yesterday when his automobile was demolished by an Illinois Central suburban electric train at Ashland avenue in the suburb. The accident occurred a few doors from the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Wielgorecki, whom he had been visiting. He was taken in an unconscious condition to the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island.

Four deaths in Cook county yesterday brought the toll since Jan. 1 to 1,233. The victims:

Gust Gustafson, 65 years old, 7089 South Chicago avenue, a laborer. Died in the Jackson Park hospital after being run down at Cottage Grove avenue and 71st street. The driver was Harry Martinz, 6930 Yates avenue.

Mrs. Tena Reed, colored, 38 years old, 3155 Calumet avenue. Died in the county hospital from injuries suffered on Dec. 16 when she was struck by the car of a hit and run motorist at 37th street and Michigan avenue.

Daniel Decker, 62 years old, 3239 North Hoyne avenue. Fatally injured last night at Hamilton avenue and Addison street when struck by the automobile of Reginald Harter, 25, of 4043 North Ashland avenue, a student.

Eugene L. Atkinson, 68 years old, 4163 Addison street. Died early this morning in the Belmont hospital of injuries suffered last night when he was hit by the car of Nick Barber, 30, of 2844 Abbott court, at Addison street and Kildare avenue.

GOV. DAVIS SAYS PHILIPPINES DO NOT KNOW WANT

Because of an old Spanish custom which dictates that persons who have money shall take care of their needy relatives, inhabitants of the Philippine islands are not in need of organized poor relief, Dwight F. Davis, governor general of the island group, said yesterday. Gov. Davis passed through Chicago en route to Washington.

"This old custom is called the pariente," Gov. Davis explained. "According to the tradition those families which have money or food to spare take care of their poor relatives. There isn't much suffering anyway because of the climate and the low cost of living. The natives can live on fruit and other natural produce if necessary."

Gov. Davis was accompanied by his 20 year old daughter, Cynthia, who departed yesterday for St. Louis. After a day in Washington Gov. Davis will bring another daughter, Dorothy, to join Cynthia in St. Louis, where they will spend Christmas.

Chinese General Murdered by Hosts at Dinner Table

KAIFENG, Honan, China, Dec. 19 [Saturday].—(AP)—There was another example today of the Chinese dinner table killing technique. Two provincial regimental commanders invited their commanding officer, Gen. Peng Chi-chen, to dine with them. In the midst of the meal they shot him dead. It is a method that is frequently.

Slays Invalid Daughter, Then Commits Suicide

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Rather than longer witness the suffering of her invalid daughter, Mrs. Rose Bud Harris, 40, of Glendale, a suburb, killed Helen Harris, 20, by firing eight bullets into the daughter's body, and the mother then committed suicide by inhaling gas.

DR. C. H. KOYL, 76, NOTED RAILROAD SCIENTIST, DIES

Dr. Charles Herschel Koyl, 76 years old, widely known for his scientific work in the railway field, died yesterday of pneumonia in St. Francis hospital in Evanston. His home was at 6800 Sheridan road.

Dr. Koyl had been engineer in charge of water treatment for the Milwaukee railroad since 1920 and held a similar position with the Great Northern railroad from 1912 to 1919. He was the originator of methods of water treatment for locomotive use which saved railroads throughout the country millions of dollars in maintenance and repair of engines, associates said. He was also the inventor of a number of railroad signal devices.

He was born in Cobourg, Ontario, attended Victoria college in the same town, and did post-graduate work at Johns Hopkins university. He was a scientific adviser to the New York street department in 1895-'96 and was regarded as an authority on the disposal of municipal wastes.

His widow, Mrs. Adele Sanford Koyl, and a daughter, Mrs. H. S. Baker of New York, survive. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Monday in the Rogers Park Congregational church, Ashland and Morse avenues.

G. W. ROSSETER NOMINATED FOR A. OF C. PRESIDENT

George W. Rossetter, president of the accounting firm bearing his name and for years prominent in business and civic circles, was nominated last night to succeed Col. Robert Isham Randolph as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Col. Randolph's retirement after two years at the head of the association was occasioned in part, it was announced, by his recent election to the presidency of the Mississippi Valley association.

Other selections made at the meeting of the nominating committee were: James B. Forgan Jr., vice president; Robert C. Ross, vice president, domestic commerce; Charles E. Herrick, vice president, foreign commerce; Joseph K. Brittain, vice president industrial department and public improvements; John L. Coyne, vice president convention bureau; C. L. Rice, vice president civic affairs; George J. Crossman, general secretary; Laurence B. Robbins, general treasurer.

The election will be held Jan. 15.

COLDS GO

"Imagine—a miserable cold yesterday—none today"

"My method is simple and sure: the minute I feel a cold coming on, I take a few tablets of Bromo Quinine—that's the one remedy that gets at the cause and eliminates it quickly from the system."

NAPOLEON BRANT IS DEAD; BORN AT STATE-MADISON

Napoleon Brant, 79 years old, who was born in the vicinity of what is now State and Madison streets, died suddenly last night in his room in the Hotel Tyler, 2124 South Michigan avenue. He was a retired lawyer. Mr. Brant was a member of an old Chicago family. He was a Mason, and often boasted he had missed only one Masonic meeting of his lodge in 44 years, and that because of a snowstorm. Surviving Mr. Brant is a son, Morton N. Brant, a civil engineer, of Petersburg, Va.

FILE BILL TO FORECLOSE ON LUELLA FLATS

Committee Hopes to Avoid Receivership.

BY AL CHASE.

Bondholders in the Luella building, at the southeast corner of 71st street and Luella avenue, will be notified today by T. E. Williams, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee, of the filing of a bill of foreclosure on Thursday to protect the property. The committee is made up of the following: Holman D. Pettibone, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, chairman; Barnet L. Rosset, chairman of the board of directors of the Phillip State bank and Trust company; Herman G. Amling, Melrose Park, and S. J. Campbell, chairman of the First Carroll County State bank, Mount Carroll, Ill.

The Luella apartments were erected in 1925 and were financed by a bond issue of $155,000 first mortgage 6½ per cent bonds, underwritten by Holzer, Inc. The issue has now been reduced to approximately $130,000. The property fronts 125 feet on 71st street and seventy-six feet on Luella avenue. It contains six stores and thirty apartments. The land and building were valued, at the time of the issue, at $235,000. Samuel Schmalhausen is the owner. The interest was defaulted on Oct. 20, 1931.

Prevented April Default.

"At the request of the owner of the building the bondholders' protective committee coöperated with him and through an extension in payment of a few weeks prevented a default of maturities due on April 20, 1931," said Mr. Williams last night.

"The committee by the same methods attempted to work out a solution of the maturities due on Oct. 20, 1931, but was unsuccessful. Accordingly a bill of foreclosure was filed yesterday to protect the bondholders' property. The committee will use its best efforts to manage the building without the necessity of having a receiver appointed.

"We have been unable to secure a statement of earnings of the property but it is presumed that the revenue was insufficient to pay maturities which became due Oct. 20, 1931. In order that the committee may take such action as it deems necessary to protect the property and realize on it either through sale or reorganization, it is imperative that bondholders deposit their bonds at once by registered mail or in person with the Chicago Title and Trust company, depositary. A certificate of deposit will be issued at once to each bondholder who complies."

$425,000 Bonds Received.

Mr. Williams stated that, according to the tax records, $1,600 was paid on taxes assessed for 1928 amounting to $3,212, and the balance of $1,612 protested. Two thousand dollars were paid on the 1929 tax assessment amounting to $3,637 and the balance of $1,637 protested.

The Realty Investors' Trust, which is liquidating defaulted bond issues sold by Baer, Eisendrath & Co., announced last night that it has received for deposit, during the month of November and for the month of December to date, bonds aggregating $425,000. These are in addition to the $7,500,000 of bonds deposited prior to Nov. 1.

Chicago Surface Lines November Revenue Off

The monthly report of the Chicago Surface Lines, filed with the state commerce commission yesterday, showed total revenue rides, including transfers, for November of 67,761,471, a decrease of 7,028,552, as compared with November, 1930. Gross earnings were $4,656,040, a decrease of $481,667. These figures show some improvement over October. The loss in business during that month, as compared with the corresponding month of the previous year, was 7,640,016 revenue rides, or 611,464 greater than the November decrease. Residue receipts in November were $224,709; divisible receipts were $112,639, of which the city's share was $62,601, and the companies' share $81,137.

OMIT DIVIDEND ON N. AMERICAN CAR PREFERRED

Directors of the North American Car corporation yesterday voted to omit the quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share, which is due on the preferred stock at this time. President N. L. Howard stated that while the preferred dividend for the year will be more than twice earned, the funds provided will be applied in paying of maturing equipment trust certificates. This course is necessary because of the condition of the bond market, he said.

Directors of the American States Public Service company deferred action on the quarterly dividend of 40 cents due on the class A stock. Earnings, it was reported, amounted to $2.14 a share on the stock in the year ended Oct. 31. The A stock is entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of $1.60 annually.

The regular quarterly dividend of $1 a share on the common stock of the Cudahy Packing company was authorized by directors of the company yesterday.

ROCKEFELLER AND MORGAN JOIN ON GAS PIPE LINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—The Morgan and Rockefeller interests have joined forces in many states east of the Mississippi river in preparation for the supply of vast quantities of natural gas to principal cities on the Atlantic seaboard and northern New York state. This united effort will result from negotiations concluded today between Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, natural gas executives and the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, approved at a meeting of the Columbia board this afternoon.

Under the arrangement, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has acquired a 20 per cent interest in the new Kentucky-Pennsylvania natural gas pipe lines of the Columbia system, which cross West Virginia, Virginia, and Maryland, supplying Washington, D. C., and other important communities, and has arranged to supply 20 per cent of the natural gas to be delivered through these lines.

RAW SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP)—There was no change in raw sugar today and demand was only moderate and mostly of a filling in character. No sales were confirmed, but it was rumored that Cuban sugar from store was purchased by a local refiner at 3.10c delivered.

Futures sold down to the season's low record levels today, under increased liquidation and selling by producing connections, prompted by disappointment over the failure of the previous close.

RAILWAY BONDS POUNDED DOWN DESPITE ASSETS

BY O. A. MATHER.

"It isn't a bond market any more—it is an auction sale, and a distress sale, at that." This was the comment made to me yesterday by the head of the bond department of one of Chicago's largest banks. He cited not only the unprecedentedly low prices for all descriptions of bonds, but the chaotic situation in which sales of listed bonds often are recorded at variations of 5 to 10 points from the last previous transactions.

Railroad bonds, which since the beginning of railroad history in this country have generally been regarded as premier investments, probably have suffered more, as a group, than any other description of funded obligations. Of course, the railroads have been hard hit by depression and circumscribed earnings even in prosperous times. It is almost unthinkable that the great railroad system in this country is going to pot, yet the bonds of many railroads, even those of the strongest carriers, are now selling at prices that might be expected as the result of actual receiverships.

Are Prices Justified?

Let's take a look at some of these bonds and their prices on Thursday or before yesterday's sharp advance. Some of them are mortgages on specific pieces of property and others are general obligations backed by the general credit of a railroad. Then let's try to decide whether even the present prices are justified.

There were Atchison 4s, adjustment 4s, and convertible 4½s selling between 75 and 85. The total of these issues outstanding is about 230 million dollars. There are other obligations, of course, but the Atchison has assets exceeding 1¼ billion dollars. Baltimore and Ohio has $75,000,000 first gold 5s selling in the low 80s and other bonds ranging down to 37, but its assets exceed 1 billion 152 million dollars. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy general 4s, with $85,000,000 issued, are selling around 84. Chicago Great Western 4s, a $35,000,000 issue, are around 40. The road's assets exceed 150 million dollars.

North Western Bonds.

The Chicago and North Western has 6½s, first and refunding 5s, and 5¾s and 4½s, these issues totaling about $72,000,000, selling at prices ranging from 88 down to 28. The road's assets exceed 746 million dollars. Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific refunding 4s and the 4½s, totaling about 178 million, range from 26 to 62. Assets exceed 549 million dollars.

Erie refunding 5s, prior lien 4s, and general lien 4s total around 120 millions and are selling between 27 and 55. Assets are above 623 million dollars. Great Northern 5½s are selling around 66. They total 30 millions and the road's assets exceed 787 million dollars.

Illinois Central gold 4s, of which there are 24 million outstanding, sell around 82, although assets exceed 752 million dollars. Missouri-Kansas-Texas prior 5s and first 4s total about 88 million and sell between 53 and 70. Assets exceed 369 million dollars. Missouri Pacific first refunding 5s, a 17 million dollar issue, sell around 45. Assets are above 683 million dollars. Two New York, New Haven and Hartford issues, convertible 6s and debenture 4s, sell around 80 and 46, respectively. They total about 58 millions. Assets exceed 586 million dollars.

New York Central Situation.

New York Central debenture 6s are selling around 73, the 5s around 63, and the consolidated 4s around 60. These issues aggregate about 165 millions and the road's assets exceed 1 billion 800 million dollars. Northern Pacific 6s, prior lien 4s, and general 3s are selling from 76 down to 50. They total around 267 millions, with the road's assets above 868 million dollars.

Pennsylvania general 4½s and 5s, totaling 175 millions, are selling around 69. Assets exceed 2 billion 166 million dollars. Reading 4½s, with about 59 million outstanding, sell around 68. Total assets exceed 478 million dollars. Southern Pacific 4½s are around 54. The issue is 29 million. The road's assets exceed 1 billion 175 million dollars. Union Pacific 4½s, a 38 million dollar issue, are selling around 79. Assets are above 1 billion 100 million dollars.

Investments in railroad bonds are vital to the great American insurance companies and, consequently, to their [illegible] million policyholders. In addition, both bonds and stocks are held by probably 2,000,000 individuals. The Bureau of Railway News and Statistics estimated there are 1,250,000 holders of railroad bonds and 800,000 stockholders. It also estimates railroad employes at 1,254,274. On this basis holders of railroad securities outnumber employes nearly two to one.

Annual Union Dues Put at $250,000,000

BY SCRUTATOR.

Wage earners in the United States pay out in union dues about a quarter of a billion dollars annually. An exact figure cannot be had, but various estimates place the total somewhere between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

This sum is contributed by approximately four million organized workers throughout the country, including the 2,961,000 claimed by the American Federation of Labor.

Union dues vary from two to more than ten dollars per month in addition to special assessments levied for out of work and strike funds. Many unions keep secret the amount of dues paid and most of them make no reports on which a satisfactorily accurate estimate can be based, but the quarter billion figure is regarded as conservative.

Even the membership figures are elastic. The American Federation of Labor's report of a paidup membership totaling 2,961,096 is considered inflated by many experts.

Independent Groups.

Outside this organization are other unions with a total membership of approximately a million. These independent groups include different types of unions from the conservative railroad brotherhoods that began as mutual benefit societies to the plain racket with some gangster at its head levying tribute on an unwilling but helpless body of workers.

The four railroad brotherhoods in 1929 had a total membership of about 425,000. The number is probably smaller now as a result of reductions in railway employment. There was a drop of ten thousand between 1926 and 1929.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, the other important independent group, also has lost members. Its total in 1929 was 125,000, a decrease of 25,000 from 1926.

Possibly Under Million.

The aggregate membership of all bona fide trade unions in the nation, including those affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, was 4,331,261 two years ago, against 4,443,523 in 1926. Today the total is probably under the four million mark.

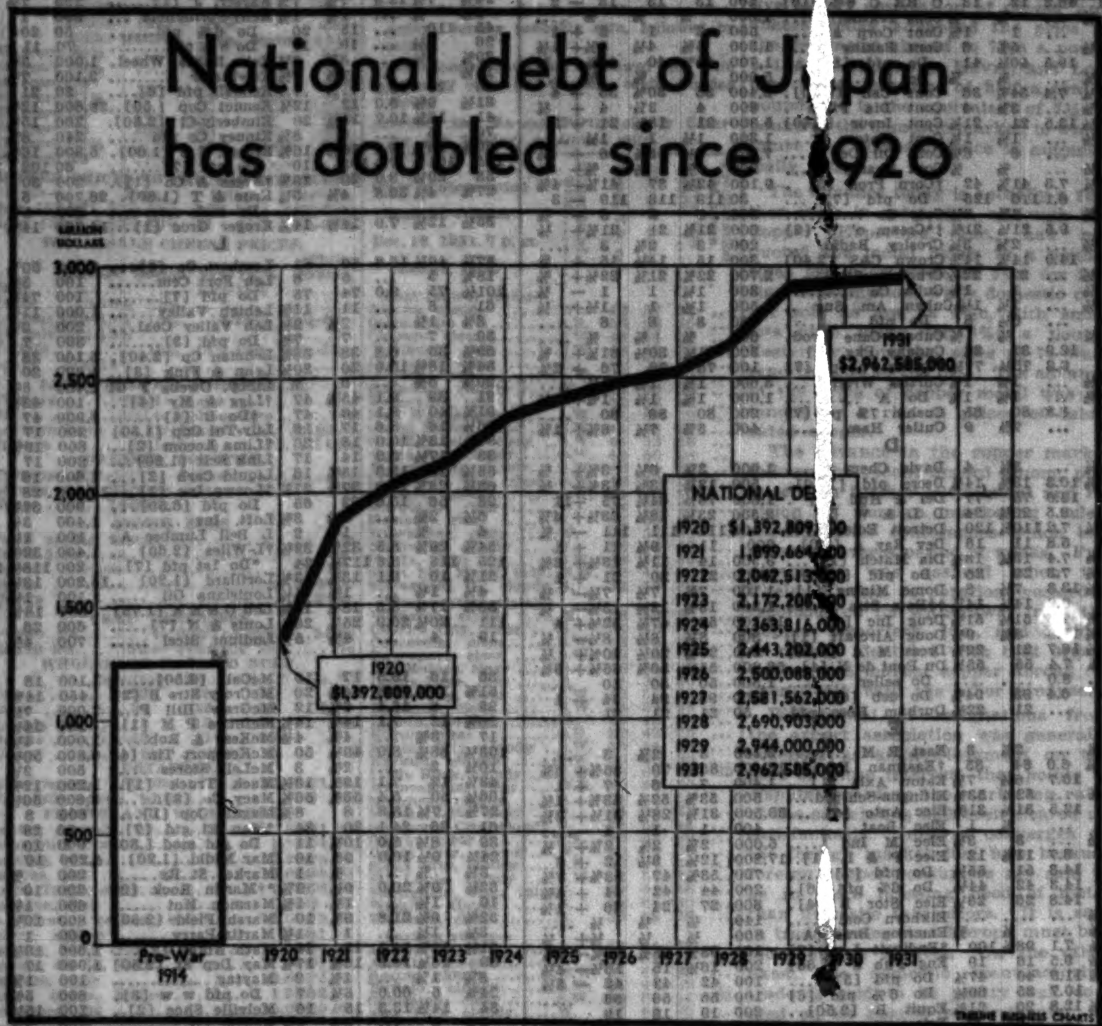

Twice during the last fifty years union membership in this country has attained high peaks, with a subsequent falling off. The highest level was reached in 1920 when after several years of wartime prosperity the total rose to 5,110,800. Since then there has been a gradual decline. The principal losses have been in the industries in which the greatest gains were made in the period from 1915 to 1920. In many industries which had been partially unionized during the war labor organization has almost entirely disappeared.

Depression Setback.

The depression of 1921-'22, bringing in widespread unemployment, was the first setback experienced by the unions. The present period of reduced employment has had a similar effect. Practically all groups have lost members and the amount paid in union dues has probably been materially lowered.

Several years ago Dr. Leo Wollman of the bureau of economic research found that in 1920 one out of five wage earners, excluding agriculture, was a union member. Since then, however, the unions have lost nearly a million members.

Technological developments in industry have been an important factor in this decline. The increase in production per worker which has displaced manual workers has opened up new white collar jobs. But the white collar worker isn't as good union material as the laborer.

BOND MART STAGES SPECTACULAR RALLY; RAILS LEAD ADVANCE

New York, Dec. 18.—(AP)—The long enfeebled bond market achieved one of the most spectacular comebacks in its history today. Gains in individual issues ranged from 1 to 12 points. The turnover of $28,000,000 par value was one of the largest of the year.

The rail liens were in the forefront of the advance. Rails up 6@9 points included Santa Fe convertible 4½s, Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5s, Chesapeake corporation 5s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Big Four 4½s, Denver and Rio Grande 5s, Kansas City Southern refunding 5s, several of the New York Central, New Haven, Missouri Pacific, and Southern Pacific issues. Union Pacific 4s gained 4 and Pennsylvania 5s 5¾.

Utilities were also buoyant. Philadelphia company gold 5s made one of the widest gains, of 8¾ points. American Telephone issues were also strong. The convertible 4½s gained 8 points and the debenture 5s 3¾. In the industrials the maximum gain appeared in Youngstown Sheet and Tube 5s of 1978, which shot up 12 points to 57.

There were also wide gains in the foreigns. Several of the Argentines were up 3@5. Germans were generally higher, the two government issues rising more than 3. The United Kingdom 5½s, however, yielded a fraction. The United States governments eased a little, presumably reflecting a firming of money rates.

Margin Trade on London Exchange to Be Resumed

LONDON, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Another step toward resumption of normal trading on the stock exchange was taken today with announcement by the exchange committee that the regulation prohibiting trading on margin is repealed, effective next Monday.

CHICAGO STOCKS IN SHARP RALLY; TRADING SPEEDS

Insull Issues Up; Bonds Gain.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Sharing in the general advance in security and commodity markets, stocks on the Chicago exchange rallied yesterday and finished the day with gains over Thursday's final prices. Trading was carried on at a fast rate throughout the period with more than 250,000 changing hands.

The trading began with prices sinking again but a sharp reversal of trend set in as the New York ticker flashed higher prices and the bond market started on a vigorous recovery.

Insull Bonds Rally.

Selling in the Insull issues abated and these stocks after touching new low prices in the early trade recovered and closed the day with net gains. The previous day's losses were wiped out in some instances and substantially reduced in others.

The most spectacular recovery was staged in Insull Utility debentures, which after selling as low as 23¾ during the morning, turned about to climb to 35 for a net gain of ten points. The turnover in the issue was unusually heavy involving debentures of a par value of $192,000.

Middle West Utilities and Insull common were in better demand and were commanding prices fractionally above the previous quotations when the final gong halted trading. The preferred stocks in group were generally overlooked and made only slight recoveries from the previous day's lows.

Swift Reports Income.

Swift & Co., was higher in anticipation of the earnings report which was issued after the close of the market. The statement showed net earnings for the year of $3,235,201 which was better than the earlier estimates of officials.

WHEAT DOES AN ABOUT FACE TO BOOST PRICES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A marked change in sentiment occurred in wheat overnight, and the market yesterday was strong from the start. The strong rally in stocks and report of 1,500,000 bu or more Manitobas being sold for export resulted in general buying. At no time were prices more than ⅛c below the close of the previous day, while at the top May showed an advance of 2⅝c over the early low and the finish was at net gains of 1⅛@2⅛c. December closed at 54⅝c; May, 58@58⅛, and July, 56¾@56⅝c.

According to opinions expressed by traders for some time only the demoralization prevailing in the stock market has prevented an advance in wheat. The rapidity with which the latter advanced yesterday after securities started upward gave considerable color to the theory that stability in financial circles would be reflected in a higher level of prices for grain.

Selling against offers was the main factor in checking the upturn in wheat, although there was some selling here against purchases of May at Winnipeg around 5c difference. Relative strength in Liverpool was a factor early, but the English market finished easy, a drop of 11 points in sterling to 22.34 offsetting the advance in quotations, and the net loss there for the day was equal to 1⅛@1⅜c per bu, with December finishing at 51⅛c.

European Acreage Large.

Winnipeg wheat failed fully to reflect the action of Chicago, although closing 1⅛@1⅝c higher, with December at 60⅝c in Canadian funds. The exchange rate was lower, and, based on gold, Winnipeg finished at about 48⅛c, against 48⅛c the previous day. Buenos Aires was ⅛@⅝c higher at the last, with the December closing at 40⅝c. Hedging pressure is being experienced in the latter market.

An increase of around 1,500,000 acres winter wheat is estimated in Europe this season by Broomhall, as compared with last year, while the Russian plan calling for an increase of 7,000,000 acres, was 90 per cent completed by Nov. 20, he claims. There was some evening up during the day in domestic markets for the American government report on the acreage and condition due after the close.

Corn Market Rallies.

While deliveries of 1,065,000 bu cash corn on December contracts tended to check operations on the bull side of futures yesterday, sufficient buying developed on the strength in wheat and stocks to lift prices around 1⅝c over the early low and the finish was ⅞@1⅞c higher. December was 36⅝c, May 41⅞c, and July 43⅛c at the last. Commission houses and shorts were on the buying side, while the bulge was checked by selling against offers.

Oats finished ⅛@⅝c higher, with December 24⅝@24⅝c; May, 26⅝c, and July, 25⅞c. There was some selling of December on the deliveries of 254,000 bu, the heaviest so far this month, but this was offset to some extent by the strength in corn.

Germany has bought Canadian rye of late, according to seaboard reports, as ocean room was booked to take out the grain. There was further business in evidence with Europe yesterday, but the quantities were not given. Futures showed a strong undertone and gained 1⅛@2⅝c, with July leading. December closed at 41⅝c; May 46⅝c, and July, 46⅞c. At no time were prices below the finish of the previous day, with commission houses persistent buyers.

Railways Pick Committee to Meet Unions

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—Acting in response to an invitation by the railway labor unions, the presidents of the nation's railroads today appointed a committee empowered to "negotiate to a conclusion" with the Railway Labor Executives' association on wages and unemployment. Daniel Willard is chairman. It was made clear in informed quarters that this action was taken in the belief that it would lead to a voluntary 10 per cent cut in wages and a consequent saving of $200,000,000 annually to the railroads.

Railroad officials who have hitherto been noncommittal on the prospects of a settlement of the wage question on the basis of friendly negotiation did not hesitate to say that they felt they had accomplished a great step in the rehabilitation of railroad credit. A sharp rally in railroad securities accompanied the action.

Will Ask Cut.

Since a voluntary reduction would not apparently be legal unless accompanied with a formal notice within the requirements of the railway labor act, the presidents also authorized the serving of notice on the unions, as provided in the act, of a desire to reduce wages by 15 per cent. This notice would be automatically canceled on the reaching of a voluntary agreement. The notice is expected to be issued on Monday.

The managements have ascertained that the labor forces will not construe serving of the notice except as a compliance with the procedure required by the railway labor act. One important railway brotherhood requested that such a notice be issued before its members be asked to accept a voluntary reduction in pay.

Already Agreed.

When the railroad presidents assembled in the Biltmore hotel, the eastern and southeastern regional conferences had already agreed to meeting labor's request for a joint conference. Sentiment in the western group was reported as divided.

The morning session was occupied largely by an address by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who was in Chicago last week following the proceedings of the meeting of 1,500 union chairmen. Mr. Willard spoke at length, his speech, and the answering of questions, occupying two hours. The western presidents then left the general meeting and convened on another floor to discuss what would be their action.

Western Lines Come In.

Later the western presidents announced their decision to follow the eastern and southeastern groups in their policy of conciliation toward labor. About two hours later the meeting adjourned.

The full names and affiliations of the presidents appointed to the committee are as follows: L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central, James E. Gorman of the Rock Island, L. W. Baldwin of the Missouri Pacific, C. A. Wickersham of the Atlanta, Birmingham and West Point railroad [an affiliate of the Atlantic Coast line], H. D. Pollard of the Central of Georgia, A. C. Needles of the Norfolk and Western, Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio, J. J. Pelley of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, and Charles E. Denney of the Erie.

Cut Not Retroactive.

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 18.—(AP)—The labor department of Ottawa has ruled the 10 per cent cut in wages of the railway running trades must not be made retroactive. Text of the departmental ruling was made public today by general union chairmen.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—Wall street started getting in trim for Christmas today. The supposedly extinct bull party suddenly came to life and put on a stock exchange whoopee party that gave the town its biggest thrill since the ill fated Hoover moratorium boom of last spring.

Prices of shares in hundreds of the country's leading industrial, utility and railroad enterprises were bid up anywhere from $1 to $15, adding many millions of dollars to their combined rating. Trading hit the swiftest pace in months, the high speed tickers being repeatedly distanced for minutes at a time. The turnover was nearly twice that of the average of the last few weeks, approximating 3,600,000 shares.

There were reasons aplenty for the sudden change in sentiment in the country's big financial center. One of the foremost of them was a report a group of big Wall street bankers, known to have been in conference yesterday, had entered into a "loose-jointed" agreement to buy stocks at the prevailing bargain prices as their "bits" toward a return of market prosperity.

Cheerful News.

Another was an understanding that the railroad executives in session here today were in a fair way toward an amicable agreement with their unionized employes for a 10 per cent cut in wages, and still a third was a rumor that some two or three millions of American money had tided over a wabbly foreign institution supposed to be on the verge of collapse.

The remarks of Sir George Paish, noted British economist, in which he gave it as his opinion that "the world is standing on the threshold of the greatest prosperity it has ever experienced," also undoubtedly had some effect in raising the drooping spirits of the trading community.

Railroad shares led the upturn, spurting 2 to 10 points in the liveliest kind of trading. New York Central and Atchison were in the van of the forward march here, the first named rising more than 4 and the western road 6 points. Norfolk and Western and Union Pacific each jumped ahead 7½ points above last night's close. Union Pacific had slumped to 71¼ in its earlier dealings, making its recovery from its low of the day nearly 10 points.

Gains Eleven Points.

Delaware and Hudson made the widest gain of the group—11 points. Enthusiasm for the rails grew in the afternoon and activity in this quarter of the market was nearing the boiling point at the close.

Pivotal stocks in other groups rallied briskly, United States Steel awoke from its lethargy to register a net advance of 4⅛ points. The old leader closed at 41⅝, which compares with its early morning record low of 36.

American Telephone finished the session at 121⅛, up 6⅝; American Tobacco B at 71¼, up 6; Auburn Auto at 140, up 15¼; Allied Chemical at 71, up 6; Consolidated Gas at 64, up 4; Western Union at 46½, up 3⅝, and Peoples Gas at 115, up 6½ points.

Wheat Bulge Helps.

News of a substantial bulge in wheat prices helped to accelerate the rally in the afternoon, redounding particularly to the benefit of farm implement and mail order shares. Case Threshing Machine rose 5⅝ points, Sears Roebuck 2⅝, and Ingersoll Rand 3⅝ points.

In spite of the market's improved tone there were further sharp declines in a number of stocks, notably those of the preferred class. Losses of 3 to 10 points were to be found in these preferreds: Allied Chemical, American Ice, Gold Dust, Thatcher, U. S. Gypsum. On the other hand, extraordinary advances were scored by New Haven, Goodyear, United corporation, and Steel preferreds. The buying was broad and many orders for big blocks came out.

N. Y. Stock Exchange Seat at Lowest Price Since '25

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—Prolonged unsettlement in the security markets was reflected today in the announcement that arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock exchange seat at $122,000. That is the lowest price for membership since 1925 and came on the heels of the formal statement of the proposed sale of three seats for $129,000, $127,000, and $125,000.

Peoples Gas Light and Coke.

I hold a number of shares of Peoples Gas Light and Coke. I do not know if it is preferred or common, but it is the 8 per cent stock quoted daily on the New York Stock Exchange. Would it be advisable to sell my stock?—A. T. L.

Peoples Gas Light and Coke company supplies gas to Chicago without competition. Prior to the war the company enjoyed good earnings. With increases in prices of labor and raw materials and inadequate rate increases earnings suffered and the dividend due in 1917 was passed. When a readjustment of rates was effected the company showed a good recovery.

New selling methods have had a beneficial effect. Increased use of gas for household heating has counterbalanced to some extent decreased use of gas in industries.

Gross revenues for 1930 were $35,969,000, 5 per cent less than gross for 1929 of $37,012,000. Net income for 1930 was $6,688,000, or $10.69 per share, against $6,287,000, or $11.10 per share for 1929 on a smaller number of shares. Net for 1928 was $5,917,000 and for 1927, $5,499,000. In 1920 gross revenues were $31,326,000 and net income was $380,800.

For the first nine months of 1931 gross was $27,542,000, against $29,955,000 for the corresponding 1930 period. Net income was $4,788,000, or $7.98 per share, against $4,927,000, or $8.98 per share on a smaller number of shares for the first nine months of 1930.

On the completion of the pipe line from the Texas Panhandle to Chicago in October, 1931, the company commenced delivery of a mixture of manufactured and natural gas. The consumer rate is determined by the heating value of the gas delivered.

The company's stock has been on an annual $8 dividend basis with rights to purchase additional stock for the last six years.

On Sept. 30, 1931, there were outstanding 569,005 shares of capital stock [par $100]. Funded debt was $94,465,000.

The stock is regarded as high grade. We cannot advise you whether to hold or sell. That is a decision which you alone should make.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light.

Will you please tell me how you consider Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company refunding first mortgage 5s due 1961?—F. C. R.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company, part of the North American system, furnishes street railway service and electricity to Milwaukee, Racine and other southeastern Wisconsin communities. Interest was earned 2.46 times in 1930, 2.33 times in 1929, 2.65 times in 1928, and 2.36 times in 1927. For the twelve months to Sept. 30, 1931, interest was earned 2.07 times, against 3.00 times for the preceding twelve months. The first mortgage and refunding 5s, due 1961, are reasonably sound.

REVIEWS REPORT GENERAL RETAIL BUSINESS GAINS

Advance Is Attributed to Holiday Buying.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—A general increase in retail business to the heaviest volume so far this year is reported by the trade reviews for the week. This is attributable largely to seasonal buying, although colder weather has served to stimulate some lines, according to Bradstreet's and Dun's.

"Reports from fifty-five leading cities of the country," says Bradstreet's, "again emphasize the seasonal characteristics of business and particularly those features which are so noticeable at this season. Retail trade in general has increased and appears now to be in greater volume than at any time this year. This is due almost entirely to holiday buying.

Moderate Priced Goods.

"The factors in retail trade noticeable this particular year are the insistence upon moderate priced merchandise by the public and the continued emphasis upon useful gifts.

"It has been brought out again and again that, owing to the general decline in price levels during the last years, sales volume would have to be considerably larger in order to show dollar value equal to last year. There can be little doubt that only a comparatively few number of stores have increased their volume of sales over 1930."

Demand Quickens.

"A quickened demand for seasonable goods featured retail trade this week," Dun's review says. "Holiday buying was the largest of the Christmas selling period thus far. Trade gained steadily every day, and there was a considerable turnover in toys, novelty jewelry, pewter sets, fitted week-end cases, toilet, table accessories, electrical socket appliances, children's apparel, lingerie and undergarments."

CHARGE FOR CALL MONEY RAISED TO THREE PER CENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—The rate for call money was raised from 2½ to 3 per cent this afternoon for the first time since Jan. 2 as the result of withdrawals of funds from the market estimated at $25,000,000, mostly by out of town banks.

This, in turn, was ascribed to a report that the United States treasury had issued a call for about $32,000,000 of its funds from depository banks, to be withdrawn in equal amounts for the first three days of next week. The treasury call is put at 37 per cent of its war loan deposits in all banks.

Federal fund rates fluctuated rather sharply, opening easy at ⅞ per cent asked, rising to 1¾ at 2 in the afternoon. There was little demand for call money and brokerage houses were reported more disposed to lend than to borrow.

Bank Suspensions Drop to 169 During November

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—(AP)—The federal reserve board in its monthly review said bank suspensions had dropped from 522 in October to 169 in November, with total failures of 1,932 for the year. They had aggregate deposits of $1,468,122,000. The 522 banks suspended in October had deposits of $493,751,000, as compared with $83,409,000 in deposits in the banks suspended in November. During the 11 months of the year 242 banks reopened with deposits of $136,279,000.

BOARD OF TRADE POLITICS PROMISE TO BE ACTIVE

Politics on the Board of Trade are becoming more active and a lively fight is expected on the directory, there being strong opposition to the regular ticket recently presented by the nominating committee. The opposition, which is led by a number of the largest grain and stock houses, includes such members as J. E. Bennett, J. W. McCulloch, and a number of others. There is no opposition to Peter B. Carey for president or Fred Uhlmann for second vice president. The new ticket presented, while including Frank Schreiner and John McCarthy, also has Louis T. Sayre, Caleb H. Canby Jr., and Kenneth S. Templeton. Other members of the regular ticket are J. A. White, F. G. Winter, and Simon Mayer. The election will be held Monday, Jan. 4.

Peter B. Carey and the new candidates selected for the directory are for removal of government restrictions on trading and a free and open market.

EGG FUTURES RALLY

Butter and egg futures firmed up on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, butter recovering ¼@¾c and eggs ½@1c of the losses recorded during the previous session. Potato futures were unchanged. Although storage reports revealed that the outward movement of butter and eggs continued under that of last year, the losses were not so great as has been recorded lately, the four markets taking out 70,000 lbs less butter and 2,000 cases less eggs. Covering was fairly active during the session and scattered new buying continued to appear, aiding in the firmer tone. Sales: Butter, 101 cars; eggs, 91 cars; potatoes, 5 cars. Deliveries: Eggs, 16 cars. Prices follow:

W. K. Kellogg Co. Declares Bigger December Dividend

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 18.—(AP)—Dividend payments of the W. K. Kellogg company during 1931 will aggregate $7,500,000 with the payment of an increased quarterly return to stockholders of record Dec. 15. The company announced today that the customary payment of $2 on Dec. 15 had been increased to $5. Two extra dividends have been declared during the year. The Kellogg company officials some time ago announced that it had increased advertising appropriations and that it was in the midst of the most successful period of its history.

Lively competition featured the hog market yesterday and almost all of what had been lost during the week was recovered when the bulk of offerings went over the scales at fully 10@15c higher prices. The extreme top at $4.25 equaled the highest of the week, while the general average price at $4.10 stood only 5c under last Monday's average, and 5c under the close of last week. All buyers were on the market at the start and the clearance was the earliest in recent weeks.

Only scattered lots remained in the pens at 10 o'clock in the forenoon when several eastern orders were still unfilled and had to go over for today in sight of a smaller week-end supply at all leading points. The bullish side of the hog market, which has repeatedly been wrong about the "low day," took heart in yesterday's upturn. Prices are still only 10@15c above the 32 year low established Thursday and show losses of 20@25c compared with early last week.

March Hogs Advance.

A higher market for March hogs drew attention from the cash trade late yesterday. The absence of selling orders was a subject of much comment, while bids were numerous, but mostly too low to attract sellers. March contracts advanced 25c in price during the session, opening at $5.00, with sales at that figure for the first half of the month, and closing at $5.25. January bids were plentiful at $4.25, while December heavy grades were bid $4.05.

Not much action was noted in the cattle trade yesterday except for a few loads of the well finished offerings which have been scarce and showed the least weakness during the slashing of prices this week. The supply yesterday consisted largely of common to medium grades selling at $4.50@6.50, although some fleshy kinds were quoted up to $7.00 and the highest sale reported during the day was $7.10, paid for some good quality 1,044 lb yearlings. Stock of outstanding quality eligible to the $10.00@11.00 quotations were absent.

Despite the big decrease in cattle receipts during the last half of this week, the available supply each day was large, being augmented by a huge carryover from the preceding session, and yesterday was no exception. At the close of trading there was still a fair holdover, although some of those left last night were held over voluntarily in hopes that conditions next week would be less drastic. The trade is warning the country to load lightly and avoid a repetition of this week's market.

Check Price Cutting.

Supplies were reduced at all leading lamb markets yesterday and price cutting was halted. Most of the good grades sold at prices in line with the low spot of Thursday's trade, city butchers taking the best selections in the native class at $5.35, while packers bought most of the good fed westerns at $5.00@5.15 and paid up to $5.25 for several loads at the close. Prevailing quotations are mostly 75c lower than late last week. Aged sheep were steady and yearlings showed little change. Feeder lambs were slow and some quoted slightly lower.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 500 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 1,000 sheep, against 203 cattle, 7,774 hogs, and 1,416 sheep the previous Saturday, and 276 cattle, 11,133 hogs, and 5,860 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 60,000 to 75,000. P. Allen marked 58,-000; R. B. Ellis, H. S. Turner, and A. F. Whitaker, 60,000; F. Knutzen, 64,-000; G. W. HEDGE SALES IN LARD

Scattered commission house and hedge selling was offset by absorption of offerings and the advance in grains and stocks. The close on lard futures was unchanged to 5c lower. Bellies were off 7½@10c, with light trade. There was said to be changing from January to May by packing interests. Cash trade in lard and meats was only fair. Liverpool lard was 3@9d lower and export clearances 386,756 lbs. Hogs were firmer, with receipts smaller than a week ago but larger than last year. Prices follow:

COTTON, UP WITH STOCKS, GAINS NEARLY $1 BALE

Cotton made the lowest prices early in the day and the highest near the close. A better feeling with a fair increase in the trade, due to the advance in stocks and grains, brought a firm finish, with futures in Chicago up 7@18 points, active deliveries showing the most strength. Other markets were up 17@21 points, New Orleans leading, with a gain of 20 points on spots, equal to $1 a bale, at 6.25c. New York spots were up 15 points to 6.35c, with Galveston 6.25c and Houston 6.20c. Liverpool closed 8@12 points net higher, with spot sales 7,000 bales.

Dry goods markets were steady, and confidence in present values was said to be increasing. Exports of cotton for the five days this week were 194,538 bales, compared with 159,324 bales for the same time last year. Season's exports aggregate 3,512,-220 bales, against 3,593,851 bales last year. Spindles in place are 32,366,444, compared with 24,860,684 at the end of November. Prices follow:

KANSAS CITY TO TRADE IN MILL FEED FUTURES

Directors of the Kansas City Board of Trade have approved plans to establish trading in mill feed futures on the local market. The plan will be submitted to membership of the board and must receive a two-thirds majority vote before becoming effective. Under the rules of the board of trade a proposition must be posted ten days before a vote is called, so it will probably be December 28 before final action is taken.

FLOOR COVERINGS.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

Upper Michigan—Increasing cloudiness Saturday; Sunday probably rain, followed by colder.

Ohio—Cloudy Saturday, followed by rain Saturday night and Sunday; colder Sunday night.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Copper Exporters, Inc., the coöperative export association of copper producers, today advanced the price of the red metal abroad to 7½c a pound c. i. f. at Hamburg, Havre, and London. That is a rise of half a cent a pound and is the equivalent of 7¼c a pound in the domestic market, to which figure the domestic price is automatically raised.

The advance today is actually a further raise in price, for, although the Copper Exporters, Inc., had not quoted the metal below 7c a pound, sales had been made at 6⅝c for foreign consumption, while domestic copper sold as low as 6½c, with small lots even going for 6⅝c a pound. Yesterday, however, sales at 7c were reported late in the day. The advance in the price of copper metal was attended by a rise in prices of fabricated copper.

The advance in the copper market follows the recent accord among producers on further curtailment and revision of foreign marketing rules, reached after conferences which had extended over a period of weeks. Full agreement was assured when the Phelps Dodge corporation yesterday reconsidered its withdrawal from the Copper Exporters, Inc., and decided to remain identified with that organization and market copper abroad coöperatively with the other producers.

Withdrawal of resignations from the export association was generally accepted as acknowledgment on the part of those interests that points in dispute regarding the marketing rules of the association had been cleared up satisfactorily. Interest converges on the foreign market just now because foreign copper consumers are said to be in more pressing need of metal than domestic fabricators. It is said in trade circles that Europe must buy more copper shortly. On the other hand, the domestic manufacturing trade is said to be pretty well covered on its nearby requirements.

CATHOLIC ORDER GIVEN NEW SITE FOR SEMINARY

Returns Niles Center Land to Donor.

Last April Maud Curtin Seifert of Niles Center gave the Congregation of Sons of the Immaculate Heart of Mary of the West Province a three acre site in Niles Center for a seminary. Yesterday, following the discovery that the property was not large enough for the purpose planned, the Roman Catholic order deeded the property back to her and she, in turn, gave it a new site two miles south of Antioch, on state highway No. 59, comprising 103 acres of well improved farm land.

Mrs. Seifert is the daughter of David F. Curtin, who made a fortune in the individual drinking cup business. The property she originally gave and has now taken back is on Simpson street, 300 feet west of Central Park avenue. A large seminary is to be erected on the 103 acre farm.

Buys South Shore Corner.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana has purchased the southwest corner of Coles avenue and South Shore drive, occupied for years with a gas station, from Anton E. Sward. The land is 135x37.

Title to the eight story apartment hotel at 5050 Sheridan road, lot 100x143, was conveyed by the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, to Hannah Valentine. Monahan & Monahan were attorneys.

The three story brick residence at 4407 Berkeley avenue, lot 20x100, has been purchased by E. Piepgras from Claude T. Staunton through Robert Bolling of Swan, Lorish & Caspers.

Buys Milwaukee Avenue Leasehold.

The ninety-nine year leasehold estate and four story building at 1307-09 Milwaukee avenue have been sold by Sarah Bezark, widow of Ike Bezark, and Samuel Bezark to the 1307-09 Milwaukee Avenue Building corporation, of which Albert Mintz is president and Meyer Kaplan is secretary.

Nathan William MacChesney has conveyed title to the vacant property on the north side of 74th street, eighty-five feet west of Kingston avenue, 60x125, to George W. Kemp, president of McKey & Poague.

Minnie and Alphonse Steffeter have sold to Joseph and Michael Spitlis the greenhouses at the southeast corner of Throop and 61st streets, lot 183x309, taking in exchange the eighteen apartment building at 814-24 West 57th street. The Sack Realty company was broker. A. C.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MASTER'S SALE. Notice is hereby given that pursuant to an order of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, entered on November 27, 1931, in the suit of MARSENA A. MOSS vs. INTERNATIONAL TELEPOST COMPANY, INC., being Cause No. 10434 in said court, the undersigned will offer for sale to the highest bidder, in accordance with the terms and provisions of said order, and subject to the confirmation of said court, at the place in the County Court House, in Cook County, Illinois, where judicial sales are customarily held, on December 29, 1931, at ten o'clock A. M., the following property of International Telepost Company, Inc., to-wit:

All pole lines owned by the defendant International Telepost Company, Inc., located in the States of Illinois and Indiana, together with the right-of-way and all easements, licenses, franchises, permissions and privileges covering or appurtenant to the same, including all poles, wires, conduits, cross-arms and appurtenances attached to, or used in connection therewith, the route and location of which is generally described as follows:

The Illinois and Indiana portion of the Chicago-Toledo line, commencing at Crawford Avenue and W. 63rd Street, in the City of Chicago; thence running in a southerly direction through Cook, Will, and Kankakee Counties in the State of Illinois; thence turning east at Momence, Illinois, and continuing in an easterly direction, crossing Indiana Illinois state line at a point approximately three (3) miles west of Lake Village; thence in an easterly direction through Newton County to the Village of Roselawn; thence in an easterly direction through Newton County, Indiana; thence in an easterly direction through Jasper County, passing one (1) mile south of the Villages of De Motte, Wheatfield, and Tefft; thence two (2) miles east of the County line between Starke and Pulaski Counties; thence in an easterly direction across Starke County, passing one (1) mile south of the Village of North Judson, and through the town of Bass Lake; thence entering Marshall County three (3) miles northwest of Lake Maxinkuckee through the town of Culver, and continuing east, passing one (1) mile south of the town of Argos; thence entering Kosciusko County one (1) mile north of the town of Mentone; thence through the towns of Winona Lake and Pierceton; thence entering Whitley County at the town of Larwill and continuing in an easterly direction across the County, passing one (1) mile north of Columbia City; thence entering Allen County in Eel River Township and continuing in an easterly direction across the County, passing the City of Fort Wayne six (6) miles to the south; thence in an easterly direction to the Indiana-Ohio State line.

The above described property will be first offered for sale in such parcels or units as prospective purchasers may desire to submit bids for, and will then be offered as an entirety. The Special Master will conditionally accept, subject to confirmation by said court, the highest bids made therefor, when offered in separate parcels, or the highest bid made therefor when offered as an entirety, whichever is greater in the aggregate amount, and all bids so received will be transmitted to said court prior to confirmation. Each person desiring to bid upon the property as an entirety will be required to deposit with the Special Master below named at least one hour before the time of sale the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) in cash or by certified check, and each bidder for separate parcels or units of said property shall be required to deposit in cash or by duly certified check, an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of his bid before the same is conditionally accepted. The deposit of the successful bidder will be applied upon the purchase price of the property, and the balance thereof shall be paid at such times and upon such terms as said courts shall, upon confirmation, determine. The deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned.

Said property will be sold free and clear of all liens and encumbrances whatsoever, except that there will be sold and conveyed under said order of sale, only the right, title and interest of International Telepost Company, Inc., and of its Receiver, in and to the rights-of-way upon which said pole lines are located.

For a further and better description of said property and the terms and conditions of sale, reference is made to the order entered by said court on the 27th day of November, 1931, and the inventory heretofore filed by said Receiver with the Clerk of this court.

The court reserves the right to reject any bid which may be deemed to be inadequate. The undersigned Special Master is authorized to adjourn said sale from time to time, as he may deem best, without further notice by publication or otherwise.

ARTHUR W. SPRAGUE, Special Master.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CORPORATE Members of Field Museum of Natural History will be held at the Museum, Chicago, Illinois, on January 18, 1932, at 3:00 p. m. STEPHENS C. SIMMS, Secretary.

COLORFUL PANORAMA PRESENTED AS CHICAGO SOCIETY DANCES AND DINES TO HELP SWELL THE FUND FOR THE RELIEF OF THE POOR AND UNEMPLOYED. A general view of the ballroom at the Auditorium theater as it appeared from the boxes. The dance floor was built over the seats on the main floor on a level which permitted its extension over the stage and the setting was that of a formal Italian garden with green hedges, benches, urns filled with flowers, and blue sky. Tables were placed in the boxes and lined the walls on three sides of the space for dancing. (Story on page 1.)
